Jaycees to Sponsor Wrestling Bouts at Auditorium Tuesday

The Thief River Falls Jaycees are sponsoring a three bout wrestling card Tuesday, November 29, at 8 p.m. in the city Auditorium. The wrestlers coming to this city are those favorites who appear on WDAY-TV each Saturday night and are well known to those who watch these matches.

The main event, featuring Roy McClarty, 234 lbs., from Winnipeg, Canada, against Bob Geigel, 230 lbs., from Amarillo, Texas, will be a one fall, 1 hour time limit. Geigel has won the Big Ten title in wrestling and was second to Vern Gagne for the national AAU championship finals. While in the navy, Geigel also won the Pacific Island championship.

In the semi-final bout, Jim Hady, 220 lbs., from Detroit, Michigan, will go against George Grant, 224 lbs. from Los Angeles, California. This will be a one fall, 30 minute time limit. Jim Hady's wrestling "know-how" and a pair of ears that have the texture and appearance of a couple of ripe prunes cannot disguise his refreshing boyishness and youthful look which are big attractions insofar as the rock n' roll set is concerned.

There will be a special bout featuring Aldo Bogni, 255 lbs., hailing from Argentina, against John Swenski, 232 lbs., from San Francisco, California. They will go for one fall, 30 minute time limit. Aldo Bogni, the South American wrestler, likes to get an early win by unleashing a rough attack which has made him one of the most dangerous men on the mat today. Bogni is also the professional weight lifting champion of all South America of 1940-41. His muscles are carrying him along in athletics and he eyes the world heavyweight championship as his ultimate goal. In the ring he is violent as they come and much rougher than the rules allow. Outside the ring he is a mild-mannered man who speaks well of everyone and is a great ambassador of good will.

His colorful handlebar mustache, tremendous size and strength make Aldo Bogni a man everyone will enjoy watching.

Advanced sale tickets will be available at the J & B Drug, Parkins Corner Drug, and the Thief River Pharmacy. A good turnout will be appreciated by the wrestlers and by the Jaycees, with the possibility of another match coming here later this winter.

Announce Fishing Open Seasons for the Coming Year

Game and Fish Division Reports Pike Fishing Is Scheduled to Open May 13

Opening dates on the various species of fish for the coming 1961 season were announced today by the department of conservation's division of game and fish.

Although the 1961 synopsis of fishing laws and regulations will not be distributed until sometime in December, the list shows very few changes from last year's regulations.

Inland Waters—Great Northern pike or pickerel, walleyed pike, saugers (sand pike), muskellunge—May 13; large and small mouth black bass (all waters east and north of U. S. Highway 53 from Duluth to International Falls)—May 27; all other waters June 10. Trout (except lake trout) April 29; lake trout January 1; crappies, sunfish or bluegill, rock bass and white bass, catfish, and rough fish—continuous season.

There will be a minimum size limit of 30 inches on muskellunge with one exception. In Little Shoepack Lake, St. Louis county, the minimum size limit will be 26 inches for the reason that very few muskellunge in this lake attain a length of 30 inches.

The reason for establishing a minimum size limit on muskellunge is that the muskellunge is considered primarily a trophy fish and, in order to build up a muskellunge population in a few lakes, it is considered desirable to prohibit the taking of small fish.

Minnesota - Canada boundary waters—Walleyed pike and saugers (sand pike), Great Northern pike or pickerel, May 13; large and small mouth black bass, May 27; muskellunge, June 20; lake trout, January 1; other trout April 29; sturgeon, July 1; all other species, same as inland waters.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Osgood-Schlatter

Don Mathieu, one of the brighter prospects for greatness as a Prowler hockey player, is a doubtful candidate for this season's squad, being sidelined and under treatment for a knee injury. Don, a freshman, was a left wing on the midget line centered by Elroy Frolland and with Wayne Loeffler at right wing.

Coach Gene Sack had hopes of keeping this line intact during four years of high school play, but it is probable that Don will be out of action for some time. Mathieu's injury isn't too serious, but it does require time and treatment. A manual describing the nature of the ailment states that the injury, called the Osgood-Schlatter disease, is "not really a knee fracture and is not an injury of the knee joint. It is a forcible separation of the tibial tubercle." And adds "that the fractured joint must be held in place and immobilized long enough to allow the fracture to heal."

While the injury or "disease" isn't very common, there have been a couple of cases that caused local youngsters to take a recess from athletics. Gary Anderson and Marv Jorde are a pair of Prowlers that were troubled by the ailment.

Marv was in the sixth or seventh grade when he was forced to give up athletics to allow an injured knee to heal. And if you know Marv you have an idea what a hardship it was for him to give up hockey for one year. But he recovered, and went on to gain fame as a Prowler all-state hockey tournament choice and earn three letters as a University of Minnesota hockey player. That should give Don considerable encouragement.

Gary Anderson's knee troubles developed in high school, but he was able, with the knees protected by pads, to continue in basketball and football.

Warning

We have learned, from an unofficial source, of the formation of a deer hunting party for the 1961 season. The group has received a franchise, and they have signed a lease for a cabin in the Norris Camp area.

To date the party, with Bob Craik as self-appointed captain, has the following charter members: Lloyd Brunsberg, Cotton Langevin, Ivan Bundy, Frank Clinton, and Noisy Knight. The party will be accepting applications for membership from long-winded and strong-legged hunters who will serve as drivers. The club's charter members are all posters.

We realize that it's unseasonal to mention the organization of a deer hunting party for 1961 just as the 1960 season has been concluded. But we believe that it is in the nature of safety in the woods to give warning to other hunters that the Craik-Brunsberg group will be in the Norris Camp area next year. And at that it may be that a year is too short a time in which to make adequate preparation!

Seriously, though, we hope the boys have a lot of luck. Fun we're certain they'll have.

Memories

The death last week in St. Paul of Tommy Gibbons, the one-time contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, recalled the occasion when he boxed an exhibition match here.

It was back in the days following World War I and a "welcome home" celebration was held at the Fair Grounds. Tommy Gibbons and his older, and more famous, brother Mike boxed a six-round exhibition match. At that time, Mike was famed as a middleweight boxer, and Tommy was just beginning his career. Tommy, starting as a light heavyweight and then moving into the heavyweight division, reached greater heights than Mike.

Appearing on the same card with the Gibbons boys that afternoon was Darby Anderson who boxed Hal Stanton, and Roy Miller who met Bernie Burggraf.

2,051 Licenses for Deer Sold Locally

A total of 2,051 deer hunting licenses were sold this year in Pennington county, about 100 more than in 1959, County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr reported this week. The 1960 total, he explained, was increased slightly due to the fact that some of the neighboring counties ran short of licenses, and hunters procured them here.

UND Hockey Team to Play Russians

Game Slated for Friday Evening, December 30th

Fans of the area are in for a rare treat on Friday night, December 30, when the University of North Dakota collides with the Russian hockey team at the Winter Sports arena in Grand Forks.

Many of the players on the Soviet team will be holdovers from the club which went down to defeat before the United States Olympic six at Squaw Valley, California.

The big attraction is being sponsored by the Grand Forks Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the University. Tickets may be obtained by mail from the University of North Dakota fieldhouse ticket office.

Ralph Roth, chairman of the Jaycee committee, said "the Jaycees have gone to considerable expense to secure this attraction, and we feel very fortunate that North Dakota was selected as one of only two American universities on the Russian schedule." The other is University of Minnesota. The game against the Sioux is the first game the Russians will play in this country.

A trio of contests with the United States Nationals will round out the Russian tour of the states.

Dates Set for School Patrol Training in '61

Opening date for the 24th annual school safety patrol training camp, Legionville, has been set for June 11, 1961. The announcement was made by Leonard M. Carlson, Marshall, Minn., president of the Legionville corporation, a subsidiary of the Department of Minnesota of the American Legion.

The training center is operated jointly by the Legion and the Minnesota highway department to give instruction to young boys and girls who will be in the school safety program in the fall of 1961.

Carlson announced that 1,688 boys and girls had attended the training center, which is located nine miles northeast of Brainerd on North Long Lake. During the past four years, 5,736 school patrol officers have received a safety course which includes school patrol operation, bicycle and pedestrian safety and water safety.

He said that the 1961 season had been set for eleven weeks and that 156 boys or girls would be enrolled each week. Usually, dependent upon reservations, the first eight weeks set for boys, the next two for girls and the last week for the overflow.

The Legionville center was constructed and is owned and operated by the American Legion. It represents an investment of nearly a quarter of a million dollars in land and buildings. In 1959, the American Legion was awarded an outstanding achievement award by the National Safety Council for its work in traffic safety with the training center.

The American Legion includes the work in its Americanism program; while the Highway Department considers it one of the outstanding safety education projects operated by the Minnesota Highway Patrol which furnishes instructors in safety for the camp.

Further information regarding admissions to the training program may be secured from the American Legion, State Veterans Service Building, St. Paul 1.

Preliminary Report on Deer Hunt Success

Reports reaching the conservation department from its field men around the state indicate deer hunting varied from fair to good over the opening weekend.

Best hunting was in those areas where a fresh snow fall made good tracking conditions. From one to five inches of new snow covered the area north of a line from Duluth to Wadena, and east of a line from Wadena to Lancaster.

Hunters from all portions of the northern deer range reported the deer to be hanging tight in heavy cover. The unusually mild fall weather immediately preceding the hunting season is thought responsible for the lack of deer movement.

Hunting pressure was reportedly the same as last year in the Arrowhead region but heavier in the north central region of the state.

Hunting success was reportedly good in those areas having snow cover although deer had to be literally driven out of the cover.

In west central Minnesota hunting success ranged from 15 to 40 per cent, considered good for this agricultural country. South central hunters reported seeing considerable numbers of deer but success was lowered because of the inability to move them out of standing cover.

At Camp Ripley where a two-day firearms deer hunt was held, hunters took 313 animals. Lack of snow and generally noisy conditions underfoot held hunter success down.

State game officials indicated that this year's kill will probably fall short of last year's all time record kill of 105,000 deer. While they report a good deer population exists, weather conditions are working against the hunters and are expected to reduce the kill.

FU Awards Night at Brooks Friday

The Red Lake county Farmers Union will hold its annual awards night program at the Brooks school Friday evening, November 25, at 8 o'clock. Awards will be given to adult and junior leaders, in addition to which there will be a speaker, movies and lunch.

October Traffic on Trunk Routes Increases 8 Pct.

Traffic on Minnesota highways jumped 8.2 per cent over the same month of last year, the Minnesota Highway department reported. The increase was attributed to unusually good weather during the month.

Compared to the previous month, however, traffic dropped by 1½ per cent. Normally, a greater decrease than this occurs.

A survey of the 28 automatic traffic counters located on rural trunk highways throughout the state showed notable drops under September of 20 per cent on T. H. 169 south of Onamia; 16.7 per cent on T. H. 14 west of Rochester; and 11.4 per cent on T. H. 10 southwest of Royalton.

Coverage of Social Security Broadened

About 25,000 parents working for their sons or daughters in a trade or business will be covered for the first time under social security, reports W. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office. The 1960 amendments to the social security law, signed by the President on September 13, 1960, makes no change in the provision which says that work performed by a parent in the home of a son or daughter is not covered by social security and, therefore, cannot count toward the payment of social security benefits. However, work that a parent does for a son or daughter in a trade or business can now be covered, if a bona fide employer-employee relationship exists.

Such a relationship exists if the person for whom the "employee" works has the right to direct and control him in the way he works both as to the final results and as to the details of when, where, and how the work is to be done. The employer need not actually exercise control; it is sufficient that he has a right to do so.

Many parents whose employment will be covered under this new provision have already earned social security credits for other work they have done in the past and the change in the law will make it possible for them to earn additional credits toward retirement, survivors, and disability benefits.

Parents working for their children in a trade or business who do not already have social security cards will need to apply for social security account numbers. The first report of their wages and payment of taxes due must be paid on or before April 30, 1961, and their social security number must be entered on that report.

"Many people have exercised themselves to death. Many people have played themselves to death. Many people have eaten and drunk themselves to death. Many people worry themselves to death. No one has ever thought himself to death. Thought is the only human activity which does not generate harmful acids and painful alkalies."

We Lose One

Minnesota is one of 16 states that will lose representation in the Congress that will be elected in 1962. The ninth district will no longer exist and what number this corner of the state will have will depend on how the legislature reapportions the state. At one time Minnesota had ten representatives in Congress.

Pennsylvania loses three seats, and New York, Massachusetts and Arkansas, two each. States losing one each, besides Minnesota, are Alabama, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, North Carolina and West Virginia.

California will be the big winner with eight additional seats, while California's arch-rival, Florida, gets four. One-seat winners will be Arizona, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Hawaii, Ohio and Texas. During the past ten years our population has increased 28 million to 179,323,175. Most of the gains have been in the urban areas of the industrial states.

In the coming reapportionment of Minnesota the average population of our eight districts will be about 400,000. Ten years ago the population of the ninth district was 260,000. This means that a large area will be added to what is now the ninth to bring us up to the state's new average.

In another decade the metropolitan area probably will elect most of our congressmen. The big cities have both U.S. Senators and some of their leaders would like to see them gain control of both houses of the legislature.

This Fellow We Like

Occasionally election results are surprisingly good. One such result over in South Dakota pleased us mightily. The people of South Dakota elected to Congress a native son who is half Sioux Indian, and a Republican who said some nice things about Ezra Benson. He suggested that what we need more of is self-reliance. That was in the farm state of South Dakota.

Ben Reifel is the new congressman's name. Born 53 years ago in the western part of the state, he struggled along through his own efforts to a master's degree in public administration at Harvard. His mother was a Sioux Indian. This was his first try for political office.

This fellow we like. He has our best wishes for continued success.

Leader of the Opposition

Vice President Nixon, as leader of the Republican party during the next four years, has stated his position as the leader of the opposition to the Kennedy administration. He makes it clear that it is not his intention to be an obstructionist, opposing all that the administration proposes. His opposition will be limited to those issues on which the parties are clearly divided.

Mr. Nixon is well qualified to serve in this capacity. His experience in government, and the strength he showed in the campaign, assure him of respectful attention whenever he speaks. His victory in his home state of California has helped immeasurably in this respect.

One fortunate thing about the election is that, once again, the change does not mean a departure from the well-established general attitude on foreign policy. This is the most critical area of government policy, and as long as we can maintain a united front in this field we will remain strong in our international relations.

Our differences over domestic problems can be taken in stride.

They Will Be With Us

Premier Ben-Gurion of Israel thinks that in twenty years Communist Russia will be a nation of free people. He bases this prediction on the increased educational opportunities available to the people.

It is a good point. At home the Russian people are not well informed on what is happening throut the world or how other peoples live. But, more and more, Russians are being exposed to conditions as they exist beyond their own borders. They are intelligent people, and the evidence indicates that they already are moving in the direction of greater personal liberty.

Ben-Gurion also predicts that our country will continue in the opposite direction. The "capitalistic" government will give way to a government controlled by the farmers, the workers and the scientists, he thinks.

Well, we are moving pretty fast to the left, and what he refers to as our capitalistic government has already been partly converted into a welfare state. We gradually are shifting individual responsiblity to the government and, as we do that, we also give up some of our individual liberty.

However, we will not argue the point. We do question the prediction that our government will soon be controlled only by the farmers, the workers and the scientists. We think Ben-Gurion has omitted one very important present ruling class that probably will have more to say as we move farther to the left. The professional politicians will still be with us, probably more powerful than ever.

Important Natural Resources

In the recent election the state of California approved a bond issue of $1,750,000,000 to develop a water program aimed at controlling floods in the northern part of the state and providing water to arid parts of central and southern California. It proposes a vast network of canals, levees, pumping stations and aqueducts, as well as a huge dam. The construction period is estimated at thirty years.

One and three-quarter billion dollars is a lot of money, even in the state of California, but water is a pretty important item when it is scarce. And water is becoming more scarce in many areas of the country as the need for more water steadily increases.

Here in Minnesota, where no rivers flow into the state and the precipitation drains off in three directions, water conservation will become increasingly important with the passing years. Here in our area we have reached the point where industrial development vital to the processing of important farm crops may have to be curtailed because of inadequate sources of water.

Here in Minnesota, if we are sincerely concerned about the interests of the next generation, we will show more interest in the conservation of two of our greatest natural resources, our forests and our waters. Both of these resources deserve more attention than than they are receiving.

Hooray for Illinois

The University of Illinois has announced a new policy in dealing with illiterate freshmen. From the University's point of view it is a simple solution. Illiterate freshmen will not be admitted.

At Illinois, as at most public schools of higher education, high school graduates unable to meet minimum literacy standards, have been admitted if they have demonstrated some capacity to learn. They have been given special courses in "remedial reading and writing," courses set up to give them in a few hours a week what the high schools should have given them over a period of years. Illinois is now going to tell these young people to go back to high school for their high school training.

In commenting on this development the Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tribune states:

"The decision was made after statistics proved that incompetence in reading and composition was steadily increasing among Illinois high school graduates. More than one out of four of last year's incoming freshmen were so shaky in handling their own language that they were required to take a remedial course, and although it was a high school level course, 20 per cent flunked it flat and another 23 per cent made the passing but no-credit grade of D.

"So the University has decided that it is too busy to teach high school and it has thrown the job back at the high school principals of Illinois. The reason, as described by Professor Charles W. Roberts, is not that the university wishes to be cruel to students, but that it wishes to be kind.

"You see, says Doctor Roberts, the student who can't write clearly not only has difficulty passing examinations, but he will find difficulty later in life expressing himself. Worse yet, he probably won't read with comprehension. He may be natively bright, but his ability to absorb and transmit information will be crippled. So why kid the poor youngster by letting him into college and later break his spirit by flunking him out?

"Hooray for the University of Illinois! If we're ever going to meet the challenges that face the oncoming generation America's high schools are first of all going to have to get down to the no-nonsense business of teaching their students how to handle the English language."

Visas Versus Visitors

(Christian Science Monitor)

One of the incongruities of free-world relations is the difficulty that would-be visitors to the United States encounter in entering the country despite the symbolic welcome of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. Trygvie Lie, former Secretary-General of the United Nations, told members of Boston's Alquonquin Club this week that it is as difficult to get a visa for the United States as it is to get one for the Soviet Union.

The remark attracts special attention at a time when President Eisenhower is taking vigorous steps to strengthen the American dollar. Asked whether these steps might include curtailment of travel abroad by Americans Mr. Eisenhower said:

"I think that would be one of the things we should not do. Remember our great purpose of promoting progress toward peace. . . . I would like to see our people go abroad but I would also like to see more Europeans and other people who have money come to our country. . . . We want them, not merely because of the dollars, but for the general effect it has on the progress toward peace."

The President's statement, made at Washington, seemed almost like part of a dialogue with Mr. Lie at Boston. In his Algonquin Club speech Mr. Lie said: "If the United States made it a bit easier to get visas, more European visitors . . . would come here with their money."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

On a warm spring evening they had arrived home from a party.

Taking off her hat the wife confronted her husband and proclaimed: "I'll never take you to another party as long as I live!"

"Why, what have I done?" asked he.

"You asked Mrs. Jones how her husband had been standing the heat," said she.

"Well, what's the matter with that?" said he!

"Matter," stormed the wife. "Her husband has been dead two months!"

Everybody's trying to copy Ford's styling...
Everybody's trying to talk Ford's value language...
BUT ONLY FORD'S GOT THE REAL THING FOR YOU!

1961 Ford Galaxie—like all Ford cars—carries a Dealer's Extended Warranty.

We're proud as punch that all the car makers are trying to get aboard the style trend started by Ford! We're also proud that they "followed the leader" on the Ford Dealers' extended warranty! Good luck, fellas! But one thing they can't even begin to copy is the amount of value Ford can pack into a car for the price you pay! That's Ford's secret, and we're keeping it under lock and key!

The prices are out and one thing is clear. Model for model, equipment for equipment, the '61 Ford is your greatest value! Whether you measure cars by performance, ride, comfort, or looks—Ford gives you the most for the least. And the '61 Ford is packed with new features that keep you out of repair shops, too. Come in and learn how you can save . . . today.

First shop your Ford Value Dealer F.D.A.F.

Here's how the '61 Ford Takes Care of Itself . . .
Lubricates itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications—which cost less than $4.00.*
Cleans its own oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.
Adjusts its own brakes. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.
Guards its own muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
Protects its own body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion.
Takes care of its own finish. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.
Each part of '61 Fords, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Normal maintenance service or routine replacement of parts such as filters, spark plugs, condensers, ignition points are not covered.

United Fund Meeting Set Wednes y Night

To Present Details of Campaign Slated to Open December 5

Final details of the Pennington county United Fund drive for nearly $20,000 will be announced Wednesday evening, November 30, when drive chairmen and workers, members of the board of directors and all interested residents will attend a general meeting beginning at 8 o'clock in the basement meeting room of the city Auditorium.

The fund drive will begin December 5 in the rural and business district and December 12 in the residential area, according to George Hale, Pennington county United Fund president.

At a meeting of township representatives at a rural drive roundup Friday evening in the city Auditorium, over which Albert Koop, rural chairman, presided, it was announced that 13 agencies will participate in the drive proceeds. Listed by President Hale as participants were the Children's Home Society of Minnesota, American Red Cross, Minnesota Association for Retarded Children, Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Minnesota Association for Mental Health, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, United Service Organization, Girl Scouts, heart research, cancer research and infantile paralysis research. He told the group that the last three groups had not asked to be included but that funds would be set aside for their use and would be turned over to them on request.

In answer to a question as to whether United Fund donations could be earmarked by the givers for certain groups, Hale told the the group that they could not and that such an arrangement would defeat one of the purposes of the UF drive—to eliminate the multiplicity of campaigns. He said that drive participants might refuse United Fund sharing if they felt that they did not receive a full share and that the single collection would then break down.

He emphasized that all participating agencies in the local drive submitted budges which were examined by the board of directors and the requests were pro-rated according to figures from the Minnesota Research Council. In the case of individual drives, donors are not protected by such examination, he said.

Six organizations which had asked to be included in the drive were eliminated from the list because they did not furnish adequate information or because their activities did not apply to this area.

It was emphasized that if everyone in the county contributes his full share in the campaign this year and the $20,00 goal is met, organizations in this year's

Postmaster Asks Early Deposit of Christmas Mail

Dryden Urges Patrons to Post Mail Destined for Distant Spots by Dec. 10

Postmaster R. J. Dryden said today, "Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail here this year."

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is a month away by the calendar, it's Christmas every day at the postoffice from now on.

Postmaster Dryden advises, "Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

He said further, "If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the postoffice before attempting to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from."

Always send your Christmas cards by first class mail and be sure to include your return name and address on each Christmas card envelope.

Send all Christmas mail going long distances before December 10. Follow up promptly with cards and gifts for local delivery.

Cancer Fund Won't Join United Fund

Mrs. Ormond Johnson, county Cancer Fund chairman, stated today, that the American Cancer Society does not plan to participate in the United Fund drive as presented in the community.

Quoting from the 1959 annual report of the A.C.S., she stated that in that year, the society had completed a separation from individual United Fund chapters throughout the country. The decision by the American Cancer Society came after a thorough analysis of the fund-raising problem covering a 14-year period of experience.

Their study, said Mrs. Johnson, made it clear that the attack on cancer is best served by the independent crusade, conducted at the community level where the public education aspects of the program can most effectively flourish and save lives.

The nation-wide nature of the Society's research and medical programs, she said, also indicated this action as preferable to the local United Fund approach.

Don Walker was reelected president of the Red Lake-Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement assn. at its annual meeting held Monday evening in Red Lake Falls. T.R. Falls Youths Involved in Recent Fracas Near City

Four Fined in Warren; One Minor Committed Here to Institution at Red Wing

An escapade just north of the Pennington county line in Marshall county shortly after midnight Nov. 5, resulted in fines being levied against four local men on charges of disturbing the peace, while one youth who drove the car involved drew an additional fine for careless driving and two juveniles involved were brought before juvenile authorities here for their part in the fracas.

Ronald Olson, age unknown, and Charles A. Rambeck, 18, city and Robert Sauve, 22, and Rodney D. Klein, 25, both of rt. 3, Thief River Falls, were each fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace in justice court in Warren Nov. 17. In addition, Olson pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $50 plus costs.

The persons involved had chased a Newfolden youth, Eugene Folden, into the farm home of Alvin Olson, apparently intent on doing him bodily harm. Olson arrived home at the time the fracas was going on and the would-be attackers could not get at Folden so contented themselves with damaging his car.

The license number of the car driven by Olson was taken and reported and the case was handled jointly by Pennington and Marshall county authorities.

One of the juveniles involved had been before juvenile authorities several times previously and has been committed to the institution at Red Wing. The other juvenile has a clean previous record so was placed on probation.

Belated Winter Came to N.W. Region This Morning at 8 o'Clock

Winter this year came to the Thief River Falls area between 8 and 9 a.m. Monday morning, November 28—that's pinpointing a change in seasons about as close as anyone is capable of doing.

There can be little doubt that winter came for strong northeasterly winds began driving light snow across the area and the weather prophets are in agreement with their predictions of more to come.

Freezing rain, sleet and snow have been predicted by the KTRF weather station today and tonight. Two to four inches of snow are expected along the western border of Minnesota with strong, shifting winds today and tonight of from 25 to 45 miles an hour. Considerable blowing and drifting snow in the western portion of the state will bring near-blizzard conditions at times.

There is expected to be a gradual clearing later today. Tomorrow should be generally fair but continued cold, the forecast continues. The high today is expected to be from 25 to 32 and the low tonight in the 20's.

According to the North Central Airlines weather observers at municipal airport, the bad weather early this morning was south of a line from Bemidji to Fargo. Freezing rain was reported at St. Cloud and sleet at several other points.

Because of the strong northeasterly crosswind, the 8:06 a.m. North Central flight from Grand Forks to Minneapolis was unable to make its scheduled stop at Thief River Falls.

The high and low temperatures recorded since last Wednesday in Thief River Falls were:

Board Approves Budget Calling for Outlay of $1,422,197

The board of education of Thief River Falls School District No. 564 set the tax levy for the fiscal school year 1960-1961 at a special meeting called for that purpose last Monday, November 21. Supt. Marshall Hankerson's proposed budget was accepted with some minor changes. Total expenditures for the school year were set at $1,422,197.95, an increase of $108,598.20 over the actual expenditures of the last fiscal year.

$66,242.00 of this increase is for additional teachers and for increases in teachers' salaries as provided by schedule adopted two years ago. Other instructional cost increase amount to $8,281 which include costs for establishing the sightsaving and drafting departments. It also takes into consideration costs of texts and supplies for the increase of 40 students over the previous year.

Operational expenditures will be $763 higher than last year. Since janitorial salaries have increased $2,431, an actual drop in other operational costs in anticipated. An increase of $1,067 is anticipated in repair and upkeep of plant over the previous year.

Fixed charges which include insurance, rentals and public employees retirement association assessments account for $15,372 of the increase. The largest amount of increase is $14,000 which is the assessment for public employees retirement (retirement for bus drivers, janitors, cooks and secretarial help) . . . not to be confused with social security or teachers retirement fund. This is a deferred payment.

Transportation costs will be $9,333 higher due to salary increases and to addition of one more route. Community school lunches will increase by $3,274.

Auto Owners Are Reminded of Tabs

All Should Have Gotten Application Cards by Now

Unless you purchased your car or other motor vehicle within the past 30 days or unless your 1960 registration is incomplete for some reason, you should have received an application card for 1961 renewal from the Motor Vehicle Department. If you haven't received one and have moved since your vehicle was registered to your name, the chances are the application card has been returned to the Motor Vehicle Department in St. Paul. The post office department does not forward the cards unless the owner still resides within the same postoffice delivery area.

If you are one of those who has moved and not received an application card, Joseph L. Donovan, Secretary of State, suggests that you write the Motor Vehicle Department at St. Paul giving your 1960 license plate number. It is of the utmost importance that you give the license number.

If the card has been returned to the department by the post office, it will be sent on to you at your new address. If it has not been returned, the department will issue instructions upon receipt of your notice of not having received the application card.

Those who have purchased new or used vehicles within the past 30 days are being mailed applications. Those who purchase new or used vehicles from now on will also be mailed an application card in due time unless the vehicle is also registered for 1961 at the time of purchase.

A reception was given by the bride's parents in the Olivia Armory that afternoon and in the evening the bridal couple entertained the guests in the Palms Ballroom, Renville, Minnesota.

After December 1 the couple will be at home at 4112 28th av. S. in Minneapolis. The groom is employed by the Federal Aviation Agency at Wold-Chamberlain Field and the bride does secretarial work for an insurance firm.

QUITE A FEW MEN think that where women are concerned, good looks and brains never go hand in hand. Today's brainy-type intellectual woman is pictured as a mousey, bespectacled, unprepossessing individual but nothing is farther from the truth. Research has consistently indicated that girls who are above average in intelligence are usually above average in looks as well. Hurrah for science.

MINNESOTA'S TACONITE is the source of good quality iron ore pellets, and Minnesota's taconite industry provides some 5,000 jobs all year around. Yet, Minnesota's taconite industry, I'm told, faces some pretty tough competition from similar operations built and being built in Michigan, Missouri, Canada and elsewhere. Iron ore material similar to taconite is being mined and processed in these other areas. If Minnesota taconite operations can meet the cost and quality of pellets produced elsewhere, then our taconite industry will be able to compete.

Caledonia Man Again Heads Conservative State Senate Group

Rep. Lloyd Duxbury, Jr. was re-elected Saturday as Conservative minority leader in the 1951 Minnesota house of representatives.

Duxbury, 38-year-old Caledonia attorney, defeated Roger Noreen, Duluth, by a 34-to-24 margin at the Conservative caucus in St. Paul's Lowry hotel.

Technically, the vote was on nomination of the Conservative candidate for speaker of the house. But since liberals will control the house, 73 to 58, their candidate for speaker will be elected when the legislature convenes in January, and the Conservative candidate will become minority leader.

Liberals a week earlier nominated and virtually reelected Ed Chilgren, Littlefork, speaker of the house.

Noreen, attorney and a three-term house member, was the candidate of the "liberal" faction of the Conesrvative minority.

The Caucus, attended by 55 of the 58 Conseravtive house members, contrasted sharply with the cut-and-dried Liberal meeting a week earlier in which all leaders were re-elected unanimously.

But there were numerous pleas for unity and for ensuring the re-election of Governor-elect Elmer L. Andersen by working closely with him on legislative programs.

Duxbury, in an acceptance talk warned against any action that would lessen Andersen's re-election chances. He urged Conservatives to "stand on principles as a group" and not "split off if we can avoid it."

School District Budget Approved for Coming Year

This increase is offset by additional income and is due to greater participation in the lunch program. The lunch program is self supporting.

Capital outlay expenditures will increase a total of $11,990. Storm sewer assessments of $14,000 account for more than the total raise. The new boiler at Knox accounts for $5,000. $6,500 was also spent for a new school bus. Routine expenses are actually down.

Debt redemption also is increased a total of $3,888. An additional $5,000 bond will be paid this year. The difference between the $5,000 and $3,888 is due to decrease in total interest paid.

The summary of disbursements by funds will be:

General Fund	$1,154,915.95
Hot Lunch Fund	71,380.00
Veterans Training Fund	7,750.00
Nat'l. Defense Act, Title III	7,700.00
Capital Outlay	46,227.00
Debt Redemption	134,225.00
Total Disbursements	$1,422,197.95

To raise this budget the following monies are expected:

Balance on Hand	$ 28,321.35
Tax Receipts, Local	506,789.00
County Tax Receipts	66,692.00
State and Federal Receipts	723,333.93
Other Revenue Receipts	3,300.00
Non Revenue Receipts	112,550.00
Total Receipts	$1,440,986.28
Estimated Balance July 1, 1961	18,788.33

The present tax valuation of the district is $4,001,840. Since the county auditor does not have the budget as yet, no definite statement as to actual mill rate increase can be made. However, it is estimated that the total increase will be about 14.64 mills. This estimated increase can be broken down as follows:

Maintenance, 5.5 mills increase.
Capital Outlay, 5.84 mills of which is for the storm sewer assessment, and 1.5 mills is for the new boiler at the Knox school.
Debt Redemption, 3.3 mills increase.

The school rate will actually be determined by the county auditor at a later date but looks to be about 107.5 mills on agricultural property and 132.5 mills on non-agricultural property.

Labor Dept. Supplies Figures on Retired Persons' Living Costs

The government estimated Wednesday it takes $220 to $280 monthly to support a retired couple aged 65 or more on a modest but adequate urban living level.

Budget costs for such couples in 20 cities surveyed by the Labor Department's statistics bureau ranged from $2,641 in Houston to $3,366 in Chicago for the specific living standard on which the study was based.

The bureau described it as "not a luxurious level, but one adequate to provide more than the basic essentials of consumption."

The budget cost estimates compare with average Social Security payments of about $125 a month to couples over 65.

Officials emphasized that Social Security never was intended to supply more than minimum living cost protection. A more than subsistence living level generally presumes some outside income such as private pensions or yield from investments.

The Labor Department old folks budget is more than minimum and less than luxury. For example, its food cost calculations are a combination of low and moderate-cost eating plans. It contemplates TV set ownership, but assumes most elderly couples will use public transportation.

The budget is described as representing a "level of living which provides the goods and services necessary for a healthful, self-respecting mode of living, and allows normal participation in community life according to standards prevailing in large cities or their suburbs in the United States."

The survey, based on data collected a year ago, is just being made public.

Employment in insurance occupations totaled about 900,000 in 1958, 50 per cent higher than in 1948, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Paid sick leave provisions in collective bargaining contracts are more prevalent in nonmanufacturing industries, according to a study by the U.S. Labor Department.

Soil Testing Campaign Hits New State Peak

More than 1,200 soil samples per week are still pouring into the University of Minnesota's soil testing laboratory. By mid-November the year's total stood at 25,500—more than 13,000 of these received between September 1 and November 15 during the fall soil sample roundup.

Soils specialists say the boost in soil sampling is brought about by farmer's favorable experience with the results. To save money and gain greater yields, more farmers each year base their fertilizer applications on a soil test. And each year more farmers take soil samples in the fall so they have test results before they order fertilizer for the next spring.

A demonstration of soil testing enthusiasm took place recently during a two-day drive in Minnesota's Pennington county. According to Paul Steimaschuk, county agent, 763 soil samples were brought in within 48 hours. That's almost twice the number turned in during a similar drive a year ago.

In the Pennington county campaign 188 farmers brought in samples, an average of 4.1 apiece. A single samples furnishes the plant food analysis for up to 10 acres of land. Total acreage represented by the samples was 23,776. That compares with 12,240 acres sampled a year ago.

Steimaschuk says cooperation between farmers and fertilizer dealers and the assistance of a Thief River Falls trailer company went a long way toward the drive's success.

The trailer company furnished a house trailer and parked it on a downtown street to serve as a collection depot. Fertilizer dealers from Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire volunteered their services and worked in shifts to man the trailer. They completed information sheets, packaged the samples, prepared them for shipment and furnished a truck to deliver the samples to the testing laboratory.

Minnesota farmers still have a chance to get in on the benefits of fall soil testing. Sample boxes and information sheets are available without cost at the county extension office.

$37 Million Paid on Insurance Policies in State This Year

Institute Points out Tremendous Growth in Number of Insured People

Minnesota families received $37,273,00 in life insurance death payments in the first nine months of this year, compared with $38,020,000 in the corresponding period of last year, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today. The number of policies becoming claims in the first nine months was 17,824, which compares with 17,260 in the corresponding period of 1959.

"The tremendous rise in life insurance ownership in recent years is reflected in these current payments," Holger J. Johnson, Institute president, said in announcing the figures. "For the country as a whole, death payments made in the first nine months of this year were $195,996,000 greater than in the corresponding period of last year and $1,334,481,000 more than in the first nine months of 1950."

Death payments in this state in the first three quarters of 1960 compare with $22,729,000 in the corresponding period of 1950.

Of this year's nine month aggregate death payments in this state, $23,190,000 was under 8,366 ordinary insurance policies; $12,501,000 was under 4,650 group life insurance certificates; and $1,582,000 was under 4,808 industrial insurance policies.

State's Mill Levy Is Down Slightly

Non-homestead Rate Is Fixer at 13.85 Mills

The state mill levy on all property for 1960, collectible in 1961, was set last week by State Auditor Stafford King at 13.85 mills.

The new levy is a drop from a record 14.32 mills last year.

The homestead rate was fixed at 6.84 mills. This compares with 8.10 mills last year.

The non-homestead rate in the state's three largest cities, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, is 7.55 mills. Last year it was 8.68. The big cities have a lower non-homestead rate than the rest of the state because they make their own levies for teachers' retirement.

King said the new levy will produce about $24 million. The state's requirements call for raising $23,833,596, exclusive of $159,714 for soldiers relief.

Biggest single requirement is about $14 million needed for the state building program.

Cooking Turkeys Eight Years Old?

Percy Hagen, turkey grower west of town, called attention to an error in a Times story about Thanksgiving turkeys. The story stated that turkeys labeled "breeder turkey" are usually over 100 months of age and may need longer cooking in a covered pan. Keep this in mind if you do run into an eight-year-old bird. The advice really applies to the turkeys that are 10 months old.

Hockey Boosters Meeting

Clarence Amiot, president of the Hockey Boosters club, announces that the annual meeting of the club, and the election of officers, will be held in the basement meeting room at the Eagles on Tuesday, November 29, at 8 p.m.

Clarence requests that organizations and clubs in the city should notify their recreation directors to be in attendance at this meeting. One of the purposes of the meeting is to coordinate the hockey program in the city, from juvenile, grade school, midget, and through the senior divisions.

Last year the Hockey Boosters provided a warming house for the river rink. And it is to the credit of the Hockey Boosters, and their supervision, that the city police did not receive one complaint as to the conduct of the skaters at the rink.

To get off the ice hockey topic we'll mention that we have heard rumors to the effect that Clarence Amiot intends to field a team in the city softball league next season. And to gain a roster it is reported that Clarence has been making raids on a couple of teams, paying a "bonus" to several players.

Curling Acitivity

The winter sport of curling, or the "roaring game" as it is called, will be given quite a boost in this area this season with the national curling tournament, or bonspiel, being slated for the Winter Sports Building in Grand Forks on March 15-18. The Orv Gilleshammer rink of Grafton, N. Dak., won the national title in the national tournament held in Green Bay last March.

An area curling league has been formed with rinks from the Roseau, Thief River Falls, Piney, and Sprague clubs participating in the competition. Roseau's curling enthusiast, Dick Ching, is pleased with the formation of the league and he feels that it will be a definite success. The teams are to mixed, with two women's teams and two men's teams representing each club, and simultaneous games will be played in all towns and the total points to count in the league standings.

Two from Region Eight

Two players from Region Eight were honored this week by being placed on Ted Peterson's all-state high school football squad for 1960. The two players, both of whom were named to the defensive unit, were Lee Fawbush of Bemidji and Jack Nielsen of Baudette.

Fawbush, 5-11 inch and 180-pound quarterback, was one of the vital factors in bringing coach Red Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks back up to the football heights and the Northwest conference title. For awhile this autumn it was feared that Fawbush, because of a chest condition, would be forced to forgo football, but the Lumberjack, who possesses a fine throwing arm, was given a physical okay.

Nielsen, who also carries 180 pounds on a 5-11 inch frame, is one of Baudette high school's all-time athletic greats. Being the Region Eight 100-yard and 220-yard dash champion, Nielsen has the speed to break away for scoring runs from any place on the field.

The two boys merited the honors bestowed by Ted Peterson.

The Grapplers

Three bouts of professional wrestling will be presented at the city Auditorium on Tuesday evening, Nov. 29. The main event will find Roy McClarity meeting Bob Geibel in a one-fall one-hour match. In the semi-finals, Jim Hardy will wrestle George Grant in a one-fall thirty-minute match; and in a special event, Aldo Bogni will meet John Swenski in a one-fall thirty-minute match.

We know of one wrestling enthusiast who will be there and that's young Elroy Frolland. And Elroy will be cheering for Bogni the villain, who happens to be one of Elroy's heroes.

'U' M. Enrollment Below Estimates

Taxpayers Group Calls for Cut in Appropriations

"University of Minnesota enrollment for the 1960 fall quarter fell short by 1,773 students of reaching the estimated enrollment upon which this year's state appropriation was based," Harold T. Miller, research director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association stated today.

(Annual enrollment are always determined during the second week of the fall quarter—the highest point in the school year.)

"For the fourth consecutive year University enrollments have failed to reach the Biennial Budget estimates presented to the legislature — enrollment estimates upon which the state appropriations have been computed," Miller pointed out.

"In anticipation of a University - estimated enrollment of 30,050 students, the 1960-61 legislative appropriation to the University's maintenance account allows for 88 additional teaching positions — more jobs than obviously will be needed in view of the 1,773 enrollment shortage," Miller stated.

"Based on a state subsidy of at least $600 per student, this year's enrollment deficiency could produce a savings of over $1 million in state funds ($600 x 1,773 students equals $1,063,800)—without any reduction in the quality of education," Miller stated.

"For the benefit of both the tuition-paying students and the taxpayers it is to be hoped that the 1961 legislature will effect possible savings resulting from consistent over-estimations of enrollment, when arriving at the University's 1961-63 appropriations—applying the same 'yardstick' of efficiency and economy alike to every state department or agency," Miller concluded.

NWS Professor Tells of Inner Workings of Cow at DHIA Meeting

Dr. Edward Frederick, assistant professor at Northwest School in Crookston believes in illustrating the points he wants to make. At the annual meeting of the Red Lake-Pennington DHIA held at Red Lake Falls Monday, dairymen were treated to a vivid explanation of the inner workings of the cow.

Using the cow's stomach he demonstrated how grain and roughages go through the process of digestion. He emphasized that research has found that in the rument there are bacteria that work on materials ingested by the cow. These microbes have the ability to break down roughages and grain to be later used as "building blocks" for milk and meat.

Of special interest were his statements on changing feed rations. A cow, he said, develops certain "bugs" (bacteria) for a kind of ration such as oat silage and grain. When this ration is changed a "new" kind of "bug" takes over in the rumen. If there is a rapid change the cow will go down in milk production. Therefore, any change in ration should be done slowly so that new "bugs" can increase as the others decrease.

The process of bloat was discussed. He explained "hardware disease" as an irritation in the first stomach caused by the accumulation of nails, sheet metal, bolts, etc. that the cow ingests. A nail, for instance, could eventually puncture the wall of the stomach, pierce the diaphram between the heart and lung area and the digestive cavity, and enter the heart to cause death.

He discussed the importance of good roughage for dairy animals. In discussing roughage feeding, he stated, that finely ground feeds reduced materially the butterfat content of milk. Course wafers looked probably the most promising but at this time too expensive. Minerals, too, are an essential part of the cows ration. Bonemeal and a good tract mineral salt, high in phosphorus, should be kept available at all times. He recommended that the grain ration contain 2 percent of a bone meal and trace mineral salt. Minerals are important to the health and activity of the bug population in the cow. He summed up his remarks by saying the dairyman should, "feed the bug and they will feed the cow."

Gold Outflow Topic of 'U' of M. Pamphlet

How serious is the threat of a drain on the U.S. gold supply?

Does this country have an unfavorable foreign trade balance?

These questions, as well as the problem of farm surplus disposal, are dealt with in a timely new pamphlet published by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and General Extension Division. Author of the pamphlet, "Trade, Aid and Surplus Disposal," is O. B. Jesness, retired head of the University's agricultural economics department.

Jesness points out that this country's problem is one of a lack of balance of international payments rather than an unfavorable balance of foreign trade. U. S. exports actually exceed imports by a wide margin.

Says Jesness:

Lack of balance in international payments arises from U. S. military expenditures abroad and certain dollar aid to other countries. Investment of American capital abroad also has some influence in creating an unbalanced condition.

This creates a situation in which other countries have claims against the U. S. which they may translate into drains on its gold stocks. But no real emergency is likely to result as long as other nations have confidence in the American dollar. "To retain this confidence, it is important that we keep the dollar stable by avoiding any threat of inflation," according to Jesness.

"The problem will be solved, as some think, by restricting trade. In fact, the major hope for improving the balance lies in expansion of our commercial exports."

Disposal of agricultural products under Public Law 480 makes up an important share of U. S. Farm exports. These involve exchanging our farm surpluses for foreign currencies in the case of under-developed countries which lack dollars, as well as some donations of surplus products. However, they do not add to the problem of lack of balance in international payments.

The Public Law 480 program is very useful in easing our surplus problems but is not the final answer. We must look for our longer-run export opportunities in the economic development of the under-developed areas. This will provide them with a means of paying for their requirements.

The accumulation of inconvertible foreign currencies by the U.S. is creating some problems of its own. We can get only very limited returns from such currencies because of the limited resources of under-developd countries.

According to Jesness, "We need to bear in mind that money by itself is not a resource but instead is claim on resources. We do not add to the resources of other countries merely by turning these currencies back to them for their own use. We need to be on guard to avoid the danger that the products thus disposed of interfere with our regular markets or the markets of friendly nations."

He also warned that the U.S. should see that products disposed of under this law encourage rather than hinder the agricultural progress of the receiving countries.

The pamphlet was prepared for use in a series of seminars in rural-urban leadership sponsored by the General Extension Division and the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Minnesota. The seminars and the pamphlet were made possible by a grant from the Fund for Adult Education, an independent organization established in 1951 by the Ford Foundation, according to Luther Pickrel, extension public affairs specialist at the University.

Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained from the Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

U.S. Fire Losses Rise in October

Estimated fire losses in the United States during October amounted to $92,730,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports this week.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this represents an increase of 30.3 per cent over losses of $71,160,000 reported for October, 1959, and an increase of 13.3 per cent over losses of $81,815,000 for last September.

Losses for the first ten months of 1960 now total $921,581,000, an increase of 5.7 per cent over the first ten months of 1959, when they amounted to $872,047,000.

These estimated losses include an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

Minneapolis Sets Photograph Show

Area Residents Invited to Enter Regional Event

A jury of outstanding regional art authorities has been formed to judge photographs entered in the Upper Midwest regional search for photography in the fine arts, a project sponsored by the Twin Cities area council of camera clubs with the assistance of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. The judging will take place on Saturday, December 10, at the Minneapolis School of Art.

This search for photographs which deserve to be exhibited as works of art is open to all photographers in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Entries must be submitted by December 5. Phoographs selected by the jury will be submitted to a national jury for possible inclusion in the third national Photography in the Fine Arts Show. The best photographs among the regional entries will be shown on January 19 in a program in the Minneapolis Institute of Arts auditorium.

Photography in the Fine Arts was originally founded by Ivan Dmitri, nationally known photographer who once lived in Argyle, Minn., and attended the University of Minnesota.

Regional photographers who plan to participate in this project may submit as many as three photographs or slides before the December 5 deadline. Application forms, which must accompany the entries, are still available from Upper Midwest Regional Search, PFA, Minneapolis Institute of Arts, 201 E. 24th St., Minneapolis 4.

"It is almost as difficult to make a man unlearn his errors as his knowledge. Mal-information is more hopeless than non-information; for error is always busier than ignorance."
—C. C. Colton

Time For Fast Action

Thanks largely to the persistent leadership of George Hale, a county-wide fund-raising organization has been formed and is starting to function. Four groups are represented in the management, three each from agriculture, labor, business and the professions.

These twelve people will direct the Pennington County United Fund. They will need the help of many workers if this effort is to be a success. And it deserves to succeed.

The alternative to an orderly, well managed United Fund drive is the confusion of many drives. The United Fund way is the low-cost way of solicitation for the support of deserving organizations and charities. It is the low-cost way in terms of both dollars and hours.

The United Fund deserves your cooperation and your contribution, as those who are directing its operation deserve your confidence. Due to conditions no one could control, the drive is off to a late start this year. If we all get enthusiastically behind this worth-while community effort we can get the job completed in a short time.

Taxpayer Pressure

St. Paul businessmen, through their various civic organizations, are objecting openly to an across-the-board pay increase for city employees. They threaten to submit the question to the voters in a special election if the council adopts the proposed wage increase schedule.

It is encouraging to know that people are finally becoming tax conscious to the extent that they no longer are merely grumbling. There is evidence now that they are preparing to act. And the only way to stop the continuing cost of government is to stop the across-the-board pay increases that are being voted year after year by government at all levels.

It will be in the best interests of all of us if taxpayer pressure will hold the line in St. Paul.

We Won a Battle

The Western nations were able to seat the Congo delegation of their choice at a United Nations General Assembly session last week, and such victories are always encouraging. President Joseph Kasavubu will speak for the new member, and he apparently represents the more stable groups in the sprawling area in which it is hoped the people of many conflicting interests can be united.

Kasavubu comes from the area of greatest development and wealth in the Congo, and the area in which the natives have made their greatest progress. This is the area to which the young nation will have to look for its leaders if it is to remain united and make progress.

Our victory in the seating of Kasavubu was a Communist defeat, but while it was an important victory, the winning of one battle does not necessarily decide the outcome of a war. This struggle with Communism in Africa is just getting nicely under way.

Pulp Demand Up

In the first eight months of this year, exports of wood pulp to Europe doubled the total for the same period a year ago. Europe is using more paper. Some European bakers are even starting to wrap bread, and the use of paper thruout the world no doubt will steadily increase as living standards improve.

The fact that Europe is buying more American pulp indicates that sources closer to home are not able to meet the demand. It is reasonable to expect, therefore, that the demand for American pulp will continue to increase.

That should be good news for Minnesota where we have a great potential for pulp production. It takes many years to grow a crop of trees and it would appear that now would be a good time to get our sights set for a long range program of forest development. Minnesota has millions of acres of land out of production, that are capable of growing a crop of pulp.

Maybe the investment of some of our trust fund millions in such a development would bring a better return for the schools of tomorrow than the small earnings they bring at present interest rates.

Not By Our Arithmetic

Last week our steel mills operated at less than 50 per cent of capacity. There were two reasons for the low production. Thanksgiving was one of them. The other was a lack of orders for steel.

Starting the first of December the steel workers get another pay increase, according to the terms of the agreement that ended the steel strike a year ago. But only those who work will get the raise. The unemployed will not share in the benefits of the higher pay scale.

The situation in the steel industry is a fair example of what is wrong with our national economy. The steel industry has priced itself out of the market. European steel mills are operating at capacity. They can deliver barb wire to Duluth at a price American mills cannot meet. So American mills are idle. And American steel workers are idle.

In January a new administration will direct our affairs in Washington. President-elect Kennedy thinks that one of the reasons for increasing unemployment in our country is low wages. He is pledged to boost them across the board. That will bring prosperity, he thinks.

That kind of arithmetic we do not understand.

The Japanese Spoke

That election in Japan didn't give much aid and comfort to the enemy, and it didn't bear out the charges that American prestige abroad is at an all-time low. The demonstrations that kept President Eisenhower from visiting the islands in June were not representative of the thinking of the majority of the Japanese people. That fact the election has definitely established, and we can get considerable comfort out that result.

In the campaign that preceded the election, Premier Hayato Ikeda set forth in plain terms that his party supported the defense treaty with our country, that had been used as the excuse for the Communist-inspired demonstrations last summer. By an overwhelming majority the voters have now approved that treaty and its promise of closer ties with the western world.

The clearly-expressed attitude of the Japanese people should strengthen our position thruout the Orient.

The Office Holder

(The Golden, Colorado, Outlook)

You would think that attorneys, wise in the ways of the law, would avoid starting personal law suits in which they have little chance for success. But often this is the case. And often the newspaper is the subject of the suit.

Dr. Frederick S. Siebert of the University of Illinois made some interesting comments on this phenomenon recently.

He pointed out:

"A number of libel suits against newspapers are brought by attorneys who frequently are candidates for public office or hold public office. These suits are seldom won by the attorneys. They make the mistake of assuming that a newspaper has no more right to criticize their public acts than it has to criticize their professional competence.

"Whereas it would be a serious mistake for a newspaper to publish a statement that a local attorney was fleecing his clients, and in such a case the attorney migh win a suit against the newspaper. But is altogether another case when a newspaper prints a statement that a public officer who is also an attorney is fleecing the public. In the latter case the newspaper has a wide latitude for criticism."

Here is the key to much of the friction between office holders and newspapers. Office holders forget quite often that judgments must be made on their performances, judgments much more severe than the judgment passed on whether a man runs a good grocery store or not, is an honest engineer or not, or even is a dependable citizen. When a man takes public office his activities become public. And a man, long used to private life, who is in public office and finds his performance found wanting by the newspaper, frequently forgets that this is a part of the arena of public service.

We feel it might be wise for a newspaper to remind its readers of these facts of life frequently. It makes for a freer relationship between the office holder and the paper and it reminds the newspaper's readers that the paper is acting in the public interest, not persecuting a man holding office.

Thermonuclear Energy

(New York Times)

The prospects of humanity's tapping virtually inexhaustible resources of energy by controlling and using for peaceful purposes the thermonuclear reaction whose uncontrolled version is a hydrogen bomb excited many imaginations a half decade ago. Scientists and science writers combined to tell us that the basic material required, the heavy isotope of hydrogen known as deuterium, was available in enormous quantities in the world's oceans. Some of the most optimistic spoke glowingly at times of a future in which this scientific advance would make energy so cheap that electricity might become almost a free article. Some representatives of underdeveloped nations were particularly excited by these vistas, seeing in this possibility a powerful means for helping the mass of poverty-stricken humanity in Asia, Africa and Latin America quickly improve their lot.

All these dreams may yet come true, but long years of experimentation have now shown that the task of taming the thermonuclear reaction is far more difficult than many originally believed. The plasmas—thin clouds of electrically charged particles—with which the physicists must work in this field have proved to be troublesome indeed, resistant in many ways to the efforts of scientists to produce the high pressure and temperatures required to make the fusion of hydrogen ions possible.

Physicists speak ruefully of the instability of the plasma with which they work. A layman may think of their problems as that of containing the almost uncontainable—matter existing on earth under conditions rivaling those in the sun itself.

But vast resources are being devoted to this task both here and abroad, and it is good news that some limited progress is being made. From the University of California comes word that a controlled thermonuclear reaction lasting one-thousandth of a second has been achieved. This is a brief period, indeed, and the amount of energy consumed in producing the reaction was no doubt far greater than any useful energy that may have been produced. But in a field which has been beset by so many obstacles every advance is a source of encouragement that the final goal of an economic process for obtaining controlled thermonuclear power may yet be achieved. But there is still a long way to go.

Andersons Honored On 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gloude of Warren entertained at an open house Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Gloude's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Anderson at the Anderson home on their 40th wedding anniversary. About 75 relatives enjoyed the afternoon.

Those who attended besides relatives were Rev. Elmer Larson of Minneapolis, Mrs. Eldor Langager of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Peterson and Dwight of Warren and Rev. and Mrs. Walter Blackwood. The guests enjoyed a luncheon which was served from a table centered with blue and white candles and a four tiered wedding cake decorated in blue and white and was baked by Mrs. Douglas Gloude. The color scheme which was used, was the same as that which the Andersons had used in their wedding 40 years ago. Pouring and serving cake during the afternoon were the sisters of the honored couple. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson received many cards and gifts. A bouquet of blue and white mums was given by the brothers and sisters. During the afternoon, various greetings and messages in one were given. Rev. Walter Blackwood led in prayer. Mrs. Eldor Lanager sang a solo. Martin Anderson and Douglas Gloude sang a duet. Rev. Elmer Larson brought a greeting. Mrs. Anderson wore a deep orchid dress and her corsage of white mums and red roses was given to her by Mr. and Mrs. Gloude as well as Mr. Anderson's boutonniere of white mums which he wore on a gray suit.

Council Cuts Nearly $50,000 off '61 Budget

More Department Requests Due to Be Acted on Tuesday

Facing a preliminary budget for the city which was $97,895 greater than anticipated revenue, the city council considered five departmental budgets at a special meeting Tuesday evening, November 29, and whittled off about $50,000.

Following a second study, the airport budget was reduced slightly more $8,000; the garbage department remained about the same as last year; the electrical department's listing of $31,000 for work on a 1,000 kilowatt generator was eliminated; the police budget was reduced nearly $7,000 and the sewage department request was reduced slightly more than $4,000.

The next special budget meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday evening, December 6, when more of the 32 departments will have their requests examined.

Present at the meeting was Daniel Illies, airport manager, who answered questions by the council in regard to budget items which had been brought up the week before. Aldermen A. J. Rau and E. B. Benson had previously asked what authority the airport commission had to grant leases to the owners of two house trailers at the airport, to sell a garage door which had been on the administration building and to use the funds to convert part of the building to a pilots' lounge.

Questions in regard to these matters were answered by Illies and Alderman Olaf Dahlen, a member of the airport committee.

Former Local Couple Had Thrilling Ordeal in Mond[illegible]'s Blizzard

Minn Historical Society Historical Building Zone 1

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome P. Furuseth of Mapleton, N. D., both formerly of Thief River Falls, had a thrilling experience in last Monday's blizzard which they will not soon forget.

Mrs. Furuseth, the former Marlys Anderson, daughter of the Ferdie Andersons of this community, and an expectant mother, felt her time was near and called her doctor Monday at 2 a.m.; and he advised her to come in to a Moorhead hospital, 14 miles away.

Her husband, son of Mrs. Peter Furuseth of this city, learned that the roads were all but impassable, with many cars stalled. He decided that they would have the best chance of making the trip by using a school bus, so he enlisted the aid of Dale Matzke, bus driver, and Earl York, school superintendent.

After some difficulty the bus was started, and soon reached the main highway, where, said Matzke visibility was reduced to 15 feet, and drifts up to six feet deep were encountered. It took 45 minutes to reach West Fargo, usually a 15-minute trip. Waiting for them on the outskirts of the city was a county snowplow, which cleared the way for them to the hospital.

Later in the hospital, Mrs. Furuseth gave birth to a seven pound five ounce baby girl, Nanci Jo.

Jerome Furuseth is history teacher and athletic coach in the Mapleton school.

City Crews Dig out after Heavy Snows; —14 This Morning

The first blizzard of the season swept into northwestern Minnesota Monday causing a rash of minor accidents, stalled cars and school closings.

North Central Airlines personnel at municipal airport measured 0.7 inch of precipitation Monday and 0.1 inch Tuesday after melting down the snow which was collected in the official rain guage.

School was dismissed early Monday afternoon in Thief River Falls and in other communities as winds whipped the light snow into drifts blocking roads. It was "business as usual" Tuesday in this city's schools but many others were closed.

Tuesday and Wednesday were "dig out" days and city street department employes were completing the job this morning.

Tow cars were kept busy as they started reluctant motors and pulled cars out of ditches. One woman, who will remain unnamed, probably set some kind of record when she was pulled out of city ditches three times in less than 24 hours.

The KTRF forecast is for fair today and partly cloudy tonight an dtomorrow. There will be a warming trend tomorrow, it is promised.

The high today is expected to be from 5 to 15 above zero and the low tonight from —5 to 5 above. Southerly winds will increase in strength tomorrow.

Dodge Center Man Dies in Car-truck Crash at Erskine

Stanley Andrist, 20, Was Victim of Collision in Snowstorm Last Monday

A Dodge Center man was the victim of a car-truck crash early Monday and his companion was critically injured when the two vehicles collided about a mile south of the junction of highways 2 and 59, near Erskine.

Stanley Andrist, 20, who lived with his sister in Grand Forks while employed on construction projects in that city, was enroute to Grand Forks after a visit with his relatives in Dodge Center over the last weekend.

Andrist and James McLaughlin, 21, Grand Forks, were headed north on U. S. 59 about 8 a.m. Monday when a grain transport owned by Peter Burkel, Greenbush, and driven by Clayton P. Madson, Roseau, bore down on them through wind-whipped clouds of snow to snuff out Andrist's life in the head-on collision of the two machines.

Andrist was so tightly wedged in the wreckage he had to be taken to Erskine where cutting torches were used to free the body. McLaughlin was taken to Bethesda hospital in Crookston where he is reported to be still in serious condition.

The accident was investigated by Polk county sheriff's deputies and the highway patrol. Several hours elapsed before the flax-laden truck could be removed from the crash scene. Madson, the truck driver, received only minor injuries.

Blowing and drifting snow was listed as the cause of the crash, which occurred during the early stages of the season's first severe blizzard.

Santa Claus Due in TRF Dec. 10 & 17

Next week's Times will give further details.

United Fund Drive Set; Goal Fixed at $21,372

Campaign Opens in Business and Rural Areas Next Monday

Total budget of $21,372 for the Pennington county United Fund drive was announced at a general meeting Wednesday evening, November 30, in the basement meeting room of the city Auditorium.

Attended by 21 drive chairmen, United Fund board members and others, the meeting was set up to give everyone an opportunity to inquire about individual agencies participating in the drive and the distribution of funds.

According to George Hale, president of the county United Fund, and Stanley Wilson of the board of directors, 10 agencies will participate in the drive. These agencies, and the amount they will receive from the $21,372 total budget are: Children's Home Society of Minnesota, $450; Minnesota Association for Retarded Children, $1,000; American Red Cross, $3,000; Sister Kenny Foundation, $1,000; Salvation Army, $4,000.

Also Minnesota Association for Mental Health, $200; Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $330; U.S.O. Defense Funds for Minnesota, Inc., $160; Boy Scouts of America, $4,000; and Girl Scouts, $2,300. In addition, $1,732 will be set aside for cancer research, $1,700 for heart research and $1,000 for infantile paralysis research. The sum of $500 has been budgeted for campaign expenses including $49.50 for the Minnesota Research Foundation.

The $4,432 set aside for research in cancer, heart and infantile paralysis raised some questions from a representative of a national organization. Following some discussion, members of the board of directors United Fund drive voted to leave the three items for research in the budget.

Hale said, "In no way do we wish to indicate that the United Fund is soliciting funds for any specific agency concerned with research in these fields although we cordially invite them to take part."

Mrs. Agnes Israelson, chairman of the residential drive which will begin December 12, introduced Mrs. R. J. Dryden who will be co-chairman of the residential drive.

Distribution of envelopes to the business places in the city will be made Saturday, December 3, by Boy Scouts. The drive will begin Monday, December 5, and it is hoped that it will be completed by the following Wednesday. Dr. O. D. Beich is chairman of this drive.

The rural drive will also begin December 5 with Albert Koop as chairman. Materials will be distributed to clerks of the county townships.

Co-chairmen of the drive this year are Wallace Jordet and Morris Howick.

It was emphasized that if every person gave his fair share in the United Fund drive, the drive would be a success and the multiplicity of drives would be eliminated. Agencies which are not now taking part would join in the effort next year and those taking part this year would ask to be included again. Before making their contributions, donors are asked to consider that they are making 13 individual donations at one time and that the drive's success depends upon full contributions for each agency.

A central office for the drive has been set up in the south end of the Northern Chevrolet showroom and will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Low Bid Received for Surfacing 59 TRF to Newfolden

Fargo Firm at $283,386 Lowest of Nine Bidders on 17.4 Mile Project

Included in 16 trunk highway projects on which low bids were announced Monday by L. P. Zimmerman, Minnesota highway commissioner, were two of special interest to residents of this area. Low bids on the 16 projects aggregated $5,266,239.

Of most immediate interest locally is the work of installing gravel base and plant-mixed bituminous base on 17.4 miles of Highway 59 between Newfolden and the junction with No. 1 west of Thief River Falls, and 1.2 miles on No. 1 to connect with No. 32 in this city.

Lowest of nine bids on the job was that of William Collins & sons of Fargo, in the amount of $283,386. The work will start June 1, 1961, and is to be completed in 70 working days.

Park Construction Co. of Minneapolis, at $819,209, was the lowest of five bidders on the grading and installation of gravel base and plant-mixed bituminous base on 15.2 miles on Highway 1 between the west junction of No. 72 and the junction of No. 71, and on No. 72 between the east junction of No. 1 and Kelliher. The work is to start June 5, 1961, and to be completed in 120 working days.

County Gets More Crop Insurance Coverage in 1961

Federal Crop Insurance Covers Both Barley and Wheat, Says Rep. Langen

Congressman Odin Langen received word Monday that four Ninth district counties have been given new crop insurance allocations, beginning with the 1961 crop year, by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

According to the announcement from FCIC, Red Lake county will be a new insurance county for barley, flax and wheat insurance, while barley will become an additional insurable crop in Mahnomen county and both barley and wheat will be insurable in Pennington and Roseau counties.

F. N. McCartney, FCIC manager, told Langen, "These allocations were made on the basis of recommendations received from our state director and the interest shown in crop insurance by the farmers of these counties."

Nearly 150 shareholders and patrons attended the annual meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Grain & Seed association Saturday afternoon in the basement assembly room in the Auditorium.

Larry Martin, field man, read the annual report, which revealed that the organization during the past year handled the record total of more than 1,500,000 bushels of grain.

In the election of directors, Roy E. Wiseth, Lloyd R. Johnson and Adolph Erickson were retained. The board organized by reelecting Odin Hanson president and Wiseth secretary, while Lloyd Johnson was named vice president to succeed B. F. Beiswenger.

Heart Fund Rejects United Fund Share

Chairman David Drotts Says It Won't Participate

David Drotts, county Heart Fund chairman, stated today that the Minnesota Heart Association will not be a participant in the forthcoming United Fund drive.

He said that Dr. Paul Dudley White, internationally famous cardiologist, has stated, "Heart disease is the modern American epidemic. It is too serious a problem to hide in a segment of a United Fund. When we have made enough new discoveries and advances, many of which are around the corner, then—and only then—should we give any serious consideration to more routine methods of supporting the fight against heart disease. Until such time we must continue to rely on the independent Heart Fund drive to which the public has contributed so generously."

The Heart Fund will conduct its own campaign in Pennington county as usual next February, said Drotts.

Public Invited to Nativity Scene Lighting Friday

A choir made up of representatives of local churches will render Christmas carols Friday evening at 9 o'clock when the enlarged Jaycee nativity scene on the post-office corner is lighted for the first time this season. The ceremony will open with a prayer by the Rev. Reuben Wangberg, after which the choir will sing and Mayor Orin Green will turn on the lights. John Elsbrener, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Don Nurverud, chairman of the nativity scene committee, joined in inviting local citizens to witness the ceremony.

TRF Chamber of Commerce Backs United Fund Drive

Urges All Citizens to Support Centralized Fund-raising Agency

President Don M. Olson announced today that the board of directors of the TRF Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the local United Fund movement headed by General Chairman George Hale. President Olson explained that the board was unanimous in supporting the United Fund for numerous reasons:

1.) A United Fund tends to eliminate numerous time consuming charity drives.

2.) One solid organization and campaign can do as good a job and better inform the public of the various charities' needs and accomplishments.

3.) A board of directors composed of farm, labor, and management people can best represent the entire area and, thus, tend to bring unified, successful continuity into our local charity movement.

All local businesses, employes and farm people of the area are strongly urged to contribute to and support the United Fund and to encourage other groups and individuals to do the same. Only through a unified effort can the United Fund be a success.

Jaycees Put Off Meeting to Dec. 7

There will be no meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce this evening, December 1, according to John Elsbrener, president. The meeting has been rescheduled for Wednesday evening, December 7. The December 1 meeting would have been on an evening when downtown business places will be open for Christmas shopping.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ostlund of East Grand Forks and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Valleen of Lindstrom.

Baskets of white gladioli and lavender pom-poms graced the altar as the pianist, Mrs. Delano Lind played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Harold Carlson of Anoka as she sang "O Lord Most Holy". The groom sang "Wedding Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar and "O Perfect Love" was sang after the vows were spoken.

The brides mother wore a light blue lace dress with navy blue accessories while the groom's mother chose a navy blue lace dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Attending as bestman was Dwaine Becklin of Elk River, brother-in-law of the groom with Donald Ostlund of East Grand Forks, brother of the bride and Norval Valleen, brother of the groom as attendants. Their attire was white dinner jackets with black trousers. Serving as ushers were Don Jorstad and Iver Christopherson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors given by the bride's aunts and uncles. A four tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Morris Odegaard while Mrs. Emile Simonson and Mrs. Clarence Brefland poured coffee. At the guest book was June Ranstrom while in charge of the gift table were Marilyn Odegaard and Gloria Odegaard. Mrs. Orville Rokke and Mrs. Clarence Molskness were waitresses.

Unit for Retarded Invites Gifts for State Hospitals

Local Agency Supports Cedric Adams' Campaign for Gifts for Retarded

The Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children announces that the annual Cedric Adams' Christmas gift drive for mentally retarded children and adults will be held through December 15. These gifts will be distributed among the Faribault, Cambridge and Brainerd state schools and hospitals and will be given to those who are not remembered by family and friends.

There are approximately equal numbers of males and females ranging in age from infants to 80-year old adults. There are many more adult patients than children who require Christmas gifts from public contributions.

Cash contributions are accepted and are used throughout the year for patient activities. Checks may be made payable to the Faribault, Cambridge or Brainerd State School and Hospital.

A receptacle will be placed in the Red Owl and Woolworth stores and anyone wishing to contribute may leave their gifts there.

Gifts should not be gift wrapped but wrapping paper may be included.

The schools want to acknowledge and thank each donor for gifts given to patients, and will find it helpful if names and addresses of senders are clearly printed on packages.

The following are some of the most wanted items: Women and girls—hose, mittens, scarves, toilet articles, slippers, towels and washcloths. Men and boys — socks, shirts, belts, toilet articles, pipes, tobacco and cigarettes. Handicraft materials: stamped embroidery pieces, yarn, crochet cotton, model airplane and auto kits. Recreational gifts for all ages: Building blocks, checker boards, harmonicas, card games, scrap books, sleds, skates, and wagons.

Rotarians Informed of Efforts to Secure Area Sugar Refinery

The possibility of a sugar beet plant being located in this area in the future was discussed by W. E. Dahlquist at the regular noon meeting of the Rotary club Monday, November 28.

Although nothing definite has been determined, the beet sugar companies are interested in expansion and many farmers have indicated they would raise beets if processing facilities were available, Dahlquist said. Plants in the Red River valley are now processing at capacity and there will be no substantial increase in beet acreage in the valley next year.

Much depends on the situation in Cuba, the speaker said, but if there is to be increased production, it is not feasible to expand present plants.

Considerations for the location of a new plant include ample railroad transportation and water, the speaker reported. We are in a good position in regard to transportation and state and federal officials have been encouraging about the approval of an application for the use of more Red Lake River water. Processing of beets may take as much as 7-million gallons of water a day.

Discussions with officials of the U. S. corps of engineers were reported on and Dahlquist said that the next step will depend on advice received from the railroad office in Minneapolis.

The speaker also reported on talks with officials of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, which have been encouraging about expansion of local facilities in the future. The effect of the recent reorganization and concentration of some departments and activities were discussed as well as the future of operations in Thief River Falls.

College students from this area will be the guests of the Rotary club at the December 19 meeting, it was announced. It is hoped that the program may include the appearance of the Lincoln high school choir.

Last Rites Today for Morris Lasell, Pioneer Resident

Morris O. Lasell, a resident of Thief River Falls for over 60 years, died Sunday morning, November 27, at Northwestern Hospital at the age of 82 years.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon, Thursday, December 1, at 3 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church. Rev. Joseph Swan will officiate with interment in the Oak Ridge cemetery. The Green Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Lots of Clothing Contributed for Needy Overseas

A huge 28-foot van supplied by L. B. Hartz Stores Inc. was more than half-filled with wearing apparel contributed by local citizens for the relief of needy persons in a half-dozen foreign countries, it was announced today by Harold G. Rasmussen, chairman of the drive, in which several local churches cooperated, under the national sponsorship of Church World Service and other agencies. The van was loaded Tuesday afternoon by members of Trinity church Boy Scout Troop 60, and was taken Wednesday to Grand Forks, where it was transferred with other shipments to freight cars.

The advantages of modern communication systems, such as teletype and private telephone lines, now speed trucking freight bills and other operating data between trucking terminals.

Injured Man Is Rescued by Plane from N.W. Angle

A woodsman with a broken shoulder was flown to medical aid in Warroad Tuesday after being trapped in a remote Northwest Angle lumber camp by the heavy storm sweeping the area.

When Edmund Vickaryous, 59, was injured Monday, a fellow logger battled the blizzard to trek four miles to a larger camp, operated by the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co., which has a radio.

Word was flashed to John Parker, game warden-pilot stationed at Warroad and he flew over the Clifford Comstock camp, near the Canadian border, to drop some pain relieving drugs for Vickaryous. Eased by the narcotics, the victim was loaded onto a power sled, carried 6½ miles to the Lake of the Woods shoreline.

There other loggers had cleared a 1,000-foot landing strip for Parker's plane and the woodsman was flown to the Warroad hospital.

Vickaryous was reported in good condition.

Parole Agents Get Area Consultant

W. T. Johnson, Crookston, Is Named to New Position

The appointment of Warren T. Johnson, Crookston parole agent with the division of adult corrections, to the position of consultant to juvenile court probation officers in the northwestern part of the state was announced Sunday by the department of corrections.

Johnson will serve as consultant to probation officers serving juvenile courts in 16 northwestern counties.

The appointment was made possible by a bill passed by the 1959 legislature providing this service to all counties in the state.

The new office is located in the Polk county court house in Crookston.

Johnson said there are six probation officers in the 16 counties. He said the appointment was made official November 15 and that he will continue his work as a prole agent until a replacement is found.

Johnson said the principal function of the new post is to provide consulting and coordinating services. While the job is of a supervisory nature, he added, the position is not designed to control or dictate to officers in the area.

Mrs. Fitzsimons Resigns Marshall Home Agent Post

Mrs. Janice Fitzsimons, who has served for seven years as Marshall county home agent, has resigned her position effective December 1. She will accompany her husband, Rep. Richard Fitzsimons, to St. Paul for the legislative session beginning Jan. 1, 1961.

Mrs. Fitzsimons began her duties as home agent in Marshall county on Jan. 1, 1954, and has since assisted many families in homemakers programs and 4-H club work as advisor in home economics programs.

15 State Youths Win Chicago Trip

Robert Rausch of TRF Is Included in Group

The "Deserving Farm Boy to Chicago" trip was November 25-28, during the International Livestock Exposition. Fifteen boys, either 4-H or FFA members, ages 17 to 20, from 13 Minnesota Jaycee chapters enjoyed a weekend of new experiences. The group included Robert Rausch of Thief River Falls.

Points of interest visited were the Museum of Science and Industry; Lincoln Park Zoo; Chicago Historical Museum; Chicago Museum of Natural History, plus some entertainment rounding out the trip and making it a most memorable occasion.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes that by promoting agricultural projects as the Deserving Boy to Chicago, a better and more mutual understanding of the many inter-related problems might develop between rural and city businessmen.

Prowler Quintet Plays Bagley in 1960 Opener

John (Jack) Junker will make his debut as the Prowler basketball coach on Friday night when he sends the following boys — forwards Don Ulferts and Harvey Ebbighausen, center Ron Hanson, and guards Eddie Lietzow and Gary Anderson — on to the Lincoln high schol gymnasium court against the Bagley Flyers in the 1960-61 schedule-opener.

Junker, who coached the Newfolden Nordics of district 32 prior to accepting the basketball coaching duties here, will have an all-senior "first five," with Ulferts, Ebbighausen, Hanson, Lietzow, and Anderson being veterans from last season's district and regional titleholders. Of this group only Hanson, the 6-foot 7-inch center, was a starter in last year's game against Bagley, and which was won by the locals, 50-40. In that game, played on the Bagley court, Hanson dunked in seven field goals and added six free throws for a 20-point effort.

First line reserves who are expected to see action in Friday evening's game are Elton Hornseth, Mike and John Aune, Gary Kelly, and Karl Ekstrand. Of this group, Hornseth was a letterman last season.

Following Friday night's season-opener, the Prowlers will have put a couple of days of practice before meeting coach Ambrose Kramer's Roseau Rams of district 32 on the high school court here on Teusday, Dec. 6.

Seidel to Attend County Engineers Institute Dec. 12

December 12 thru the 15th are the dates set by the University of Minnesota for the 16th annual county highway engineer's institute, it was announced today thru John H. Swanberg, chief engineer of the highway department.

The institute has gained national recognition thru the support of county boards and the cooperation of the University of Minnesota and the Minnesota highway department.

Among those in attendance will be Joseph Seidel, Pennington county engineer.

400 LB. plus was the weight of the bear pictured above, shot by Amorin Olson of this city in Beltrami county the last day of the recent deer hunting season. Olson also got his deer, as did his companion, Ole J. Johnson, city, and Willard Yonke, Lancaster. All of the game was bagged within a period of three hours.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Opener

The basketball Prowlers will begin play on their 18-game schedule Friday night when, on the local court, they meet a well-rated Bagley Flyers squad. The Prowler cagers are hopeful that Friday night's date will be the first victory in a string that will lead to a successful defense of the 31st district and Region Eight basketball titles.

The Prowlers do have a rangy nucleus for this season's club, with lanky Ron Hanson being the most valuable of the returning lettermen that are available to coach Jack Junker. Jack, after a couple of successful seasons at Newfolden, in one of which he directed the Nordics to a district title, will be taking over the local coaching duties, succeeding Hartley Story, last season's coach who is now at Osseo.

The game-opening lineup on Friday will probably have Don Ulferts and Harvey Ebbighausen at the forwards, Ron Hanson at center, and Eddie Lietzow and Gary Anderson at the guards. These five boys, led by Hanson who towers a bit higher than 6-feet 7-inches in height, will give the Prowlers the biggest team to ever represent the local school. The current squad will outreach the 1934 Prowlers of Roger Dooley, who had Paul Dahl, John Langseth, Tom Fuller, George Battleson, Roy Swanson, and Lawrence Nicholson in its lineup. And the 1935 Prowler squad of Nicholson, Gil Mickelson, Wayne Kielty, Jim VanPelt, Art Nelson, Carl Lee, and Vic Jung. Not only are the present Prowlers averaging several inches past the six-foot mark, but they are also a burly and solid club.

Defensively, with Anderson and Lietzow up front, and Ulberts, Hanson, and Ebbighausen covering the backboard, the Prowlers should be one of the district's best. Whether or not the offense will match the defense is a question that will have to await the season's schedule of play. It is probable that the Prowlers' opponents will use a pressing defense against the locals, and theer is some doubt as to whether or not the Prowlers can solve such a defense.

The loss of play-making guard Wayne Bjerken, through an infraction of the state high school league rules, may prove costly. Wayne, who was a splendid floor-man, and an adept dribbler, had the ability to bring the ball up court against a pressing defense. In fact, Wayne's dribbling made the "press" look pretty silly.

Eddie the Captain

The 1960-61 basketball Prowlers, at a varsity squad meeting held Monday, elected Eddie Lietzow captain of this season's team. It marked the second time this year that Eddie had been chosen to captain a Prowler athletic team, for the popular senior shared the football captaincy with Jack Goulet and Ron Amundson.

Eddie has been a fine competitor for the Prowlers in football, baseball, and basketball, and it is in honor of this competitiveness, and his leadership qualities, that his teammates have elected the former Northrop grade school performer to these captaincies.

If Eddie has a flaw, and it must be rated as a minor one, it is that he is too conscientious. Eddie is his own most severe critic, and when he makes an error or a misplay, he has a tendency to become dispirited. But he'll learn to shake off these errors and misplays and become a greater athlete because of his earnest efforts at perfection.

Good luck to Eddie and the Prowlers as they open their 1960-61 schedule on Friday night.

The Ice-makers

Oscar Bakke, Jim Kelly, and Chuck Dostal, the ice-making crew at the Arena, stated that they expected to have the ice sheet installed by this afternoon, Thursday, and that the Prowlers would be able to begin their 1960-61 practice sessions this week.

And it's not too soon, for coach Gene Sacks' Prowlers, the defending Region Eight champions, will begin play on their 1960-61 schedule on Tuesday, Dec. 13, when they meet the Grand Forks Central Redskins on the Arena rink. From last season's state tournament squad only Jack Goulet, Jerry Larson, Larry Poole, Tim Teal, Jack Houfek, and Dennis Erickson are turning for this year's play. It is evident that coach Sack and his assistant, George Schlieff, are facing a major rebuilding problem.

Clarence Amiot of the Hockey Boosters stated that the senior hockey Thieves are anxious to get on the Arena ice, too. The Thieves are arranging a series of exhibition games for the season, and a number of Canadian teams have expressed their wishes of playing here. According to Amiot, there is a possibility that Joey Poole, the former Prowler all-stater, and Eddie Thomlinson and Les Merrifield will play with the Thieves. What a line this would make! The three boys were all members of the North Dakota Sioux hockey squad that won the NCAA title. Thomlinson and Merrifield are wings, while Joey is a center-ice man.

The president of the U.S. may be the most powerful man in the world, but his wife can't redecorate her home without the approval of Congress. 210 Deer Shot on Mud Lake Refuge in 1960

According to figures released today by Manager Herbert H. Dill, approximately 43,800 acres of the 61,000-acre Mud Lake Refuge were opened to deer hunting during the season November 12-20. In 1959, 32,000 acres were opened from November 7-11.

This marks the first year a nine-day season has been held on the refuge. In spite of the longer season and larger open area, fewer hunters than in 1959 turned out.

A total of 210 deer were estimated taken in 1,669 hunter-use days. This compares to 147 deer taken in 1,079 hunter use-days in 1959 (a five-day season). Percentage-wise, success was about the same for both years.

According to license numbers on the cars, 70 per cent of the hunters came from Pennington, Polk and Marshall county in that order. The remainder were scattered with a sprinkling of out-of-staters.

Hunting conditions were good at the start with an inch of fresh snow. By the end of the second day the snow melted. Conditions during the rest of the season were considered fair to poor.

Dill stated that, while the deer hunt was a safe one, and the conduct of most hunters was good, the wanton shooting of three moose on and near the refuge was inexcusable.

Holiday Hazards Are Cited by Safety Head

"Minnesota motorists must take special safety measures to protect year-end holiday pleasures and keep themselves from becoming a victim of some senseless traffic tragedy."

This stern warning was issued today by Harry A. Sieben, state safety director, as he urged support of the Blueprint for Safety monthly action program which emphasizes "Holiday Hazards" during festive December.

"Traffic congestion, misused or misplaced holiday spirit and adverse weather conditions contribute toward making this month a more hazardous time of the year for both the pedestrian and the driver," Sieben said.

He advised both pedestrians and drivers to follow "Golden Rules of Safety" to insure their survival over the dangerous season.

"First of all, each of us must remember our moral responsibility to other drivers and walkers during a season offering peace, promise and good fellowship," Sieben stressed. "We have an obligation to be our 'brother's keeper' and help ourselves and others avoid tragedy."

"There will be the excitement of party-going, gift buying, and many of us will take long trips to visit relatives and friends. Now, we cannot let these holiday matters make us drop our defenses. We must remain alert."

"Over-indulgence in liquor will dull the alertness of both the walker and the driver . . . and one slight mistake in fast, heavy traffic can be deadly. Don't try to navigate on the street if you have been drinking," Sieben said.

He also advised drivers to ease up on the gas pedal during the winter season when unexpected patches of ice and snow can send a car into a "deathly spin."

Keep windshields and windows clear of frost and steam, and don't windowshop while driving," he added. "The most dangerous spot in the road is where the walker or the driver takes his eyes off traffic."

Keep Windshields Clean, Is Warning

Highway Safety Chief Cites Minnesota Law

"Failure to keep windshields and side windows clear of frost and ice during cold weather is not only poor judgment, but it also is in violation of state law," warned Mark Markson, chief of the safety promotion section of the Minnesota highway department today as he expressed concern over past laxity on the part of motorists.

"The Minnesota state law, in part, states that no person shall drive a motor vehicle with the windshield or front side windows covered with frost or steam to such an extent as to prevent proper vision," Markson said.

He went on to point out that enforcement of such a violation is particularly difficult since most such violations occur during times of heavy snowfall when police officers are busy with other activity. He called upon all motorists to assist the safety cause by keeping all car windows free of snow, steam and frost.

"It is also only common sense to clear snow from back windows, and keep front and rear lights clear so other drivers will be able to see you with greater ease," Markson said. "Skipping these precautionary measures to have a second, could lose you a lifetime."

Squirrel & Rabbit Hunting under Way

Squirrel Season Ends Dec. 31; Rabbit Mar. 1

With the close of the deer hunting season on November 20, the major 1960 hunting seasons are now over in Minnesota.

However, state conservation officials point out that some enjoyable hunting still remains for those who don't hang up their guns.

Squirrels, both grey and fox, can be hunted through December 31, from sunrise to sunset, with a daily bag and possession limit of 7 and 14, combined.

Rabbit hunting is open through March 1, 1961. Cottontails, jacks and snowshoe hares are fair game, with a daily bag and possession limit of 10 and 20 on each.

Raccoon may be hunted through December 31, and there is no limit to the number that can be taken. While duck hunting ended on November 16, geese may be taken through December 16.

A squirrel or rabbit hunt can make for a wonderful day out of doors for father and son, say state game officials.

PRETTY PROBLEM for President Paul C. Smith of the National Editorial Association is which dairy product to take first from which princess. Like any gentleman would, Smith, a Rock Rapids, Iowa, publisher, accepted both the cheese from Wisconsin's Alice in Dairyland (left), Joan Engh of La Crosse, and the butter from Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Marilyn Christianson of Freeborn county. The girls were hostesses at a breakfast on the last day of the 75th annual NEA convention in Minneapolis, Nov. 12. Some 250 Minnesota newspapermen and more than 450 from out-state attended the convention. Both the girls expressed their personal gratitude and that of the dairy industry for the cooperation extended by the weekly and daily press.

"To determine what is to be done, what not to be done; in other words, to determine right and wrong, is an insistent problem for all organisms; it is not something that begins with man. With all organisms life is a continuous process of selecting one line of action and rejecting another; the determining whether certain actions are right or wrong." —H. S. Jennings

They Would Like That

Maybe it has just happened that way accidentally, but possibly there is a relationship between our dollar difficulties and the announcement that the Soviet ruble will be tied to a gold standard starting in January. At that time the ruble will be given a value, in relation to gold, ten per cent higher than our dollar. The Russian ruble is worth 100 kopeks. Under this new standard the American dollar, in terms of gold, would be worth 90 kopeks.

In the past the ruble has had an arbitrary value established by the Soviet government. A few years ago the ruble was worth about 25 cents of our money in exchange within Russia. In late years the official value for tourists has been dropped to 10 cents. On the black market the ruble sold for considerably less.

In order to maintain the gold standard that has been decreed for the new ruble, the Soviet government will have to be prepared to deliver the quantity of gold the coin is said to be worth, upon demand. That is where we now are running into difficulties with our dollars. To the foreigners our government is pledged to deliver the gold that we have declared our dollar to be worth, and if the confidence of the foreigners in our dollar is lost, then there is not enough gold in Fort Knox to enable us to meet our obligations.

We have an idea that the fellows who are directing Soviet affairs over in the Kremlin would like that.

On Crossing The Street

Kansas City police have concluded that most of the traffic accidents involving pedestrians are due to the carelessness of the pedestrians. The police estimate that two-thirds of the pedestrian fatalities this year were due to the bad judgment of the walkers.

In downtown Kansas City it is illegal for a pedestrian to cross a street except at a crossing. Elsewhere a pedestrian may cross in the middle of a block but motor vehicles have the right of way. At the crosswalks the riders must yield to the walkers.

In most small towns the pedestrians are on their own, and even at the crosswalks they must be ready to run. There are a few considerate drivers but walkers will live longer if they assume that all drivers are going to do the wrong thing. Crossing the street in most small towns is great sport for the venturesome.

More Rice In Japan

Japan will harvest 13 million tons of rice this year and for the first time will have enough home-grown rice to supply the needs of the 93 million Japanese people. In the past five years the average production per acre has increased 1,000 pounds. More fertilizer, better farming methods, and the increased number of acres that are now able to produce two crops a year, account for the record production.

As our first reaction, this information was bad news. Here was more of what we already had too much of, and added difficulties for the disposal of our surpluses. On second thought, however, we recognized it as good news. As the people of Japan produce more, they will have more, and as they have more they will be better citizens of the world.

The changes that are in the making now thruout the world, the increased productivity and the industrial development of many nations, is going to force us to make some adjustments that will not be pleasant at the time. But they will be necessary adjustments to a new set of facts that we have not yet been willing to recognize.

In the world of tomorrow the standard of living among other peoples will gradually approach our own. Our higher standard has been due to several favorable and fortunate circumstances. We have had abundant and relatively low-cost food. More of our workers have been available for other forms of production, and mass production methods have made many products and services available to us at prices we could afford to pay.

What has happened in our country is now happening in other countries. Fewer man hours are required to produce food and other necessities. More man hours are available for the production of other goods and services. And people in other countries, thruout the world, will gradullay live better, enjoying higher living standards. This, certainly, will not be bad. This will be good.

Our present problem is to remain competitive in a world in which we no longer enjoy certain advantages. We are competing in world markets, and even in our own markets, with industrial nations that produce goods at lower cost. To remain competitive means that somehow we must lower our production costs. The only alternative is stagnation and eventual poverty.

Regardless of which way we choose to go, we are sure that out of this period of adjustment there will gradually emerge a better world. It will be better because gradually the people of more nations will enjoy a higher standard of living. As they do they will become better cusomers, and consume more goods and use more services. That is not a development to be feared.

Gradually thruout the world there will develop some uniformity in living standards and working conditions, but in the future, as in the past, we presume that the individuals, and the nations, that put forth the greatest effort will reap the greatest rewards.

In all probability, the nations that will survive will be the nations that deserve to survive.

The Machine Age

Until the year 1958 most of the world's automobiles were manufactured in the United States. During that year American-made models were only 49 per cent of the world's total. In 1959 the made-in-America cars dropped to 48 per cent. These figures in themselves, are not necessarily alarming. They are significant mainly as they indicate a trend.

And the important thing about this trend is the fact that a large portion of the foreign-built cars were built in branches of American companies. Our American companies are meeting the competition of foreign manufacturers in world markets by building factories in foreign countries. And, from the American point of view, that no doubt is better than losing the business completely.

On the cheerful side, looking upon the automobile as a symbol of progress, is the fact that thruout the world the machine is gradually replacing manual labor or making it more efficient. This fact strengthens our hope for better living conditions thruout the world for the generations that follow us.

Willkie Defeated

(Don Brown in Waseca Herald)

Another Willkie met defeat at the polls November 8. This time it was Philip H. Willkie, son of the late Wendell L. Willkie and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Peavey Heffelfinger of Wayzata. He was seeking the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

Credited with handing him the defeat was the Indiana State Teachers association. Willkie had advocated education reforms, urging reduction in emphasis on courses on how to teach and greater emphasis on mastery of subjects to be taught.

He campaigned for pay increases to teachers of academic subjects. He gained the ire of the Teachers association when he said that in some schools a student gets as much credit for learning how to change a tire as he can earn for learning to read and write.

The Teachers association of Indiana has long established salary schedules based on almost everything except individual ability and performance. Willkie campaigned on the principal that demonstrated competence in the classroom should be rewarded. This has prompted the South Bend Tribune to editorialize in this manner:

"Had he been elected, the office of state superintendent of schools would have been uncommonly interesting to watch . . . It is a safe bet the struggle between the opposing forces would have brought developments that would have been good for education in Indiana."

Cites Revised Rules for Social Security

Beginning in 1961, an additional 450,000 people will be able to draw some social security monthly benefits while they are working, Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks district office said today.

Kistler pointed out that a provision of the new social security amendments changes the rules for determining how earnings from work affect a person's right to receive monthly benefits. He explained further that the following rules remain unchanged:

1. Anyone earning $1200 or less during a year will still be entitled to receive his full social security check for every month of the year;

2. Anyone who has reached his 72nd birthday will still be able to receive his full social security check for every month no matter how much he works and how much he earns;

3. A person will not have any deduction from his social security check for any month that his earnings as an employee are $100 or less or, if he is self-employed, for any month that he does not do substantial work in his business.

The change made by the recent amendments affects the social security beneficiary whose earnings from employment or self-employment go over $1200 a year, Kistler explained. For earnings from $1200 to $1500 he will give up $1.00 in social security benefits for each $2.00 of earnings. For earnings over $1500 he will give up $1.00 of social security benefits for every $1.00 of earnings. Under the old rule, which remains in effect until the end of 1960, a person is required to give up his entire monthly social security check for every $80 or part of $80 by which his earnings go over $1200. "The change in the new law eliminates the possibility that a person may lose considerably more in social security than he earns from his work—a possibility that existed under the old law," Kistler said.

He further stated that there are 11.1 million people of 65 years of age or over who are either receiving regular monthly benefits or would be receiving them if the family breadwinner was not working. Of these, about 2 million will be affected by the change in the law on the payment of social security checks to people who are working. 1.4 million of them have not applied for payments because they are making over $2080 a year, the annual earnings figure that generally prevents a person from receiving any social security checks under the old law.

Kistler advised that anyone who may be eligible for social security benefits but who has not yet made a claim for them because he is working should call at the social security office to inquire about the effect of the new change on his rights.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I understand that recent legislation allowed veterans of the Spanish-American War to change from their older system of pension payments to benefits under the new law, if they wish. Does this new ruling also apply to the dependents of Spanish-American War veterans?

A—No, only to the veterans themselves. The veterans may elect to take pension under the new law, but their dependents, as well as dependents of deceased Civil War veterans, may not.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran who never applied for a GI loan. I have never remarried. Recently I noticed that the deadline for World War II GI loans had been extended to July 25, 1962. Does that mean my right to apply for a loan was also extended?

A—Yes. Eligible unremarried widows of World War II veterans have until July 25, 1962, to apply.

Q—My GI insurance policy has lapsed and I must take a physical examination to reinstate it. Who should mail my medical application for reinstatement to the VA, I or my doctor?

A—Your examining physician should mail it to the VA as soon as your examination is completed.

Q—I am a World War II veteran drawing disability compensation from the VA, and I also have a GI insurance policy on which I pay monthly premiums. I'd like to have VA use my compensation to pay my insurance premiums. Will they do that?

A—Yes. So long as your disability compensation checks are large enough to cover the premiums, VA will arrange with you to have those premiums deducted from your monthly compensation checks. Just write and tell them what you'd like to do. Be sure to give your "C" number and the number of your insurance policy with the letter or letters before it.

Q—Before the new pension law went into effect, I was getting pension from VA as a disabled World War I veteran. This September I received a bequest which will put my income for this year above the legal limit. When I again become eligible to receive pension may I return to the old system of payment or must I come under the new law?

A—You may continue to receive payments under the old law, so long as you tell the VA immediately of this excess income you have received. To protect yourself in your right to get pension under the old law later on, do not wait until the end of the year to report income to VA.

Q—A neighbor of ours, a veteran holding GI insurance, has been hospitalized for some months and another person has been handling the payment of his insurance premiums for him. Does that person have the right to make any change in the way the premiums are paid, or to modify the beneficiaries of the policy in any way?

A—He definitely does not. The policy holder himself is the only one in a case like this who can make any changes affecting premiums or the payment of proceeds to beneficiaries.

SOME 4,000 men, women and children had their chest x-rayed during community-wide tuberculin testing surveys in Polk county. Chest x-rays were given to those who reacted to the tuberculin to determine if the TB germs were doing any damage to the lungs. An x-ray machine, loaned by the state welfare department, was set up at testing headquarters and "pictures" taken on the spot. County Christmas Seal funds paid survey costs.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

Surviving the hazardous folly of predicting hunting success has given us enough courage to conduct a post mortem on the waterfowl season. This is equally dangerous because we must talk about averages, and almost no season is average.

In a sentence, duck shooting was good on the opening weekend and generally poor the rest of the season. We had one goose flight just before and during the opening of the season and a major goose flight on October 19. There appears to have been a major duck flight November 3 but they went over high with very few ending up as roast duck in Minnesota. There appeared to be practically no bluebill (scaup) flight and these birds have not yet been located in the flyway.

We can't believe they are really as scarce as they appear to be and believe they will show up somewhere in the country during the winter inventory. The ringnecks, mostly locally raised, showed up more abundantly in the hunter's bag than last year.

The one bright spot in the duck picture is the improved age ratio. Last year there was less than one young duck for each adult. This year it was up to 2.3 but still below the 2.9 average.

This season points up one thing to be remembered in our waterfowl management program. Probably half of all the ducks shot in Minnesota this year were taken on the opening weekend. Most of these are locally raised. In other words, the opening day home raised ducks and the home raised ringnecks especially provided much of our shooting this year. This shows that Minnesota is a state which does not rely entirely on ducks raised somewhere to the north. If our Minnesota waterfowl habitat is managed for top production we can have some duck hunting even when Canadian duck production is low.

The federal law giving canvasback and redheads complete protection was a tough pill to swallow. Some sportsmen actually gave up rather than take a chance on violating the law. Others said it worried them and detracted from their sport. This law also resulted in some ducks being left to rot in the rushes, but we think it did save many of the endangered species. Game wardens and game managers collected much data during the season which will be compiled later. Some clubs had men on the pass capable of identifying ducks who shouted "shoot" or "don't shoot" every time ducks came over. Others reported very few mistakes made even though "cans" were plentiful. In general, our wardens did an excellent job of handling this difficult problem.

The fact remains that if we can learn to identify ducks we can have more liberal regulations. As long as seasons must be set to protect the most endangered species, bag limits and season length must be restricted. If and when we learn to know our ducks we can expect an extra mallard or pintail or a couple of extra teal in the bag. This could be a big and important job for organized sportsmen to undertake.

Carbon Monoxide Is Threat to Motorists

Fresh air is the best insurance against possible death from carbon monoxide poisoning.

In spite of the fact that the protection against this poisonous gas is as inexpensive as the fresh air we breathe, more than three hundred carbon monoxide fatalities are recorded annually throughout the United States. In addition, many safety men now believe that deaths in one-car accidents where the driver has fallen asleep may have been caused by carbon monoxide.

Because carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless, tasteless and non-irritating, it is often referred to as the "silent killer".

Death can come within a matter of minutes depending upon the concentration of carbon monoxide in the air inhaled into the lungs.

A feeling of tightness across the forehead, a headache, a throbbing sensation in the temples, nausea, weakness, dizziness, increased pulse rate and lack of muscular control are among the most common symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning. Sometimes when the concentration of gas is strong, the person may become unconscious without experiencing these other symptoms.

The Minnesota State Medical Association lists the following suggestions to prevent death due to carbon monoxide poisoning:

Never start or warm up your car with the garage doors closed. This also applies to mechanics who do car repair without adequate ventilation.

Don't sit in a parked car while the motor is running to keep the heater or air conditioner operating.

Don't continue driving at night if you experience the feeling that the night is blacker than usual and the lights of oncoming vehicles brighter than usual. Park the car and get into the fresh air. These symptoms could mean that you are subjected to carbon monoxide.

Do check your automobile regularly to see that it is mechanically in good running condition. Incomplete combustion of fuel generates carbon monoxide. Replace faulty mufflers or exhaust pipes. Gas fumes can filter into the cab of the motor vehicle.

Never drive with all windows of the automobile tightly closed.

Avoid the temptation to follow other cars too close. It is possible for the carbon monoxide produced by the car ahead of you to filter through your ventilating system.

Retired U.S. Army Personnel to Meet

Briefing Session Set at Fort Snelling Dec. 10th

Retired United States Army personnel of all ranks from Minnesota, northwestern Wisconsin, North Dakota and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan will have an opportunity to catch up on some of the concepts of the "new" army and to get timely advice on rights, benefits and privileges when they attend a briefing for retired personnel Saturday, December 10, at the Officers' Open Mess at Fort Snelling.

The program will include introductory remarks by Colonel Robert M. Lorenz, Minnesota Sector commander; a welcome by Major General John S. Guthrie, XIV United States Army Corps commander; a talk on "Advances in Science" by Mr. Harold P. Plulmer, science consultant for the Minnesota department of education; and a question and answer session.

The purpose of the briefing will be to develop and maintain a continued interest in Army affairs among retired personnel and to disseminate up-to-date information and recent changes of matters pertaining to their rights and interests. An invitation is extended to retired personnel of all services to attend this briefing.

The president who served the shortest time in office was William Henry Harrison, who died one month after his inauguration.

THE FACE OF FAITH

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	34	6
Monday	II Corinthians	4	6
Tuesday	Psalms	121	1-8
Wednesday	Acts	3	26
Thursday	I Peter	1	3-9
Friday	Romans	1	16-17
Saturday	II Timothy	1	7-9

Sometimes a face is striking. It isn't the sort of face you're accustomed to. It's a face you wouldn't have expected to see. But you have seen it! That's why you call it striking.

The Face of Faith is like that . . .

The eyes seem lifted toward the hills, to a source of strength. The lips are firm with a courage that rests neither on prowess nor weapon. The countenance shines with a joyous light . . . a light that seems to reflect some mystic Sun though the world around is cast in shadow and gloom.

I see the Face of Faith each Sunday . . . the face of a child . . . perhaps your child!

I am her Sunday School teacher—and the joyous light of that striking face inspires me to seek more faithfully in the worship and work of my Church the help of God.

You are her parents. How that confident, expectant radiance must inspire you!

"YOU DON'T SAY"

① WHAT ARE PICOS AND TERAS?

2) HOW FAST DOES YOUR HAIR GROW?

① Picos and teras are new number prefixes recently adopted by the U.S. Bureau of Standards to make higher mathematics simpler. Pico- means one trillion and tera- means one trillionth. You probably won't use these prefixes in counting your money, but hecto- (100) and kilo- (1000) are within reach of our systematic savers. Why not be one yourself? Stop in and open your account.

② Although it may seem faster, hair grows only about 1/50 of an inch per day! That's a good example of how soon you have a lot when you add a little regularly. The same is true of a systematic savings account. Add a little each payday and you'll soon have a tidy sum. This payday would be a good day to stop in and start yours.

R. Holthusen Is Rearrested on Murder Count

Action Follows His Release by Federal Authorities Friday

Reinhold Holthusen, 55-year-old Red Lake Indian reservation farmer, was a free man for a few minutes Friday, following dismissal of second degree murder charges against him in federal court by U. S. Commission Marcus A. Reed, at Bemidji.

His freedom was short-lived, however. Only a moment after the federal case against him had been dismissed Beltrami county authorities arrested Holthusen again on a charge of first-degree murder in the case of the beating death of Palmer Anderson, Thief River Falls.

The charge was brought against Holthusen by Herbert E. Olson, Beltrami county attorney, under state laws. Olson stated he would file a petition with District Judge Arnold C. Forbes, asking that a grand jury be called.

Federal authorities explained the federal charge was dropped because they felt they lacked jurisdiction in the case because neither Anderson nor Holthusen was an Indian. The federal government had entered the case originally because the death occurred on the reservation.

Anderson's body was found outside the Holthusen farm home shortly after midnight Nov. 12. He had died from a savage beating, which was believed to have followed an argument over his alleged attentions to Mrs. Holthusen, according to John Cahill, Beltrami county sheriff.

Court Term Put Off to Wednesday

One Case Disposed of Since Last Wednesday

The session of Pennington county district court scheduled to resume this morning, was postponed until Wednesday, December 7, at 9:30, when out-of-town attorneys in the case of Hilda R. Rachuy vs. Marie Larson were prevented by stormy weather from reaching this city.

In the case of Roy A. Aubol vs. Maynard T. Wedul of Wedul Truck Lines and Emil C. Weckwerth, the only case completed last week, the petit jury allowed counter-claims of $400 to Wedul and $28.65 to Weckwerth.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren is presiding over the term.

Area Woman Faces Bad Check Charge

$125 in Worthless Checks Reported Cashed in City

The county sheriff's office and city police are today investigating a case of forgery in which approximately $125 in bogus checks were allegedly cashed at various business establishments by a local woman, Mrs. Frances Lefrooth, over the past weekend.

Alertness on the part of Northern State bank officials and their immediate notification of authorities, once the bogus checks started coming in, helped authorities here to establish identity of the party cashing the checks almost immediately, police said today.

Mrs. Lefrooth was located at Strandquist, where she was staying at the home of a relative. Investigation of the case is continuing, authorities said today.

Orville Elseth, Newfolden and Silas Hanson Named Co-directors Thursday

Erling Wyberg of the state soil conservation committee spoke on the watershed progress in Minnesota, and Don Perkuchyn of the Mud Lake wildlife refuge discussed work at the refuge and showed slides.

Herb Halverson of the soil conservation service in Thief River Falls discussed SCS district relations, and Matt Thorfinnson, executive secretary of the state committee, discussed budget requests to be presented to the state legislature.

A certificate of award marking the completion of 10 years of service to Pennington county farmers was presented to the county soil conservation district board by Thorfinnson.

TRF Creamery to Meet December 12

Meeting Set for 1 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium

Annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association will be Monday, December 12, beginning at 1 p.m. in the city Auditorium.

Items of business include the reading of the annual report and the election of one director for a three-year term. The position now held by Vernon Anderson is expiring.

Featured speaker of the meeting will be Dr. Edward Fredericks of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. Princess Kay of the Milky Way will also speak.

Lunch will be served by the Silver Creek Ladies Aid.

Klemens Gigstad, manager of the creamery, stated that the board had authorized distribution at the annual meeting of checks covering equity earnings for the last quarter of 1947, the payments aggregating about $5,200.

The TRF Chamber of Commerce office announced today that several committees are actively working on numerous items of business.

The 1961 nominating committee is seeking out twelve candidates to run for six two-year directorships. The Chamber board is composed of twelve directors, six of whom are replaced each year. Chairman Otto Stenberg, Otis Wold and Harley Kelly will announce the candidates' names in the near future and ballots will be sent out for voting as in previous years.

Several Lions club slaves were donated for the purpose of collecting delinquent 1960 dues. Treasurer Bob Baker has indicated that results thus far are very favorable. Any member who has not paid all or part of his 1960 dues is asked to take care of it very soon.

Promotion committee Chairman Stan Pladson states that plans are nearing completion for Santa's visits on December 10 and 17. Santa Claus will be at the city Auditorium on both Saturdays when he will distribute candy and popcorn to the kiddies under 12 years of age as he talks over Christmas problems with them.

A 1961 program planning and budget committee is organizing an aggressive agenda for the New Year, Manager Rolly Larson stated.

A special committee has gotten the approval of Gordon LaBree, administrator of the former Montgomery Ward building, to place Christmas displays in the window of that corner. This should brighten up that corner downtown during the holiday season. The Lincoln high school distributive education students studying display advertising will be doing the work under the supervision of Cliff Wikland, administrator, who expects the group to be active by the end of the week.

The retail trade committee has taken a special vote by mail to find the sentiments of the businessmen on future store hours. Numerous ballots remain out and the Chamber office urges their return in the near future so an accurate tally may be taken.

The executive committee of the Chamber board of directors will meet briefly this week to take action on unfinished business before the present board meets for the last time. The new board will be in operation by January 1.

Strandberg, district engineer with the St. Paul office of the Corps of Army Engineers, has been postponed until a date set tentatively at next Monday, December 12. He will meet with representatives of groups interested in the Thief River watershed.

Upset of Whiskey Van Causes Traffic Tangle at Marcoux

Capt. Walter Anderson Advises Motorists to Stay Off Highways Today

Anyone who contemplates driving any distance today should first ask himself, "Is this trip necessary?" and give an honest answer before attemping to travel, Capt. Walter Anderson of the highway patrol advised today.

Anderson said the rain which has been falling since late Sunday evening has made roads in this area extremely hazardous and the best advice to follow is "stay at home!"

No injuries were reported from numerous cars and trucks which went into the ditch along U.S. 2 east of Marcoux corner, Anderson said. Apparently the pile-up started when a Canadian transport loaded with whiskey went off the road and overturned in the ditch. The others probably went off when they attempted to slow or stop to see the wrecked semi-trailer rig in the ditch.

The trailer-load of whiskey posed a fragrant problem for wrecking crews working to straighten out the situation. Before the load can be taken off and reloaded so the rig can be moved, customs officials must be brought to break the seals on the whiskey. A considerable amount of whiskey was lost when bottles were smashed in their cases as the rig overturned.

The scene east of Marcoux was the worst in the area, although vehicles were having troubles throughout the district, Anderson said.

Mrs. Carl Melby returned Monday after spending a week at the Leo S. Moe home in Glenwood. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hastings and children of Kasson spent their Thanksgiving vacation at the Moe home.

ICC Approves Merger of Soo, 2 Other Lines

Soo Line, Wisconsin Central to Operate as One Corporation

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, D. C. Friday authorized a merger of three U.S. affiliates of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which will operate in the future as a unified corporation to be known as the Soo Line Railroad Co.

The consolidation, which is expected to produce annual savings of about $1.2 million, involves the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie (the present Soo Line), Wisconsin Central Railroad Co., and the Duluth, Southshore and Atlantic Railroad Co.

The new company will have its headquarters in Minneapolis, where the three railroads now maintain executive offices.

The Canadian Pacific controls 50.49 pre cent of the present Soo Line, 53.97 per cent of the Wisconsin Central and is the sole owner of Southshore.

The present Soo Line operates on 3,222 miles of tracks in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

Wisconsin Central has 1,031 miles of line in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and Southshore operates on 544 miles of track in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Thus, the consolidated company will have a 4,797-mile system.

The new company will have combined assets of about $222,256,073, the ICC said.

United Fund Opens '60 Drive in Business Area

Pennington Co. Given Soil Testing Plaque by Farm Publication

Pennington county this morning received an award for doing the best job of soil-building by soil testing of any county in Minnesota in 1960.

Accepting the award in behalf of the county was Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent. The award was announced at the teneth annual Soils and Fertilizer Short course on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Pennington county was presented a plaque by Robert Rupp, managing editor of The Farmer magazine, St. Paul. He pointed out that the award goes not only to the county extension staff but also to the many cooperators in the soil testing program. Cooperators include fertilizer dealers, farmers and other private and governmental groups.

Other counties placing high in the contest included Roseau, second; Marshall, third, and Rice, fourth.

During this year's Minnesota soil sample roundup, Pennington county farmers, working with the county extension service, had 632 samples tested by the University of Minnesota soils testing lab.

Vic Aalbu Asks Vote Recount for 65th Dist.

Gonvick Man Lost to Lee by 23 Votes in Legislature Race

Victor H. Aalbu of Gonvick, candidate for the legislature from the 65th district, who lost out to L. J. Lee of Bagley by 23 votes, stated this week that he will ask for a recount of the votes from Pennington, Clearwater and Red Lake counties.

Unofficial returns had declared Aalbu the winner by 82 votes, however, when the official returns came out he was behind by 23 votes. In the election Ben Wichterman of Plummer was reelected receiving the greatest number of votes in a four-way race for the two legislative posts. Irving Beyer of Red Lake Falls ran fourth.

Aalbu stated that because of several apparent errors in vote counting he felt those who worked and voter for him deserved the consideration of having the ballots recounted. His campaign committees, he says, feel that because of errors in tabulating the votes it is necessary to have a recount to establish the winner of the contest.

An order for the recount, setting forth the reasons upon vote counting errors, was filed with the clerk of district court in Bagley on Friday as well as with Secretary of State Joseph Donovan. It will now be necessary for the district court to appoint referees to proceed with the recount. The recount must be completed within 20 days after filing of the protest.

To Enlarge Beet Acreage in Valley

Sugar Company Expects 11 Pct. Increase in 1961

American Crystal Sugar Co. expects to increase its contracted sugar beet acreage by 11 per cent in the Red River Valley in the coming crop year.

H. P. H. Johnson, Denver, Colo., vice president and general agriculturist for the firm, made the announcement at the 25th annual meeting of the Red River Valley Beet Growers association in Fargo.

Johnson said the 11 per cent increase would bring the total acreage to 115,000. He said the firm feels the greatest portion of the added acreage should go ments made to some current beet to new krowers, with adjustgrowers.

The sugar firm executive said any processing will depend to a large extent on what happens to the sugar act in the next session of Congress.

Campaign Chairmen Ask Liberal Gifts from County People

With a goal of $21,372 for 10 agencies and research in three fields, the United Fund drive for Pennington county began today in the business and rural districts and is expected to be completed within a week.

Dr. O. D. Belch is chairman of the business district campaign and Albert Koop is chairman of the rural drive. Mrs. Agnes Israelson is chairman of the residential drive which begins December 12, and Mrs. R. J. Dryden is co-chairman.

Dr. Belch reported that materials for the business district drive were distributed Saturday by the Boy Scouts and other volunteers. Every employer has been asked to meet with his employes today to explain the necessity, purposes and goals of the United Fund. Employes will be given the opportunity to contribute through payroll deduction or direct contribution.

Employers have been asked to conclude their collections as scheduled and to bring them to the United Fund office at Northern Chevrolet Wednesday or Thursday.

Materials for the drive were sent to the township clerks last week and township workers will be making their calls beginning today, according to Albert Koop.

Agencies included in the drive this year include the Children's Home Society of Minnesota, Minnesota Association for Retarded Children, American Red Cross, Sister Kenny Foundation, Salvation Army, Minnesota Association for Mental Health, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, U.S.O. Defense Funds for Minnesota, Inc., Boy Scouts of America and Girl Scouts. Funds are also being collected for cancer, heart and infantile paralysis research.

United Fund officials emphasized that before making contributions, everyone should consider that ten agencies and research in three fields are included. Only with a full contribution for each of these agencies will it be possible to conclude a successful drive which will encourage other agencies to join the United Fund drive next year and end the multiplicity of drives.

November Was Much Warmer Than in 1959

As residents of this area shiver and shake during the next four months, they can look back fondly on November as a pleasant month of warm temperatures and sunny skies.

Statistics from the past two years show that the past month was warmer, both day and night, and considerably dryer. The average high of 36.54 degrees compares favorably with 23.2 in 1959 and 30.9 in 1958. Average lows were 20.1 for 1960, 8.17 for 1959 and 15.7 for 1958.

Precipitation during the past month totaled 1.23 inches of rain and snow compared to 5.7 in 1959 and 8.0 in 1958.

The first snow of the season, 0.4 inch, fell November 14 to give deer hunters a boost but no more fell until last week's 0.7 inch on the 28th and 0.1 inch the following day. The last two snowfalls were accompanied by strong winds gusting to 55 miles an hour blocking some roads and forcing schools to be closed part of the 28th and all days the 29th in some places.

The area was fortunate, however, for many places to the south had greater amounts of snow during the same period and northwestern United States had later snowfalls of up to 11 inches.

Here is a summary of the temperatures and precipitation for November:

Benefits on Health Policies Gain in 1960

The American public received an average of more than $8.5 million a day in health insurance benefits from insurance companies during the first nine months of 1960, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

This was an increase of better than $500,000 a day over the average daily benefit payments made by insurance companies in 1959, said the Institute.

Health insurance benefits paid by insurance companies totaled $2,342,137,000 for the first three quarters of 1960, a boost of eight per cent over the $2,168,476,000 paid out in the same period of 1959, said the HII.

In all of 1959, a grand total of $5.2 billion in benefits were paid by insurance companies, Blue Cross - Blue Shield, and other health care plans. More than $2.8 billion of these benefits came from insurance companies, including $838 million to persons covered by policies which replace income lost through disability.

At the end of last year, nearly 128 million Americans had some form of health insurance protection including more than 75 million persons covered by insurance companies, said the institute.

So far in 1960, benefit payments by insurance companies are running ahead of last year for all five types of health insurance—hospital expense, surgical expense, regular medical expense, major medical expense, and loss of income.

In the first nine months of 1960, the greatest percentage increase in benefits came in major medical expense insurance, according to the institute.

Major medical, which provides benefits ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 to help offset the cost of serious illness, accounted for $309 million in benefits in the first three-quarters of the year. This was an increase of 26.8 per cent over the $243 million paid out in the same period of 1959, said the Institute.

Sale of Yule Tree Decorations Nets Jr. Chamber $100

A highly successful sale of Christmas tree ornaments was conducted last Monday evening by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Glenn Peterson, chairman, announced, adding that 18 Jaycees turned out in spite of stormy weather and sold out their stock in less than three hours. The chapter earned about $100, sufficient to cover half the cost of the figures added this year to the nativity scene on the postoffice corner.

3 Traffic Crashes in City Result in about $700 Damage

Accidents Reported by Local Police Occurred Last Saturday, Dec. 3

WINTER came to northwestern Minnesota Monday, November 28, when an estimated two inches of snow, driven by winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour, decreased visibility and blocked some roads. By Wednesday morning when this picture was taken, the downtown streets had been plowed and city crews had begun trucking away piles which had been pushed to the sides of the streets.

oratory, reports John Grava, head of the laboratory. This amounts to 104 samples per 100 farms in the county.

An outstanding featuring of Pennington county's record this year was the cooperation between farmers and fertilizer dealers and the assistance of a Thief River Falls trailer company, says Lowell Hanson, extension soils specialist at the University.

The company furnished a house trailer and parked it on a downtown street to serve as a collection depot. Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire fertilizer dealers voluntarily manned the trailer.

The $1.00 fee which farmers paid to have their soil tested is being deducted by cooperating dealers from the cost of the fertilizer bought by farmers in the county.

One-time Bagley Man Is Pictured in Sat. Eve Post

A color photo of a wilderness log cabin and its four inhabitants was the subject of the Face of America series in the Saturday Evening Post last week.

The double-page spread shows Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Foldoe, formerly of Bagley, and their two youngsters in front of a small log cabin built in the Alaskan wilderness four miles from Fairbanks.

Foldoe is working as a fireman in a Fairbanks hospital. He bought a plot of forest land for $800, and then built a snug cabin which features a sod roof plus pansies growing on it.

Regional Audition for Metropolitan Opera in January

Upper Midwest Singers Invited to Apply for Hearing on 'U' M. Campus

Aspiring Upper Midwest vocalists have until December 31 to enter a contest which has been paying off handsomely for five or six years, with one regional winner now appearing with the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York.

Regional auditions before a battery of competent judges are scheduled for Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13, 1961, on the University of Minnesota campus. Application forms may be obtained from Co-Chairman James S. Lombard, 109 Northrop Memorial Auditorium, University, Minneapolis 14. Forms must be completed and returned to Mr. Lombard's office not later than December 31.

These region auditions, explains the co-chairman, Mrs. Judson Bemis of White Bear Lake, serve a two-fold purpose. They help to discover and bring out new American talent, and they encourage gifted young singers to go ahead with operatic careers or to go forward in other fields. Many past winners and high placers are now appearing with local opera companies, on TV and radio programs, have enhanced their teaching stature and are benefitted in many other ways.

Each regional winner is taken to New York, at no personal expense, to compete with other regional winners for cash and other awards ranging as high as a $2,000 scholarship or a Metropolitan contract.

Explorer Boy Scouts to Join in Canoe Race

The Minneapolis Aquatennial association and the Boy Scouts have joined forces for the staging of a seven-day canoe race down the Mississippi river in conjunction with the 1961 Aquatennial.

The event, which replaces the 10-day Aquatennial Canoe Derby held the past two years, will be open only to Explorer Scouts, ages 15 through 17. It will be called the Aquatennial Explorer Scout Canoe Race.

Entries will be limited to some 50 teams composed of eight scouts each drawn from the 72 Explorer Scout posts in Boy Scout Region 10 — Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and eastern Montana.

The race will start at Bemidji July 8 and finish in Minneapolis July 15 to herald, as in the past, the opening of the Aquatennial, Minneapolis' annual 10-day summer festival.

The teams, which will operate in four two-man relays in a specified rotation and will change at designated points, all will paddle identical canoes furnished by Aluma-Craft.

The estimated mileage for the 1961 scout race will be 310 miles. Eliminated will be much of the route covered the first two days of the old race, including the treacherous crossing of big Lake Winnibigoshish and the traversing of the swamps below it.

Also to be by-passed by portaging will be part of the river between Palisade and Brainerd.

The Explorer Scout route will be Bemidji to Cass Lake, portage to Grand Rapids, Grand Rapids to Palisade, Palisade to Brainerd with portage, Brainerd to Little Falls, Little Falls to St. Cloud, St. Cloud to Anoka and Anoka to Minneapolis.

"The Aquatennial realizes that this change will come as a disappointment to some people, particularly those who competed in last year's derby and were planning on entering again this year," said Oman Thompson, Aquatennial Commodore.

"We feel, however, that in the long run this race will be a better vehicle for national publicity, offering as it does a broader program of cooperation between the Aquatennial and the Boy Scouts of America."

He added that the Aquatennial has assumed the obligation of raising $2,500 in prizes for the 1961 race.

Reynold C. Malmquist and Ray Ewald have been named cochairmen of the race by the Viking Council of the Scouts. Both are also Aquatennial board members.

They predicted that by 1962 the race will be drawing Explorer Scout teams from all over the country, making it a true national event.

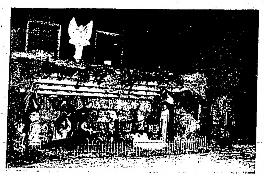
This relay race format was tested successfully, they pointed out, last September when 27 Explorer Scout posts, each employing three two-man teams, held a one-day race down the St. Croix river from Taylor's Falls to Stillwater.

"It turned out very satisfactorily. Only one team dropped out and nobody else got so far behind they were out of the race," they explained.

At the six overnight stop towns where they will camp out the contestants will put on a show for the townspeople. A giant smorgasbord at Minnehaha Park in Minneapolis the night the race ends will be the climax for the scouts and their adult supervisors who will accompany them during the event.

Entry fee for each team will be $265, the money to be raised by the post. Contestants will be furnished two hot meals during each day of the race and "makings" for lunch.

Entry information can be obtained by writing: Viking Council, Boy Scouts of America, 314 Clifton, Minneapolis 2, Minn.



OFFICIALLY opening the Christmas season in Thief River Falls, Mayor Orin Green, right, pressed the switch lighting the Nativity scene north of the post office Friday evening, December 2. FU Grain Terminal Assn. Meet Today

5,000 Delegates Expected at Sessions in St. Paul

More than 5,000 co-op delegates representing practically every major farm community in Montana, Minnesota and the Dakotas will attend the 23rd annual meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association.

Thousands of delegates will converge on the St. Paul Municipal Auditorium today to officially open the big grain, feed and seed co-op's business sessions. The meeting will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Farmer members of GTA are currently developing one of the strongest and most far-reaching cooperative service organization in the United States. Recent expansion by GTA through purchase and construction have placed farmers in a stronger position, more competitive with large private corporations engaged in marketing and processing.

Delegates representing more than 680 co-op elevators throughout the Upper Midwest are expected to again emphasize plans for effective farm legislation, and policies geared to a rural America that finds its strength in family farms.

Guest speaker at the convention will be Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee and one of the legislators expected to have a key role in the Senate under the new Kennedy administration. He will speak at the huge GTA annual banquet on the evening of Tuesday, December 13.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Today the Pennington County United Fund begins its campaign, and the Red Cross chapter wishes to congratulate the Board of Directors, all the committee people, and all of the workers who will have to contact the public for the contributions and pledges.

We in Red Cross hope the United Fund will have great success in its drive and will be able to reach its goal. We are happy to be able to join the United Fund in having a single drive in the community. We hope the people will respond to this one drive effort by giving sufficient contributions to enable the fund to reach its goal as quickly as possible.

Locally each Red Cross Chapter is committeed to provide a Home Service program to servicemen and their dependents and to provide disaster services. If a disaster should occur in the area the facilities of Red Cross on a national scale would be available for emergency shelter, food, clothing and shelter and for rehabilitation work.

Red Cross acts as a direct line of contact between servicemen wherever they may be stationed and their families back home. If an emergency should arise at home, the American Red Cross through its Home Service chairman, will establish contact with the servicemen, be he stationed in the United States, overseas or on a ship at sea.

In Pennington County the Red Cross has participated in the water safety program for many years. We want to continue with this program because of its importance to children.

Again we want to urge that all citizens support the United Fund in Pennington County and make the campaign a great success. Most everyone has desired that we have only one fund drive and this is our chance to give our support and to show our appreciation to the group who organized and will conduct the campaign.

Good luck to the board and all the workers.

Ralph T. Hunt,
Red Cross Chairman

The first meeting of the class is scheduled at Northwest School on January 5 at 7:30 p.m. Classes will be held in the Owen Hall. The course will consist of 21 hours of instruction, most of which is actual welding and practice in the welding laboratory. The tuition fee for this course is $20—payable in advance.

Persons who are interested in taking this adult gas welding course should contact E. C. Miller or H. W. Soderberg at the Northwest School well in advance of the beginning date of the course.

Champion Steer Is Sold for $16,725 at Chicago Show

Iowa Girl's Beef Animal Is Bought by Las Vegas, Nev., Supper Club Owner

Hercy, grand champion steer of the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago, was sold at auction Thursday for $16,725.

The price received by Kaye Pollock, 15, of Mount Auburn, Iowa, for her massive Hereford was based upon a bid of $15 a pound, and the steer's weight of 1,115 pounds.

The record price for a grand champion steer at the big Chicago show is $30 a pound, paid in 1957 for a Hereford that brought a total price of $31,050.

This year's winner, named Hercy, was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, operators of the Ranch House Supper Club, Las Vegas, Nev.

The Taylors brought a wheel barrow loaded with 13,000 silver dollars to the auction arena in the union stock yards in anticipation of a successful bid. They had to write a check for the difference.

Miss Pollock had announced before the auction that she plans to finance an operation needed by her mother, pay off the mortgage on her parents' farm, and, if there is enough left, apply the money to her own college education.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor said they hope to fly the champion, Hercy, to Las Vegas and exhibit him live for a time before he becomes a menu item.

Rangy Prowler Quint Defeats Bagley 59-31

A big and rangy Prowler basketball team, rolling up a 16 to 4 lead at the end of the first period and a 37 to 7 advantage at the intermission, defeated the Bagley Flyers, 59 to 31, in an inter-district game played here on Friday night.

On Tuesday evening coach Jack Junker's squad will meet the Roseau Rams of district 32 on the local court. And on Friday, Dec. 9, the Prowlers will move into district conference play when they meet coach Iv. St. John's Warren Pontes at Warren.

From the time that Harvey Ebbighausen looped a one-handed shot into the west basket, after twenty seconds of play in the first period, the Prowlers had control of the Friday night's tilt against Bagley. Ron Hanson, who was the game's high scorer with 16 points, racked up two field goals and a pair of free throws in the opening period, and Eddie Lietzow added four free throws and a field goal as the Prowlers gained a 16 to 4 lead. Chuck Feddema, with a field goal, and Gene Neujahr, with a pair of free throws, accounted for the Flyers' points.

In the second period the Prowlers turned in their best brand of basketball, rolling up twenty one points on offense, and limited the Flyers to a lone field goal and a free throw, giving Coach Junker's club a commanding 37 to 7 lead at the half.

On defense the Prowler backcourt trio of Don Ulferts, Hanson and Ebbighausen was successful in sweeping the boards and preventing the Flyers from breaking in for lay up shots. The Flyers were forced to resort to outside shooting, and coach Al Jensen's club was "cold" in the long-range shooting. The Prowlers' six-foot seven-inch Hanson played a spectacular game on defense, smothering numerous shots by the Flyers, and proving effective in clearing the rebounds.

Having a comfortable lead, coach Junker was able to insert his reserves into the game in the second half, and these boys turned in a creditable performance.

Hanson was the game's high scorer, having seven field goals and a pair of free throws for 16 points. Ebbighausen, with six field goals and a free throw, had 13 points, while Ulferts had five field goals and a pair of gift shots for 12 points.

Bagley's Ken Neujahr, with three field goals and three free throws, paced the Flyers' scoring.

No. Central Lines Adding to Routes

To Extend Service to Michigan and Ontario

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has issued a special order which authorizes North Central Airlines to inaugurate service December 1 on most of the new routes awarded to the carrier in the Great Lakes Area Local Service investigation.

At the same time, the CAB reaffirmed its decision to delay temporarily the inauguration of service by three other airlines as well as on North Central's Detroit-Cleveland segment to allow board members time to dispose of several petitions for reconsideration affecting that route.

Under Great Lakes order, North Central will replace Capital Airlines at Sault Ste. Marie, Pellston and Traverse City, Mich. Also receiving Northliner service December 1 will be Alpena, Cadillac-Reed City, Muskegon; Flint, Pontiac, Port Huron, and Saginaw/Bay City/Midland. Service to Manistee/Ludington will be inaugurated as soon as airport development projects there are completed.

The CAB said its previous stay order, delaying service to all points awarded in the Great Lakes case, will continue to be in effect for North Central only so far as Cleveland is concerned. The CAB stated that delaying start of service on North Central's other routes is not necessary because there have been no petitions filed from other parties to the case.

North Central also will inaugurate service to Port Arthur/Fort William, Ontario, on December 1. This is the airline's first international segment.

A Good Start

One basketball game does not make a season, but it is agreed that coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers turned in an excellent performance Friday in defeating the Bagley Flyers, 59 to 31. The Prowlers were particularly impressive in the first half of play, during which they limited the Flyers to but two field goals and gained a 37 to 7 lead at the intermission.

The Prowler starters, forwards Don Ulferts and Harvey Ebbighausen, center Ron Hanson, and guards Eddie Lietzow and Gary Anderson, all played well, and especially so for an opening game. Perhaps one of the pleasing features of the game was the improvement, and poise, shown by Ebbighausen and Lietzow. These two players, Harvey in particular, did not see much varsity action last season, but they are vital factors in the Prowler plans for this season.

And did you notice that the Bemidji Lumberjacks got off to a good start too? In a Northwest conference game played at Crookston on Friday night, coach Clarence (Bun) Fortier's Bemidji squad defeated the Pirates, 62 to 37. And on Saturday night at Bemidji, also in a Northwest conference tilt, the Lumberjacks scored a decisive 67 to 59 win over the Green Wave of East Grand Forks. With such players as Lee Fawbush, Spencer Price, Jerry Higgins, and Jack Phelps in the lineup, it is apparent that the Lumberjacks will again be a "running" team.

Hockey Captains

At a varsity squad meeting held last week, Jerry Larson and Jack Goulet were elected co-captains of the 1960-61 Prowler hockey team.

Jerry and Jack, both of whom are seniors, are veterans of last season's state tournament squad and the Region Eight titlists. These two boys are defensemen, although Larson has the ability to move up into the front line, being an able stick-handler. Jerry will be completing his fourth season as a member of the Prowler varsity hockey squad having started his varsity play during the 1957-58 season.

The Percentages

The percentages rating on the hits and misses in basket shooting in basketball can be enlightening, or they can be meaningless. Unless consideration is given as to where the shot has been taken, the percentage of the hit or the miss doesn't mean much. The scoring percentages on drive-in and lay-ups are, naturally, much higher than the jumpers taken from the outside.

In last Friday night's game here, the Bagley Flyers had a very poor percentage. But this low percentage was due, in a large measure, to the umbrella-like defense that Don Ulferts, Ron Hanson, and Harvey Ebbighausen set up around the defensive basket. Time and again Hanson blocked shots that were taken from just off the free-throw lane; and this sharp defensive play forced the Flyers to take off-balance jump shots from the outside. And such shots do not carry a heavy percentage of success.

While Bagley didn't fare very well in last Friday night's game, it must be noted that coach Al Jensen's club was playing without the services of one of their regulars, Dan Setterberg, a forward, was in Chicago, having earned a trip there as a member of a Bagley musical group.

A Remarkable Performance

Sugar Ray Robinson must be given much credit for the tremendous effort he made on Saturday night to regain the middleweight boxing title from champion Gene Fuller. The bruising fifteen-round fight was declared a draw, on a split decision, but Robinson unquestionably gained a moral victory by his performance against the mauling tactics of the ever-crowding Fullmer.

Robinson, at forty years of age, is many years past his prime, but he called on all of his skill and experience on Saturday, and very nearly upset the predictions of the fight experts, who had rated Fullmer a top-heavy favorite.

Sugar Ray may be an arrogant and churlish individual, but he has surely been a credit to boxing. Pound-for-pound, he's perhaps boxing's all-time great.

Recommended Kinds of Seed Listed by 'U'

The University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture last week dropped two crop varieties from its recommended list for 1961.

According to Harley Otto, extension agronomist, varieties no longer recommended are:

Ramsey durum wheat, because it yields less and is more susceptible to lodging than other recommended durum varieties.

Capital soybeans, because of lower yield records, poor standing ability and lower oil content than other varieties of similar maturity.

Two varieties were moved from the not adequately tested list to the not recommended list. They are:

Fundy oats, because it is lower in bushel weight and has poor standing ability and rust resistance compared with recommended varieties.

Nehawka oats, because of low straw strength, susceptibility to Septoria and leaf rust and a lower test weight than comparable recommended varieties.

Stral field peas, developed in Sweden as a result of x-ray radiation, were added to the recommended list during 1960 and will appear on the published list of recommended varieties for the first time in 1961. Stral is a high-yielding, long-vined, dry, edible pea. It produces cream colored seeds of medium size and high bushel weight which have good cooking quality.

Recommended crop varieties for 1961 are:

Flax—Arny, B5128, Bolley, Marine, Redwood; Soybeans—Acme, Chippewa, Comet, Flambeau, Grant, Harosoy, Merit, Norchief, Ottawa Mandarin.

Medium Red Clover—Dollard, Lakeland; Birdsfoot Trefoil—Empire; Biennial Sweet Clover—Evergreen, Madrid; Smooth Bromegrass—Achenbach, Fischer, Lincoln.

Alfalfa—Ranger, Vernal; Timothy—Itasca, Lorain; Kentucky Bluegrass—Park; Sudangrass—Piper; Field Peas — Chancellor, Stral; Navy Beans— Michelite, Sanilac; Sunflowers—Arrowhead.

A complete list and description of varieties recommended, not adequately tested and not recommended by the University will be reported in Miscellaneous Report 24, "Varietal Trials of Farm Crops" to be published in January, 1960.

Wednesday, Dec. 7, Is Designated U.S. Civil Defense Day

National CD Director L. Hoegh Asks Public to Build Fallout Shelters

Wednesday, December 7, has been designated as National Civil Defense Day, by Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh.

Keynoting its theme, "Peace Through Preparedness," Director Hoegh urged homeowners to build fallout shelters.

"Fallout shelter protection for every American—in his home, on his farm, in his office, in his plant—is the best single defense measure for the greatest number of our people," he declared.

Director Hoegh points out that thousands of American homeowners are building their fallout shelters, but other hesitate to do so, for one reason or another.

"It is to those citizens that this Civil Defense Day message is aimed," Director Hoegh said. "Civil Defense Day is tied in with the observance of Pearl Harbor Day—and with a good reason. The reminder of what happened to Pearl Harbor in 1941 should spur all Americans to be prepared with home shelters. The price of peace, it has been said, is eternal vigilance."

The construction of fallout shelters to ensure the survival of millions of Americans if nuclear attack comes, is reduced to practicable steps in OCDM's 32-page illustrated booklet, "Family Fallout Shelter." The booklet describes plans for simple, inexpensive shelters, and details the emergency food, water and other essential supplies for two weeks which should be stored in every home. A battery radio is an essential item for survival because civilians would need it to listen for Civil Defense emergency instructions via CONELRAD at 640 or 1240 on the dial.

The booklet can be obtained free from state or local civil defense offices, or by writing to Box Home Shelter, OCDM, Battle Creek, Mich.

Bemidji College Choir in Concert

Bemidji State college will present its 60-voice a cappela choir concert Sunday, December 11, at in its 23rd annual Christmas 8 p.m. at Memorial Hall in Bemidji under the direction of Carl O. Thompson, professor of music. The concert will feature vocal solos by Marian Ohman, soprano, Solway; Gordon Hanson, baritone, Warroad, Pat Strah, soprano, McKinley, Nancy Peterson, soprano, Park Rapids, Marlene Harju, soprano, Menahga.

NO ONE in this Minnesota community was left out when the Christmas Seal organization responded to a call for a TB testing survey. Prompted by the discovery of active tuberculosis in the town, the county TB association offered tests to everyone, age 1 to 101. Shown here are some of the 1,644 who, in one day reported for the tuberculin test which checks for tuberculosis.

Selective Service Observance Set

To Be Held December 7 in University Club, St. Paul

Lt. Colonel Murley A. Reep, Minnesota director of Selective Service, announced today that a state observance of the 20th anniversary of the Selection Service system will be held Wednesday night, December 7, at the St. Paul University club.

The affair follows public observances in many counties throughout the state sponsored by chambers of commerce and civic and service clubs, as well as a gubernatorial proclamation commemorating the anniversary. At this time, more than 30 patriotic citizens from various parts of the state, who have served the federal government as uncompensated local Selective Service board members for 20 consecutive years, will be honored.

This remarkable record of more than 600 years combined service within the local communities of Minnesota will be recognized by Governor Freeman; Major General J. E. Nelson, state adjutant general and first state director of Selective Service; and Colonel Daniel Omer, national deputy director of Selective Service, who head the list of invited guests.

$4,000 Damage to Truck Caused by Mishap on No. 75

Two persons escaped injury Wednesday afternoon when a truck and loaded trailer veered off Highway 75 north of Crookston and tipped over in a field 150 yards from the highway.

Mechanical failure in the steering mechanism was the apparent cause of the accident according to highway patrol officers.

The driver, Hollis A. Elliott, 30, Eagle River, Wis., and his passenger, John E. Bauknecht, 10, rural Deerbrook, Wis., were not injured.

Damage to the truck and van, loaded with sacked potatoes, was estimated at $4,000.

The truck was headed for Chicago, after loading at Stephen. A guard was placed over the van until a second truck arrived to transfer the load.

"You don't have to preach honesty to men with a creative purpose. Let a human being throw the energies of his soul into the making of something, and the instinct of workmanship will take care of his honesty.—The writers who have nothing to say are the ones you can buy; the others have too high a price. A genuine craftsman will not adulterate his product. The reason isn't because duty says he shouldn't, but because passion says he couldn't."

Time Now To Give

The United Fund drive gets under way today, and for each of us that presents the problem of how much shall we give. It is a decision each one must make for himself.

Combining all of the solicitations into one fund-raising effort means, of course, that we are expected to give enough so that our contributions will be adequate to meet the reasonable needs of all. In general it means that we should give as much as our average contributions to one would be, multiplied by the number of organizations to be supported.

While the United Fund method of money raising calls for only one solicitation, it does not mean that the entire contribution must be made at one time. These contributions can be spread over a period of months, payable according to the kind of a payment schedule that is most convenient for us. If you conclude that you should give an average of one dollar to each organization then the payment of one dollar a month would take care of twelve of them.

Regardless of whether your contributions are large or small, they will be accepted thankfully. You have the assurance that your donation will be helpful to a group of worthy causes.

Visit Served a Good Purpose

Governor-elect Elmer Andersen has spent three days in the Iron Range area, meeting with representative individuals and groups in search for ideas on how to establish a stable economy in the Arrowhead country. His exploratory trip was helpful in pointing up the need for action on some of the old suggestions on what should be done to encourage industry in the area, and out of the meetings came what seems to be a sensible approach to the need for a long range forest development program.

Years ago Minnesota adopted favorable tax laws for privately owned lands set aside for forestry purposes. Owners of such lands pay a small annual fee per acre, the main taxes being levied on the forest-products of such lands at the time they are harvested. Authority for establishing such lands is vested in the county boards, and there has been local opposition in most counties to large land holdings by private companies. For this reason the processors of wood products have not been able to obtain as much forestry land of this kind as they would like to have and so have not been able to develop desirable reforestation programs of their own.

Out of Mr. Andersen's visit to the Iron Range communities has come a proposal for a cooperative land ownership plan that might overcome the local opposition to large land holdings being set aside for forestry purposes. This proposal calls for land ownership by the members of a cooperative, which would control enough acreage to make practical a long-term forestry management contract with a paper mill or other users of wood products. It has been suggested that such an area would be owned cooperatively by individuals who would each have title to a specified portion of the whole.

This idea has much to recommend it. Minnesota has millions of acres of wasteland that are capable of growing forest products for which there is an ever-increasing demand. Some progress has been made in the development of these enormous potential forest resources. Some good results have been obtained by both public and private efforts, but considering what has been done in terms of what might have been done, our record of achievement in this field has been notable mainly for its shortcomings.

Growing a crop of forest products is a slow procedure, and the possibilities for profitable operations are not generally appreciated. Up in Canada, recently, Alvin Hamilton, federal minister of Agriculture, made the following interesting statement:

> "Many thousands of farmers in our fringe areas of agriculture have a yield return per acre of less than $10 per year. If these farmers could be shown that that land and properly cultivated tree farming could produce up to $30 per acre then there would be an increasing desire to shift into that more remunerative form of production."

In Canada, as in Northern Minnesota, there are vast areas of land, now unproductive, that are capable of producing profitable crops of forest products, and the world-wide demand for these products is steadily increasing. In the past year Europe has doubled its purchase of American pulp, indicating that sources closer to home are not capable of supplying their needs. The future of forest products is good.

Governor-elect Andersen's visit to the Arrowhead country has served a good purpose by reminding us once again of a resource that we have neglected shamefully, and bringing out an idea that might prove to be very helpful in advancing a sound development program for that resource.

Centralizing Authority

President-elect Kennedy is moving to obtain White House control of the independent regulatory agencies, according to reports. He would like to have closer supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the National Labor Relations Board.

It is said that he intends to establish a new transportation agency with possibly a Cabinet-level Department of Transportation, under which would be coordinated the policy-making, planning and enforcement activities of the various boards and commissions that now act independently, and often inconsiderately, of each other.

These agencies are now responsible mainly to Congress, and Congress may be reluctant about giving up its own controls over policy-making authorities. But President Kennedy will have the power to move in the direction of greater executive control thru the appointments he will make. This could be an interesting development.

It would appear that better coordination between these regulatory bodies would be in the public interest. Too often these independent boards and commissions have looked upon their field of authority as a little kingdom of their own, and their rulings not infrequently have created hardship in fields of transportation over which they have no authority.

Maybe the desired coordination can be obtained without centralizing all of the controls in the chief executive. Policy making is, and should be, primarily a legislative function, and Congress should move cautiously in yielding any authority it now has in the control of policy-making agencies.

Too great a centralization of authority can be just as great an evil as too little.

End This Nonsense

The University of Minnesota is asking for a $20 million appropriation increase for the next biennium. At a recent meeting of the directors of the Minnesota School Board association a $30 million increase in state aids for elementary and secondary schools was recommended, in addition to an $18 million deficit appropriation.

The legislature should tell the University regents that no increase is possible under present conditions and that they should arrange to operate another two years with the same amount of revenue that was made available for their present operations. Maybe such an announcement should be preceded by a cut of about $10 million from the present allowances, to be reluctantly restored in final passage.

Any increase authorized for the elementary and secondary schools should carry the provision that the present per-pupil unit cost minimum of $270 must not be increased and that all of any increases in aid that may be authorized must be used for debt service or to provide taxpayer relief.

We cannot understand why the school board members of the state should, year after year, support an aid formula that is designed to force school districts to increase pay schedules. It is high time that this nonsense be ended.

The News Chronicle has at last come to the end of the road. . . .

Today there is one national newspaper the fewer. It was moreover a paper that had a character of its own, and strove, even when manifestly losing ground, to maintain its seriousness and its purpose. . . .

Newspapers should mean something more in the life of the community than most other commodities. The sanity and security of society depend upon them in at least some degree. . . . A nation with television and no newspapers will not be as healthy as a nation with newspapers and no television. . . .

The need is for more and better newspapers not for feebler and fewer.

Feeble is here used in the sense of the paradoxes of our social history that the more complex and more fraught with terrible consequences public affairs have become the more the press has seemed to stray from its original role. It may be said that if the sense of values, whether of events or of people, of so many newspapers seem to have become fantastically inverted that does no more than reflect society's own reversal of the order of the things-that-matter as our grandfathers saw it.

There is more to it than that. Newspapers in the old days conceived it as their duty to lead. Again, if newspaper economics have made that impossible, they will have to be altered. Otherwise the day will come when newspapers will no longer matter. But there is as yet no proof that it is impossible.

Indeed there are signs that public instinct is tending in the other direction. The more serious newspapers are gaining ground. The popular newspapers are improving their news services and beginning to apply their comment to other than trivialities. . . . Sadness there must be that the News Chronicle could not stay the course. True journalism itself will yet prevail.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Shorty Johnson's "Sound" Remover

Our volunteer firemen's convention is quite a noisy affair. It often takes 15 minutes to bring the meeting to order. So this year, "Shorty" Johnson, our chairman, tried a new approach.

Amid all the noise, Shorty got up and began to speak. At first, you couldn't hear a word he said. But he kept on until things suddenly quieted right down.

Said Shorty, later: "I figured if I spoke softly enough, someone would wonder what I was saying and shush the man next to him. That man would quiet down the man next to him, and so on. All I was saying up there was 'Meeting will come to order.' And it did."

From where I sit, Shorty's quiet method proves there's more than one way to do things. If a neighbor, for example, prefers a glass of beer while you prefer iced tea, that's just two different ways of cooling off. It's all a matter of personal taste. And when you're tolerant of the other fellow's choice, you can be sure of "meeting" with friendship.

TR Foundation Reports on Its '60 Activities

14 Student Loans Made, and Seven New Requests Approved

The annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Foundation was held Tuesday noon at the Rex Cafe, all of the directors being present. Also present were representatives of the advisory committee consisting of the county board, the city council, the school board and local financial institutions.

The treasurer's report, read by E. O. Peterson, revealed receipts in the form of gifts and memorials in the sum of $1,414.74. Fourteen loans have been made, all of them to students, totalling $5,675.00, of which $1,365.00 has been repaid. Seven new applications for loans have been approved and the money will be advanced as it becomes available.

Reported receipts do not include a contribution of $600 made by the Northrop school PTA unit for certain purposes which have not yet been clarified. A bequest of $10,000 by the late Frank A. Rinkel is also an assured resource that will be made available as soon as the estate is settled.

There now are ten donations by individuals or organizations, or memorial funds, of $100 or more, and it was decided by the board that funds in that amount or over should be made permanent, retaining their identity, and being administered for the purposes for which the donation or memorial was made.

Ten Students at Plummer Placed on 'A' Honor Roll

Included in the 'A' students are Margie Gallant, 11th grade; Cheryl Hanson, Cheryl Heupel, Dennis Hyde and Carol Sorenson, ninth grade; Sharlene Carlson and Laura Klien, eighth grade; and Marie Frolland, Arnold Schjelderup and Susan Schumacher, seventh grade.

62 Farm Stock Ponds Built in County in '60

"To date there have been 110 ponds and pits built by district cooperators and ACP participants in the Pennington county soil conservation district," Bob Kloubec, SCS soil conservationist, said. "Farm pits and ponds are gaining steadily in popularity. This year, 62 stock pits were built."

Kloubec said he would be glad to discuss the use of a farm pit with any farmer who is interested in building one next year. He emphasized he would like to know about these places as soon as possible in order to get the needed surveys done and plans drawn up this winter well ahead of the construction season next year. His office is in the court house.

At last count, more than 3,500 pits and ponds located throughout Minnesota are providing additional habitat for a large variety of wildlife species. A recent survey was conducted among 666 soil conservation district cooperators and ACP participants who have built stockwater ponds and pits in ten Minnesota county soil and water conservation districts.

Out of the 347 of the farmers questioned, only five reported they had not seen some kind of wildlife using their stockwatering facilities. Nearly 90 per cent of the pits and ponds observed were used by waterfowl while pheasants were also using more than 80 per cent of them.

These farmers built their livestock watering facilities to provide them with better grazing distribution for their herds, to control erosion by preventing or to help heal active gullies, and to retard or reduce water runoff. Technical assistance in the form of field surveys, plans and designs for the construction of these watering areas is provided to farmers by the Soil Conservation Service while cost-sharing on them is carried out in many counties by the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Quick Windup of United Fund Drive Is Hoped

Residential Area Drive to Get under Way Next Monday

Contributions to the United Fund drive from the business district began coming in Tuesday, December 13, and "several sizeable checks" have been received from larger business places, according to Wallace Jordet and Morris Howick, general chairmen of the drive.

Employers have been asked to turn in their firms' contributions by today, December 8, by Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman of the business district drive.

No report from the rural drive has been received with collections temporarily delayed by Monday's blizzard and ice covered roads. Better weather conditions since that time have facilitated the drive and an optimistic report is expected.

Solicitors in the residential area will pick up their supplies the first of next week at the United Fund office in the Northern Chevrolet showroom with the drive scheduled to begin Monday, December 12. At a meeting Tuesday, December 6, details of the campaign were discussed by the workers together with Mrs. Agnes Israelson, chairman, and Mrs. R. J. Dryden, co-chairman. All envelopes for the residential drive must be turned in by the end of the week, it was announced.

Last Call Issued for Early Mailing of Gifts and Cards

Postmaster R. J. Dryden Requests Patrons to Send Cards by 1st Class Mail

Postmaster R. J. Dryden said today, "It's later than you think! Let's not wait until mid-December to get our Christmas cards and gifts in the mails. By taking action now, you'll avoid disappointing friends at Christmas time."

The postmaster asks special cooperation in being sure that return addresses and the recipients' addresses are plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and send Christmas cards by first class mail so that you can include handwritten messages, making your Christmas greetings more personal, said Dryden.

Also, you'll be certain that they'll be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary. Mail your Christmas cards in two bundles, using free labels that you can get at the postoffice, which read, "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out-of-Town Delivery."

Dryden asks the cooperation of all business firms to delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after December 25th, to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

On Saturday, December 10, the parcel post and stamp windows at the postoffice will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Patrons can avoid standing in line to mail packages and to buy stamps by going to the postoffice before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Mail your Christmas cards and gifts for out-of-town destinations by December 10. Those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

Council Pares Budget, Brings It in Balance

No Increase in Tax Levy for City Needs Now Appears Likely

Following special meetings Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the city council pared departmental requests enough that it now appears that there will be no increase in taxes for city purposes.

Department heads who ask that their budgets again be examined will meet with council Saturday afternoon, December 10, but the likelihood that there will be an increase in the mill levy for city spending are remote.

An item-by-item examination of every departmental request has been made by the council in its attempt to hold the line. Original requests had totaled $97,895 more than the city's anticipated income for the next year.

Following Tuesday night's meeting, the council was within $9,000 of balancing the budget and Wednesday night, the final whittling brought the budget into line.

At the Tuesday meeting, consolidation of the park and recreation departments as discussed during the year was again brought up, and further action is expected.

There was general agreement that departments must live within their budgets during 1961. The council issued a warning that it will not "pick up the tab" for expenditures unless an emergency arises, and then only with prior council approval before the expenditure is made.

All area youngsters under 12 years of age are invited to visit Santa, who will be happy to discuss Christmas problems with any youngster who wants to see him this year.

Several men from the Chamber of Commerce will help Santa hand out candy and popcorn balls, to help speed up the line and prevent delay both afternoons.

A welcome feature this year will be for the mothers who bring their children to see Santa. The Auditorium will be arranged so that no youngster or adult will have to stand outside while waiting, and most will be able to sit down until they can talk with Santa Claus.

Santa may bring his sleigh along this year and the little tots might get to sit with him in it. He says it all depends on the weather.

County Board Awards Road Job to Hedeen

$53,363.98 Project Calls for Work on South County Line

The Pennington county board at its December session Monday awarded a major highway construction project to Clifford Hedeen on his low bid of $53,363.98. The only other bid was in the amount of $66,387.70.

The project, a joint undertaking with Red Lake county, calls for grading and gravel base on seven miles of County State Aid Highways 1 and 32 on the county line extending along the south border of Mayfield and Deer Park townships.

In other action the board voted to open bids at its February meeting on an air-conditioning installation for the court house, the need for which was felt during last summer's hot weather.

Also approved was the coming year's budget for the county extension service as submitted by the extension committee. It calls for a total outlay of $17,005 in state, federal and local funds, the county's share being $7,300, compared to $7,185 last year, when the total budget was $16,285.

A final hearing on work on County Ditch 76 south of St. Hilaire was scheduled for Thursday evening, December 22, at 7 o'clock.

The sum of $1,019.22 was appropriated to the Oakland Park Nursing Home to cover the county's share of capital improvements, [illegible] of the installation of a new boiler.

Council Seeks Bigger Water Supply in TRF

Approve Business Leaders' Request to Ask Special Law

At a special meeting Wednesday evening, December 7, the city council passed a resolution which paves the way for the possible improvement of the river channel to assure adequate water for the city's future needs.

The action came after a group of local businessmen appeared before the council to ask for its favorable reaction to the introduction of special enabling legislation to be presented to the next session of the state legislature.

Present at the meeting were Stuart McLeod, Judge Paul Lundgren, William LaFave, W. E. Dahlquist, James Winjum, Sr., Dr. O. D. Beich and Les Ihle.

Improvement of the river channel would have two beneficial effects, according to W. E. Dahlquist. First, it is necessary for the city's health and sanitation purposes and second, it would make available an adequate supply of water in the event that a sugar beet refinery would be located here.

Possibilities of such a refinery being located in Thief River Falls were outlined by Dahlquist who, with other local men, have been examining the matter. He said that representatives of a refining company in Grand Forks have indicated the feeling that there may be expansion of sugar beet growing in the area. This would require a new plant rather than expansion of present facilities, they indicated.

Major requisites for the establishment of a plant are adequate railroad facilities and water, Dahlquist said. Officials of the sugar refining company knew that the city had adequate rail facilities and local men traveled to St. Paul to discuss the water situation with officials of the U. S. Corps of Engineers and the state department of conservation. There they were given assurance that an adequate supply of water was available and that a request for the use of a larger amount would be approved.

Officials of the department of conservation indicated that the use of seven-million gallons of water a day by a sugar refinery for the 120 days of processing would lower the level of Red Lake only one eighth of an inch.

Dahlquist continued that cleaning the river would be necessary to remove the sediment that has accumulated and to provide storage for the city's need. Such a project, he continued, would properly be handled by a commission under the juris-

Three Inspectors Named to Recount Ballots in Contest

McLeod, Mrs. Alf Johnson and Mrs. Dryden to Check Outcome of Aalbu-Lee Race

In a court order issued by Judge Arnold Forbes of Bemidji, the procedure was set up to be followed in the vote recount requested by Vic Aalbu of Gonvick, who apparently was defeated by L. J. Lee of Bagley by a margin of 23 votes in the contest for one of the seats in the legislature from the 65th district.

Stuart McLeod was named by Aalbu to serve as a ballot inspector in the recount in Pennington county, and Mrs. Alfred M. Johnson of this city was named by Lee. The two inspectors conferred Wednesday and named Mrs. R. J. Dryden as the third inspector.

The three appointees will begin the task of recounting the county ballots Friday morning at 9 o'clock, and hope to finish on Saturday. Their report must be filed with court by Thursday, December 15, with a court hearing on the action in Bagley Tuesday, December 20.

In Red Lake county, Aurel Parenteau of Brooks will represent Aalbu, while Sam Genereux was named by Lee. In Clearwater county, Wayne Cease is acting for Aalbu, and Emil Prestemoen for Lee. The third inspector in these two counties have not yet been reported.

Blood Bank to Open Member Drive

Today in the Thief River Falls area, 1,006 persons and their families are covered by a unique, low-cost insurance that everyone can afford.

Others will be given the opportunity between December 11 and 17 to insure themselves, their immediate families, their parents and their grandparents with a $1 membership in the Northern Blood Bank association and the promise to make a blood donation, usually no oftener than once a year.

Through this membership and promise of donations, you and your relatives are assured free blood for transfusions any place in the United States if the need should arise. Non-members may pay $35 or more for every pint of blood they need.

The local association, headed by E. A. Hamerski, has given the local Mrs. Jaycees chapter authority to sign up new blood bang members during the coming week. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Curtis Charlson, assisted by Mrs. Larry Evenstad and Mrs William Cleveland, the organization will sign up new members at the Union State Bank and Northern State Bank Friday, December 16, at the S&L store and Hartz supermarket Saturday, December 17. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 60 may join at that time by paying the $1 membership charge and filling out a card.

Memberships become effective after 30 days or as soon as a person makes a blood donation or is typed, whichever is first.

This will be the first membership campaign since 1955. Since that time, some members have moved out of the community and others have passed the age of 60 and are no longer eligible to be blood donors. Additional memberships are now necessary to bring the list of active donors to a total of at least 1,700, the number necessary for a community of this size.

Passing the age of 60 or otherwise becoming ineligible to be a donor does not end a member's insurance in the blood bank, it was emphasized by Norman Peterson, Northwestern hospital administrator. Once a person has been a member, he is insured for life. Only by moving to another community where he is no longer available as a donor to the local blood bank is a member no longer eligible. That person, of course, may become a member of the blood bank in the community where he takes up residence.

The Northern Blood Bank association is a member of a national program sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks. Under this association, a member of the local blood bank furnishes coverage to any member of his family in the United States, an extremely important factor, when one considers that this is a "traveling" nation.

A case illustrating this coverage was a Bakersfield, California, woman who was badly burned and needed many blood transfusions. Buddies of her husband, a marine based in Hawaii, donated 17 pints of blood to the Blood Bank of Hawaii. The donations were credited to the patient's account in the California hospital and she got a big refund on her bill.

This is possible because of a system of five district clearing houses in New York, Chicago, Dallas, Jacksonville and San Francisco.

Locally, the system works like this. Donations of blood to the Northern Blood Bank received at Northwestern hospital are kept no longer than 10 days. If not needed during that time, they are shipped to the Minneapolis War Memorial Blood Bank for processing and the local bank is replenished.

The Northern Blood Bank association is credited with the blood shipped to Minneapolis and can well call upon the War Memorial Blood Bank whenever extra blood is needed in this area.

The War Memorial Blood Bank, in turn, can call upon its district clearing house in Chicago for extra blood.

This elaborate and vital system for guaranteeing blood bank members and their families ample supplies of blood will be made available to every person

Jarvis Prichard, president of the Rotary club announced that club donations had been used to provide 12 CARE packages for Hong Kong and 10 each for Greece, Iran and Indonesia.

Following a request by the Salvation Army for cooperation in the downtown collection of funds to provide Christmas cheer for the needy, the members voted to join with the Lions, American Legion and Jaycees in the effort.

Junior Rotarians for December are Ron Hanson and Ed Lietzow. The program for December 19 will be numbers by the Lincoln high school choir. Local college students will be guests.

March of Dimes to Be January Event

Nat'l. Foundation Rejects Sharing in United Fund

Larry H. Rieder, state representative for the National Foundation, (formerly the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis) stated today that the March of Dimes will not receive any funds from the United Fund campaign now being conducted in Pennington county.

The March of Dimes traditionally, has conducted a seperate campaign during January and is in accordance with the National Foundation's by-laws which state that the organization's financial support shall come from a direct and separate appeal.

"I am particularly anxious that the people of Pennington county understand that funds contributed to the United Fund for 'infantile paralysis research' will not go to the March of Dimes," Mr. Rieder continued, "and as far as I know, there is no organization now in existence solely for infantile paralysis research."

"It is my hope," he said, "that the people of Pennington county will continue to give their voluntary financial support to the local chapter, which is very much in need of the funds to continue the fight against polio, arthritis and birth defects."

diction of the court. He urged the council's favorable reaction to special enabling legislation and expressed the opinion that such legislation, introduced early in the legislative session, would be acted upon favorably.

Judge Paul Lundgren, acting not in his official capacity as a district judge but as a private citizen, told the council that Stephen and Hallock were already making preparations to make a bid for the location of a refinery in their communities. He explained that the city was already in the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district but said that the district was so widespread that working on this local matter would be difficult. He agreed with W. E. Dahlquist that special enabling legislation would be the best solution and also asked for the council's sanction. Methods for dredging the river, the extent of the work and possible sources of income to offset the cost were also explored by Judge Lundgren.

Following the presentation and the questions of the council members, the council passed a resolution approving the ideas for river improvement as outlined by the delegation and requested the members to arrange for the preparation of special enabling legislation to be presented to the next session of the legislature.

The council then adjourned and went into informal session to examine budget requests for 1961.

Lions Hear Plea to Back United Fund

Dr. Beich, Business Area Chairman, Speaks to Club

Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman of the United Fund campaign in the business district of Thief River Falls, currently under way, was the speaker at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Dr. Beich urged local business and professional men to make a careful study of the packets distributed to them last weekend, and to discuss their contents with employes, so that all will have a full understanding of the objectives of the fund drive.

He also urged bigger contributions this year than in the past, due to the fact that more agencies are sharing in the proceeds.

Dr. M. D. Starekow told of the annual Lions ladies' night party which has been scheduled for January 28, 1961. James Parkins reported on a recent meeting in Minneapolis, at which further progress was made in the organization of the Minnesota Eye Bank.

Arrangements were made for a delegation from the local club to deliver the traveling gavel to the Morris Lions club Monday evening, December 12. An earlier trip November 28 had been cancelled because of stormy weather.

TRF Foundation Reports on Past Year's Activities

Judge Paul A. Lundgren suggested two amendments to the articles of incorporation to make them conform to the requirements of the revenue department as a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation. These amendments were approved.

Nominations for vacancies on the board of directors were made as suggested by the advisory committee. Waldie Christensen was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frank A. Rinkel whose term on the board will expire in 1962. Other directors, reelected and holdovers, and the year of expiration of their terms, are Robert J. Lund and Frank Tunberg, 1961; L. B. Hartz, 1962; Dr. Milton Starekow and Ole Ekeren, 1963; William LaFave and E. O. Peterson, 1964; and Judge Paul A. Lundgren and W. E. Dahlquist, 1965.

Officers elected are L. B. Hartz, president; Dr. Milton D. Starekow, vice president; Robert J. Lund, secretary; and E. O. Peterson, treasurer. C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor, and J. J. Womack, president of the Union State Bank, were asked to serve as an auditing committee.

The Foundation was organized for the purpose of providing, in its own behalf, or as the agent of others, a perpetual administration service for funds or other property, contributed "for educational, charitable, scientific, literary, civic, social or public recreational purposes."

Public officials and representatives of financial institutions serve in an advisory capacity, and public accounting and reporting are required. Under its corporate structure it follows the general pattern of organizations that have served successfully in other communities over a period of many years.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo L. Haley, VA Contact Representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks Postoffice Building.

Q—I am eighteen years old, the daughter of a veteran who served in the armed forces in peacetime and who died of injuries sustained in maneuvers of an extra-hazardous nature. Doesn't a new law entitle me to training under the War Orphans Education program?

A—Yes. A law passed recently broadened the scope of the War Orphans Education program to include children of deceased veterans of peacetime service. The death of the peacetime veteran parent must have been caused by the actual performance of military or extrahazardous duty. Eligible children must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Q—I live in an area that has been declared a direct loan area for GI loans. Wasn't this direct loan program of VA recently extended for both World War II and Korea veterans?

A—Yes. VA's direct loan program which formerly had a deadline of July 25, 1960, was extended by law to July 25, 1962.

Q—I hold a GI insurance policy for $10,000 and want to change the beneficiaries I put down a long time ago. Do I have to tell them I am making the change?

A—No. Your designation of beneficiaries is entirely your own affair and beneficiaries previously named need not be notified if you wish to make a change.

Q—Is it true that the VA is still paying pension to some veterans of the old Indian wars?

A—Yes. There are 39 old Indian War veterans on VA's pension rolls.

Q—In talking with other veterans I get the impression not everyone understands that compensation and pension are two different things. Will you define each kind of payment, as it applies to living veterans?

A—Compensation is payable to eligible veterans whose disabilities are due to service. Pension is payable only to eligible veterans whose total and permanent disabilities are not due to service.

Q—May a veteran change his Korean GI Bill program of training if his progress in his present course has not been satisfactory?

A—He may, providing he shows that the lack of progress was not due to his own misconduct, neglect or lack of application, and if he has not changed his program prior to that time.

HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW YOUR MINNESOTA APPLES?

Minnesotans could keep the doctor away at least 16 days with a different variety of home grown apple each day. Beginning with the Oriole, normally available in August, and winding up with the Fireside, useful from November through April, best known Minnesota varieties are: Beacon, Cortland, Delicious, Duchess, Fireside, Golden Delicious, Haralson, Jonathan, Lakeland, McIntosh, Minjon, Northwestern (sometimes called Greening), Oriole, Prairie Spy, Redwell, and Wealthy. The average apple, according to University Institute of Agriculture, rates 85 to 95 calories and contains some vitamin A as well as many other essential food elements. Three varieties of crab apples thrive here: Dolgo and Whitney in August, Chestnut through September, October, November.

Roseau Rams Bow to Prowlers 65-45

Exhibiting a well-balanced scoring attack, coach Jack Junker's Prowler basketball squad rolled up a 19 to 6 lead over coach Ambrose Kramer's Roseau Rams in the first period of the game played here Tuesday night, and added another 19-point cluster in the second period to gain a commanding 38 to 16 lead at the intermission. The Prowlers won the inter-district game, 65 to 45.

On Friday night, Dec. 9, the Prowlers will move into district conferences play when they travel to Warren for a game against coach Irv St. John's highly-regarded Ponies.

In Tuesday night's tilt against the Rams of district 32, the Prowlers led from the opening minute of play when Eddie Lietzow loped a field goal into the west basket. Vic Lundemo notched a Roseau free throw, paring the Prowler lead to a point, but Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, and Gary Anderson connected for field goals, and the locals moved ahead to control the tempo of the game.

Holding a 38 to 16 lead at the intermission, coach Junker inserted the Prowler reserves into the game in the third period, and the Rams, with Roger Holland tossing in four field goals and Dave Helgeson adding a pair, outpointed the locals, 21 to 10. The Roseau scoring spurt sliced the Prowler lead to 11 points, 48 to 37.

In the fourth period, the Prowler starters returned to action, and the blue-and-gold lead began to mount. Hanson, who racked up ten field goals and three free throws during the game, rolled up three field goals in the fourth period.

Roger Holland, with 12 points, and Vic Lundemo, with 11 points, led the Roseau scoring.

Lake Bronson Tips Newfolden Friday

Come from Behind to Whip Nordics 40 to 35

The Newfolden Nordics opened their 1960-1961 basketball season with a loss to the Lake Bronson Braves, 40 to 35, in a game played at Newfolden on Friday, December 2. This was a non-conference game against a team rated by the coaches to be one of the leading contenders for the championship in the West Half of District 32.

The Nordics started out in the first quarter with an 8 to 5 lead and built this up to 14 to 8 as the second quarter began. At this point, they lost the range of the basket and Lake Bronson came up with a big quarter to hold a 22 to 15 halftime lead. The Nordics came back strong in the third quarter to narrow this margin to 31-28 and went ahead 35 to 34 with two minutes remaining with Ron Shern leading the way with 3 breakaway baskets. At this point Shern and center Howard Davis fouled out and Lake Bronson sank 6 free throws to win 40 to 35.

High point man for the evening was Ronald Shern with 13 points. Ron Sele of the Braves had 12 points.

On Saturday, December 10, 1960 the Nordics travel to Roseau to take the Rams who are always a tough team to beat.

Will Be a Test

After winning the first two games on their 1960-61 basketball schedule quite handily, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers will, on Friday, be given a real test. The Prowlers will make the short jaunt to Warren for a game against the Ponies. And we can recall that in last year's game, played at Warren, the Ponies won by a 71 to 66 score.

In attendance at Tuesday night's Prowlers vs. Rams game here was Warren's coach, Irv St. John. The personable St. John, a former star at Bemidji high school and at Bemidji State, was impressed by the play of the Prowlers. St. John said that "I have a good team at Warren this season, and on Friday night I will learn how good they really are." Irv added that "We are a big team as far as weight is concerned, but we do not have the height to match the Prowlers."

The Ponies are, like the Prowlers, a senior club, having such boys as Wayne Edgar, Earl Rogalla, Howard Steiger, and Dunne Yeado as the seniors. Junior Tom Howard and sophomore Jerry Cook round out the first stringers of coach St. John's club.

We have been fearful of the Warren Ponies ever since those days 'way back in the coaching regime of Chuck Frissell. During that season we made a brief comment on the Prowlers' schedule, stating that only "soft" spot on the slate appeared to be the game with Warren. What a bright remark that proved to be! Chuck, who is a former Prowler athlete, pasted that item on the Ponies' bulletin board, and the result was that Warren defeated the Prowlers that season.

We are not making that mistake this season. The Ponies are a good team, and if they win on Friday night it will not be rated as an upset.

A Bit Early

Some of the more adventurous of the city's ice fishermen have been out on the ice sheet of Lake of the Woods this past week, but the reports are that the walleyes are not producing much action. On Saturday, Ambrose Wysoski, the Manitoba Master Angler, and Les DeBriyn were out on the ice off Birch Point, but except for a couple of walleyes caught by Lee, the action was very slow.

And on Sunday, Joe Rinowski, Ole Ness, and Art Larson made a trip up there. The trio didn't do very well on the walleyes, but they did come back with a fine mess of perch. And Lake of the Woods perch at this time of the year are quite a treat.

We haven't had any reports from the Burton Island area, but with the sub-zero weather that has prevailed we suppose that the anglers will be moving into that area this week.

Worthy of Mention

A look at the high-average Business league standings reveals that Gunder Grovum's Bums are in first place, holding a one-game lead over the Vets. This will probably be the only time this season that the Bums will be sitting on the top rung, so we'll acknowledge the fact that Gunder has done an expert job of managing.

The squad members, and the averages that the boys carry, are as follows: Monroe Poole, 155; Dave Clough, 167; Ken Sauve, 141; Wally Grovum, 154; Jack Hoppe, 168; Buzz Ward, 148; and Pinky Adolphson, 168.

The most valuable bowler on the squad is undoubtedly Jack Hoppe. The former Prowler all-state tournament hockey goalie has really been coming up with the big scores as the Bums have been recording some eight and ten pin wins.

If the boys can remain in first place for another week or so, we're sure that sponsor Gunder will reward the squad with a suitable gift for Christmas.

Christmas Season Is Perilous for Drivers, Says Highway Patrol

December nights are the longest of the year, and the most deadly for motorists, it was declared today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director.

"Shorter days and longer nights are menacing only to the drivers who fail to adjust their speeds to account for the extra hazards involved," Sieben stated.

"December traffic accidents in the United States last year claimed 3,650 lives, or a daily average of 121, making the last month of 1959 the worst month of the entire year, according to National Safety Council figures," he observed.

"In Minnesota last year, traffic accidents during the month of December claimed 77 lives," he added. "That was the worst December in the last 15 years.

"It is the moral responsibility of all drivers to strive to prevent accidents. The safety theme for this December is 'Drive By the Golden Rule—You Are Your Brother's Keeper.'

"Highways have improved, cars being built safer, traffic police are being better trained, and driver license standards have been raised — but many drivers have made little effort to improve their own performance," Sieben said.

"The reason probably lies in the belief of most of us that we are just about the best drivers on the road already. Accident facts, however, show that motorists of all ages — of varying lengths of driving experience — do become involved in accidents. For some it's the first in many years; for others it's one of a good number. In any event, it's everyone's moral and legal responsibility to prevent accidents.

"With many stores remaining open week nights between now and Christmas, shoppers will be moving by car from one shopping center to another. Many will be traveling from one city to another in search of gifts that are 'different'. Being in a holiday mood, some of these motorists will unintentionally be shopping for an accident.

"We must not become so involved in holiday shopping, party planning and celebrating that we forget to exercise proper care and caution in the use of our vehicles."

The examination will begin at 9:45 a.m., January 7, ending at 4:15 p.m. Students taking the test will be guests of the college for lunch.

Students wishing to take the examination should write to the Director of Admissions, Hamline University, St. Paul 1, requesting an official application blank. Applications may also be obtained from the local high school principal. Applications must be postmarked not later than December 20, 1960.

The program was originated by Hamline's president, Dr. Paul H. Giddens, four years ago in an effort to seek and financially assist high school seniors to get a college education.

Although similar programs have been adopted by Eastern colleges, the plan as initiated by Hamline is the first of its kind in this area.

"Do your work — not just your work and no more, but a little more for the lavishing's sake; that little more which is worth all the rest. And if you suffer as you must, and if you doubt as you must, do your work. Put your heart into it and the sky will clear. Then out of your very doubt and suffering will be born the supreme joy of life."

Tax Alternatives

In a recent issue of the St. Paul Pioneer Press there was an editorial on "Tax Alternatives" that interested us. It recognized the problems we face in raising more tax dollars and compared our problem here in Minnesota with the problem in neighboring Wisconsin. The purpose of the editorial was to prove that in both states there must be a realistic approach to the necessity for a sales tax.

The thing that interested us in this editorial was not the sales tax, which the spenders are going to force upon us whether we want it or not. What interested us particularly was the fact that in all of this discussion of the needs for more revenue, there was not one reference to the possibility that our need for more revenue might be met in part by a more realistic approach to expenditures. It occurred to us that we have gradually drifted into a state of indifference toward public spending to the point where we no longer recognize the possibility of solving our tax problems in part by reducing costs.

It is late, but not too late, to remember that eventually, the answer to this problem is going to be greater economy in public spending and better management of our government activities at all levels. As the share of our personal income that is taken from us for tax purposes gradually increases, we should become more interested in how these tax dollars are being spent, and how close we are to getting a fair return for the costs.

Truthful and Blunt

Much has been written about that plea for financial assistance that was made by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany. Some critics write it off as a bungle. Others think it served a good purpose.

We are inclined to go along with those who liked Mr. Anderson's blunt approach. It was not a secret meeting. What Mr. Anderson said to Chancellor Adenauer he said to all the world. He stated frankly that we are in trouble and are calling upon our friends to assume a larger share of the cost of saving the world. It strikes us that that is exactly what our friends, and the rest of the world, need to be told.

And what Mr. Anderson told the rest of the world is what needs to be told here at home to our own pressure groups, whose continuing demands have already created a dangerous condition in our economy.

It no doubt is true that we have brought this condition upon ourselves. At the international level we have tossed the billions around much too recklessly, and many of these billions have been spent wastefully. Those wasted billions are a part of the cause of our present need.

Here at home we have managed our affairs just as recklessly. Congress, the state legislatures, school authorities, cities and governments at all levels have contributed to the cause. Big business and big labor have proven themselves equally irresponsible. They, and all the other pressure groups, for price increases, for wage increases, for increases in government grants and spending generally, without regard to our ability to pay, are all responsible for the condition with which we are now confronted.

The condition is not critical, but it is close enough to being critical to justify serious concern, and a frank and honest facing of the facts, such as Mr. Anderson told them to Adenauer and the world.

Mr. Anderson did us, and the free world, a good service when he served notice that our wealth is not inexhaustible and that we have reached the point where we must, of necessity, live within our means.

The Important Thing

Governor Luther Hodges of North Carolina has been named secretary of commerce in the Kennedy cabinet. This appears to be a good selection. Mr. Hodges is well grounded in the economics of business and probably will use his influence in the interests of sound fiscal policy under the new administration.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Hodges pointed out that our country is confronted with serious finance and business problems. He blamed President Eisenhower for keeping these disagreeable facts a secret, proving that Mr. Hodges is also a politician. That is to be expected and should be overlooked.

No informed person except a politician would seriously accuse President Eisenhower of concealing his concern about the national economy. Time after time, as he vetoed the spending bills approved by the Democrat-controlled Congress, he clearly pointed to the dangers ahead of us and the adverse effect irresponsible spending and deficit financing would have on our national economy. We are sure, from what we have heard of him, that Mr. Hodges would have voted to sustain the President's veto of the across-the-board, election-year pay increases for federal employees.

But Mr. Hodges said other things that indicate he is basically sound and has respect for the simple rules of arithmetic. That is the important thing.

We May Survive

The Conservation Department budget request for the coming biennium is up nearly $22 million. More than half of this increase is requested by the division of game and fish. Most of the added revenue for this division would be met by a one dollar increase in the charge for fishing licenses.

Maybe the increases the Department of Conservation is asking for can be justified. We are not in a position to say they are unreasonable.

It is our guess, however, that if these increases are not granted, things are not going to go to pot. We will somehow manage to survive.

And we suggest that the legislature approach all requests for appropriation increases in this spirit. Maybe if these requests are not granted, those who administer the activities will be able to get the necessary things done. Maybe no one will suffer if some of the unnecessary things are left undone.

Let's try it on this basis for the next two years. Maybe the world will not come to an end.

There Is A Problem

In Utah a study committee has reported to the legislature that teachers can be rated on their ability and that their salaries can be based on their ratings. Such a conclusion should hardly be newsworthy. The facts are so obvious. All workers, in any field, can be classified according to merit to the extent that some should have pay increases and others should be fired. Every boss, and every worker, knows this to be true.

Our failure to recognize merit in teaching has resulted in uncalled for rewards for mediocrity.

Dr. Benjamin Fine, who speaks for education as one who has authority, reported this week on the "sorry state of high school English" in our public schools. He states:

> "A nationwide campaign to improve the teaching of English is under way.
> "Every effort will be made to get high school boys and girls to write and spell better than they now do. Recent studies have shown that many otherwise intelligent youngsters simply do not know the difference between correct and incorrect grammar. They have not learned correct punctuation or sentence structure.
> "For years we have heard that college officials are unhappy at the high school products. Indeed, many colleges have introduced remedial English classes to enable their freshmen to brush up on ordinary grammatical usage. Now, however, the colleges are getting fed up at this situation. They say, in effect: 'If our entering freshmen cannot keep up with our English standards, they will have to suffer the consequences.'
> "The consequences are serious. It is estimated that more than 25 per cent of the students who drop out of college the first year fail because of poor English background. They do not know how to read or write properly. Without good reading ability the college student has two strikes against him from the very start. The bulk of college work revolves around reading assignments."

We do not agree with those who think the answer is to have the youngsters read less, watch more television and listen to more radio. We are pleased to know that Dr. Fine recognizes the deplorable condition that exists.

Our guess is that the reason why a large number of our high school graduates can neither spell nor write is the fact that so large a portion of our public school teachers can neither spell nor write.

And school administrators, who express their opinions frankly on such matters, seem to be agreed that it would be just as easy to determine whether a high school teacher is literate as it would be to find out by examination whether the applicant for admission to a college is literate and can spell.

So getting back to this question of whether or not teachers should be paid according to some merit system, maybe we should approach it from this standpoint, that all illiterate teachers should be forthwith dismissed.

It is good to know that the educators agree that there is a problem.

Not to belabor the subject but more in the nature of a small footnote to Premier Khrushchev's recent visit to these shores, it might be worth noting that his trip was not in vain on all fronts. . . .

As the Khrushchev party left . . . they took with them to Russia the following mementos of their sojourn in Manhattan:

One air-conditioned Cadillac.
One black Oldsmobile.
One blue Comet station wagon.
Portable television sets.
Room air conditioners.
Sets of automotive tires.
Several auto batteries.
A large supply of anti-freeze.

And enough assorted personal items in the clothing, appliance, and luxury goods fields to fill a station wagon, a seven-ton truck, a limousine, and a 36 passenger bus.

In short, the Soviets made good use of their shopping time, if nothing else. The big question is, if and when communism ever gets around to burying capitalism, as Mr. K. occasionally suggests may happen, where will the comrades then buy all of these products needed to make life in Moscow more bearable?

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

We like the kind of people who make the best of it even when they get the worst of it.

② HOW MANY CHECKS ARE WRITTEN EACH YEAR?

① Economists consider foreign travel an "import" because it involves spending money overseas, and in 1958 Americans spent 1 billion 800 million dollars this way! Your dollars add up quickly, and you'll like the way they earn more for you in our bank.

② Every year people write more than 10 billion checks — about 50 for every man, woman and child in the country! Thief River Creamery is Efficient Processing Plant

Cheese Manufacture Provides Diversification and Better Market for Creamery's Skim

The Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery is not the largest business in Thief River Falls but in several respects it is the community's most important. Thinking of it in terms of a processing plant that puts into market form the dairy products of more than 400 farms in the area, and thinking of each of these farms as a unit in this manufacturing process, the creamery represents an operation that maintains a payroll of nearly 500 full or part-time workers to whom are distributed nearly a million dollars in pay checks each year.

This operation is owned by the producers themselves. Their organization is out of debt and their plant is now thoroughly modernized and equipped to do a complete job of processing. Cheese manufacturing has been resumed, providing a better market for that important by-product, skim milk. The cheese is a low-fat content product, containing only about seven-tenths of one per cent of fat, which is in demand at the present time by manufacturers of processed cheeses and low-calorie cheese products. More than a million pounds of butter are manufactured a year.

The operation is managed by a board of directors elected by the owners and producers. Present board members are A. D. Hanson, president; Fred Koop, vice president; Otto Saugen, secretary-treasurer; Vernon Anderson and Carl Torgerson, all of Thief River Falls. Manager is K. E. (Klem) Gigstad, who succeeded Paul Rossi, now at Detroit Lakes, in October. Mr. Gigstad is a native son of neighboring St. Hilaire, where he was first employed by the St. Hilaire Creamery as a cream hauler in 1936. During the past eight and one-half years he managed the St. Hilaire operation.

The Thief River Falls Creamery has a payroll of twenty employees, including six custom haulers. A few years ago all of the butterfat was purchased in the form of cream. Now more than sixty per cent comes to the creamery in the form of whole milk.

Old wooden churns have been replaced by a modern and more efficient metal churn which has made possible lower manufacturing costs. This one churn is capable of handling three times the present volume, indicating that increased volume would make possible still lower manufacturing costs.

Manufacture of cheese was resumed recently because of a favorable price trend. In order to resume this operation several improvements were necessary but all of these have been completed and paid for according to Mr. Gigstad. Present production is running at about 18,000 pounds a week.

The Times is presenting this information, with picture, thru the cooperation of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee of American Dairy Association. The operations of this association include advertising, merchandising, research and public relations, in the interest of the industry, and are financed by the producers of dairy products thruout the country.

NEW PRODUCT being processed at the Thief River Falls Co-op Creamery is Cheddar cheese made from skim milk. About 18,000 pounds a week are being turned out under the direction of cheesemaker Bill Rengo (above) who came here from Duluth to direct the operation. Manager K. E. Gigstad, says the cheese operation will continue at least through the first of the year and indefinitely if the market for the product warrants. Cheesemaking began Oct. 3.

ANNUAL MEETING preparations for the Thief River Falls Co-op. Creamery include a check of the books and records by board president A. D Hanson (standing) and manager K. E. Gigstad. The Dec. 12 meting will be Gigstad's first at Thief River Falls. After many years of service with the St. Hilaire Creamery, the last 8½ as manager, he succeeded Paul Rossi, now of Detroit Lakes, in October.

MEAT LOCKER is an "extra" service to patrons and community at the Thief River Falls Creamery. No butchering is done at the plant, but cutting, wrapping, and freezing are part of the service. Art Bredeson, in charge of the locker operation, is shown here checking a carcass.

HEART of Thief River Falls Co-op. Creamery's operation is this new churn which has a capacity of 900 gallons of cream. The big piece of equipment is capable of churning two tons of butter in a single operation. In the picture above Manager K. E. Gigstad and board President A. D. Hanson discuss its operations.

PUTTING THE SQUEEZE on a batch of cheese in a large press is Roy Jablinske while Bobby Pahlen wraps a 50-pound block that is ready for the cooler. Jablinske and Pahlen are two of the 20 persons employed by the Thief River Falls Creamery.

State Legion Group Ends Tie with 40 & 8

The Minnesota department of the American Legion Saturday cut its ties with the 40 and 8, the Legion's fun-making adjunct.

The action took place at the annual fall conference of the state Legion in the Leamington hotel.

It was taken by the group's 29-man executive committee and followed the reading of a statement by William R. Burke, national commander of the Legion, on relations between the organization and the 40 and 8.

The 40 and 8 has long been a thorn in the side of the Legion because of its policy restricting membership to white persons.

After the Legion's 1959 national convention in Minneapolis declared the color restruction unconstitutional, Martin B. McKneally, then national commander stripped the 40 and 8 of the right to use the Legion emblem or parade with the Legion.

This year's national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., backed up Legion officers in the restrictions they had placed on the 40 and 8.

The statement by Burke, declared:

"It is my personal opinion that in view of the actions of the national convention in Minneapolis 1960 it is inappropriate for the 4n 1959 and in Miami Beach in American Legion to afford to the organization of the 40 and 8 participation in American Legion programs or activities."

Yesterday's action means that from now on the 40 and 8 will not be included in the activities of the Minnesota Legion, Dan Foley, Wabasha, national Legion committeeman from Minnesota, said.

The Legion and the 40 and 8 will henceforth be two separate organizations, he said.

Evergreen Tree Thieves Warned

Highway Patrol to Guard Plantings on Roadside

The state highway patrol will again be especially watchful this year for thieves who steal evergreen trees from roadside landscapes to use as Christmas trees, the Minnesota highway department announced.

Concerning this problem, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman said, "The roadside view these thieves leave behind is a grotesque one of stumps and half-trees among stands of trees that were once impressive, unbroken walls of winter green. Although they constitute a very small group, the damage they do is not small, for these trees are difficult to replace since each one requires many years to grow to maturity."

There is another reason for trees along highways besides beauty. They serve as windbreaks and aid in keeping snow from drifting onto highways, acting as a safety factor.

Anyone caught stealing trees from along roadsides will be prosecuted according to law, Zimmerman said.

831,000 Visited Itasca Park in '60

Registers Gain of More Than 222,000 over 1959

An increase of over 220,000 in the number of persons visiting Itasca state park this year as against 1959 was reported today by the department of conservation.

Itasca park manager, Andy Peterson, said that records show that the 1959 figure of 610,480—the largest of any previous year—increased in 1960 to a total of 831,300. Largest increases were noted in the number of day visitors (those not staying over night) and in the number of campers. The number of cabin and lodge guests remained approximately the same as last year.

Park receipts also showed an increase over previous years amounting to some $98,600—an increase of $5,000 above last year.

Peterson reported that visitors from 35 other states and 918 persons from over 30 foreign countries signed the headwaters register at the Mississippi's source at Lake Itasca. The foreign countries whose names appear on the register include Egypt, China, Pakistan and Japan.

U. W. Hella, director of state parks, said recently that the figure for the total number of people visiting all of Minnesota's state parks this year exceeds the 1959 figure by 9.5 per cent.

Two Snow Geese from Russia Are Bagged in Oregon

Two snow geese banded by Russian biologists in the marshlands of northeastern Siberia near the Arctic Circle were bagged recently by hunters in southeastern Oregon.

The birds carried leg bands asking the finder to report to Moscow the number, date and place of kill. Band numbers were B70330 and B70333 indicating the two birds may have come from the same brood or been banded at the same banding station.

In recent years Russia has reported numerous American banded birds taken by Russian hunters in Siberia, which bears out the theory that waterfowl from many continents come together on the northland breeding grounds.

Most of the birds taken by Russian hunters have been American banded snow geese, black brant and pintail ducks.

Bids Are Invited on Final Stage of Big Duluth Bridge

Bids to Be Opened Dec. 29 on Rest of Superstructure of Duluth-Superior Span

Bids on three construction projects to complete the Duluth-Superior Interstate bridge have been called for December 29 by the Wisconsin highway department in conjunction with the Minnesota highway department. The work is expected to cost an estimated $1,800,000.

One contract calls for construction of concrete slab deck, installation of hand rail and painting from the center of the bridge eastward. Another calls for the same work from the center of the bridge westward. The other contract calls for installation of a lighting system for the entire bridge.

The toll-free bridge will carry Interstate Route 535 over St. Louis Bay between Duluth and Superoir, and is scheduled for completion by June 20, 1962. It will be 7,975 feet long with two 27 foot roadways carrying four lanes of traffic.

To date, contracts amounting to $11,741,739 have been awarded on the bridge, exclusive of approach work on both the Minnesota and the Wisconsin sides. Minnesota's share of the cost is five percent, as is Wisconsin's. Federal-aid provides the remaining 90 percent. Minnesota has also expended, including federal-aid, $1,619,215 for right of way and construction of the bridge approach in Duluth.

the Snowman that Lived.

Johnny built a snowman! From white, cold snow he made it. It was hard work, and Johnny was justly proud.

Johnny built a snowman—in a day! He packed the snow hard, put in coals for the eyes and nose, and Daddy's hat was placed on top.

But far more of Daddy than just his hat went into this snowman. Just as Johnny worked hard to build the snowman, his father is hard at work too . . . building Johnny. Daddy's greatest dream is to see Johnny moulded into a man of strength, vision, and character.

Luckily for Johnny, Daddy is a wise father. He realizes that the most important single influence upon his son's life is the teaching of Christ. Daddy will see to it that his son receives that teaching by sending him to Church services regularly. In making certain that Johnny knows the beauty of God's words, father will see his greatest dream come true.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

C.C. to Choose Six Directors Coming Week

Twelve Candidates Named by Chamber Nominating Group

The Chamber of Commerce nominating committee headed by chairman Otto Stenberg announced today that the 12 candidates for six two-year directorships have been selected.

The committee had a difficult time selecting a minimum of 12 candidates because there are so many men in the Chamber that are well qualified, according to Stenberg.

The twelve men who are candidates this year are C. L. Charlson, attorney at law; Eugene Gaer, Ben Franklin; Joe Holter, Pennington Hotel; Bruce Hall, Hall's Flower Shop; Ralph Till, TR Grain Co.; Stan Pladson, Gambles; Carl Lee, Lee Plumbing & Heating; Wally Jordet, Land O'Lakes; Gene Belto, Northern State bank; Stan Wilson, Wilson Bros. Co.; Stan Larson, Poppler's Furniture; and Dr. W. P. Kaisler, chiropractor.

Complete ballot forms will be sent out late this week to the membership. A deadline for ballot returns will be set and the tabulations will be made by a board of judges, who will announce the new directors at a special session.

Directors completing their second two-year term and going off the board are President Don M. Olson, Dr. James Disse, Kenneth Onken and Al Bacon.

Appointed temporary replacements up for reelection are Gene Gaer and Joe Holter.

Eight Boys Upset Garbage Cans Here

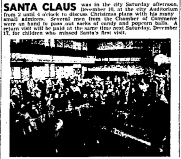
Confess Guilt to Police In Spree in North Area

Eight local youths, ranging in age from 12 to 15, have been apprehended by city police after they engaged in a garbage can tipping spree in the north end of the city recently.

Police reported last week they had had numerous complaints from residents on Duluth, Arnold, Knight and LaBree avenues that vandals had been upsetting the garbage cans. In several cases the cans had been damaged, in others the cans had been placed on garage roofs or on cars, or were piled together in confusion.

The eight youths questioned admitted the offenses, but police are still investigating, and no information concerning disposition of the case was available.

SANTA CLAUS was in the city Saturday afternoon, December 10, at the city Auditorium from 2 until 4 o'clock to discuss Christmas plans with his many small admirers. Several men from the Chamber of Commerce were on hand to pass out sacks of candy and popcorn balls. A return visit will be paid at the same time next Saturday, December 17, for children who missed Santa's first visit.



CHILDREN and their parents first formed a long line outside city Auditorium, then found plenty of room and chairs inside while they waited for their visit with Santa Claus Saturday afternoon. Only part of the large group is shown in this picture. Santa Claus and his Chamber of Commerce helpers will be on hand again next Saturday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock to hear Christmas wants and to hand out candy and popcorn balls.

Maurice Florance, 58, Once Bonanza Farmer in Kittson Co. Killed

Funeral services were held Friday at Farmington, N. M., for Maurice J. Florance, 58, former Kittson county farmer and banker. Florance died November 29 of a fractured skull. He was found unconscious by two oil field workers beside State Road 44 near Aztec, N. M.

He suffered a cut at the base of his skull the evening of November 28 and New Mexico authorities have since been investigating in an effort to learn the cause. He underwent surgery but never regained consciousness.

Florance was found at 11:10 p.m. less than an hour after he left his son, James. He had $6 in his pocket, indicating he had not been robbed.

Authorities found nothing to indicate Florance had been struck by a car.

Police Chief Bill Perry of Aztec said it has been fairly definitely established that Florance was not hit by a car. The officer believes he might have been injured in a fall down a hillside next to the road.

Florance was on a visit to Aztec with his son, James.

The son told police he had gone to the Aztec Country Club during the evening his father had visited friends.

Chief Perry said the friends had taken Florance back to his motel about 10:30 p.m. He was

State Senate Liberal Group Picks Leaders

Sen. Harold Schultz of St. Paul Selected as Minority Leader

Sen. Harold Schulz of St. Paul was reelected Saturday to a fourth term as Liberal minority leader of the Minnesota senate.

The Liberal caucus, meeting in the Pick-Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis, elected Sen. A. N. Keith of Rochester as assistant minority leader and renamed Sen. Donald Fraser, Minneapolis, as secretary.

Sen. Roy Wiseth of Goodridge is a member of the minority group.

All the elections were unanimous, Schulz reported, after the Liberals went behind closed closed doors to pick their officers.

The Liberals also had a harmonious meeting with Governor-elect Elmer L. Andersen, but they vowed later to do battle with senate Conservatives if their demands for better representation on committees are not met.

Andersen, at his own request, appeared at the caucus, addressing the group briefly and then answering questions from the 15 members present.

In answer to a question from Fraser, Andersen said he was in sympathy with the Liberals' desire for proportional representation on senate committees and the right of each faction to select its own committee representatives.

Andersen said, however, that reopening the matter in the middle of the current four-year senate term would be difficult. But bringing the matter to the attention of the public now, he said, might help get action in

Badger Girl Receives High Honor at 'U' of M. Ceremony Wednesday

Lois M. Erickson of Badger, a senior in home economics education at the University of Minnesota, was awarded the coveted "Little Red Oil Can" at the annual St. Paul campus Christmas assembly Wednesday evening, December 7.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Erickson of Badger, whose children have made an outstanding record at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls in past years.

The award is one of the highest honors the student body can bestow on a student or staff member. It has been awarded annually to an outstanding campus personality for the past 45 years.

Miss Erickson, a leader in St. Paul campus student activities, is president of Gamma Omicron Beta, academic sorority; a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics professional honorary society; and Mu Sigma Upsilon, a senior honorary society for outstanding women in education.

She is a member and past president of the Home Economics association, a member of the Lutheran Student association and the Student Center board of governors.

The little red oil can was first presented in 1916 to the late Dean Edward E. Freeman, college of agriculture, forestry and home economics, because he had purchased a Model-T Ford, and often forgot to keep an emergency can of gasoline on hand. According to the records, Dean Freeman continued to run out of gas, but the award soon developed into an honor and tradition. United Fund Hits 15 Pct. of Goal 1st Week

Business Area Drive Goes on; Residence Drive Opens Today

United Fund drive leaders today said that they were "gratified" by the contributions which have been turned in from the business district and urged those who have not turned in their collections to do so as soon as possible.

According to Dr. O. D. Beich, business drive chairman, slightly more than 15 per cent of the total drive objective of $21,372 had already been tabulated at fund headquarters in the Northern Chevrolet showroom early this morning with other envelopes on hand and uncounted.

Contributions of from $16 to $17 from each employe of some business places have been reported, Dr. Beich said. He added that it was heartening to hear that employes had stated that they realized they were contributing to separate agencies and wanted the drive to be a success.

Returns have not yet come in from some of the largest business places and it will take longer to complete their drives. When these contributions come in, drive leaders are certain that the business places will have filled their expected quota.

Solicitations in the residential area under the chairmanship of Mrs. Agnes Israelson and co-chairman Mrs. R. J. Dryden begin today. Workers began picking up their materials this morning and others have indicated that they will begin today or Tuesday.

According to Albert Koop, rural drive chairman, the campaign in the townships has been slowed by inclement weather, and only scattered returns have come in.

The assessed valuation of city property was set at $2,707,497, down $11,586 from last year.

Margaret M. Hapka and Robert E. Nelson Wed

Baskets of white gladioli, melon colored carnations, yellow pom poms and spiral candelabra graced the altar of the Zion Lutheran church Saturday evening, November 26, at the wedding ceremony which united in holy matrimony Margaret Mae Hapka and Robert E. Nelson. Rev. Marvin O. Carlson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Strom of Minneapolis and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson of this city.

Mrs. Reuben Lockrem was at the organ for the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Ronald Engen, as she sang "Because" before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar and "Crown With Thy Benediction" after the ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a street length dress of beige taffeta with a chiffon overskirt, scooped neckline, short sleeves, matching elbow length gloves, shoes and a small pearl headpiece. A pearl choker necklace and matching earrings, a gift from the groom, completed her attire. She carried a shower style bouquet of pink roses and feathered carnations.

Mrs. Ray Nelson of this city, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of yellow lace over taffeta with a yellow net headpiece, yellow shoes and short white gloves. Her pearl choker and earrings set and gloves were a gift of the bride. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow melon colored and white carnations.

Mary Jo Nelson, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a baby blue chiffon over taffeta dress, matching shoes and net headpieces. Her baby pearl choker and short white gloves were a gift of the bride. She carried a miniature bride doll with pink baby roses arranged over the skirt and in the doll's hands.

Ray Nelson, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. David Bergquist was ring bearer and carried the rings on a white heart-shaped pillow.

Serving as ushers were Kenneth Larson and Jerome Sabo, cousins of the groom. All the men of the bridal party wore dark trousers, white dinner jackets and melon colored carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Strom chose a dark purple dress with black and white accessories and the groom's mother wore a light blue brocaded dress with black and white accessories. Both wore orchid corsages. Mrs. Inga Sabo and Mrs. Ida Nelson of Minneapolis, both grandmothers of the groom were presented with pink carnation corsages.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the church parlors for about 140 guests. Circle 7 of the Zion Lutheran church, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, president, was in charge of the serving. The bridal table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Miss Janet Butler of Minneapolis cut and served the cake, while Mrs. Christ Thompson, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Lowell Rife, both of Minneapolis, poured coffee. Mrs. Eldon Burstad of Warren was waitress and Miss Patty Larson presided at the guest book. Arranging the gifts were Miss Carol Glowartz of Minneapolis and Miss Janice Sabo of Newfolden.

The groom's parents were hosts at a dinner for the couple and 25 other guests Saturday evening prior to the wedding.

The bride attended Central high school in Minneapolis and was employed by Durkee Atwood in that city. The groom is a 1953 graduate of Lincoln high school and was employed by the Satterlee Company in Minneapolis.

Abandoned Truck Hit by G. N. Train

Truck Is Demolished in Mishap Near E. G. Forks

An abandoned semi-truck stalled on a Great Northern Railroad grade crossing near Enright's potato warehouse, two miles east of East Grand Forks on Highway 2, was demolished by a passenger train late Wednesday night.

The truck, owned by Hart Motor Co. of Minneapolis, was abandoned on the tracks when the trailer attachment came loose and prevented the truck from moving the wheels locked by the trailer.

According to the Polk County sheriff, the driver, Clinton Ruhl of St. Paul, left the truck to go into town for a wrecker to move the truck, which was loaded with potatoes.

Witnesses said no flares were left on the tracks to warn the oncoming Winnipeg Limited passenger train. The mishap happened about 11:55 p.m. Wednesday. The train was traveling about 40 miles an hour at the time of the impact, which pushed the truck into a ditch. No one was injured.

Railroad officials said the train, which was en route to the Twin Cities, was delayed for a short time while a new engine was hooked up in Grand Forks. Damage to the engine was minor, but it was replaced as a precautionary measure.

Charges against the driver are pending until further investigation is completed by the sheriff's office.

Minor decreases were noted in buses and passenger cars at the park as well as bathhouse receipts and gross refectory sales, according to Ernie Jewell, park manager.

Total park visitors was the lowest in three years, with 38,699 visitors counted in 1960. This was 1,018 below last year, 10,072 less than the peak of 48,771 during Minnesota's Statehood Centennial year, but 5,887 more than 1957. Sticker sales jumped from $3,170 in 1959 to $3,446 in 1960. This was only $516 below 1958 and was $1,080 more than 1957.

Refectory gross sales were $3,818.59 in 1960 as compared with $3,932 last year. Camping was up from $368.65 to $386.50 during the same period while commissions increased from $86.85 to $142.22.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am a Korea veteran, discharged in 1953, and I am taking a correspondence course for college credits under the GI Bill. My eight-years-from-date-of-discharge will be up in 1961, but at the rate I am going I will not be able to complete my course in time. Can I get an extension from VA?

A—No. The law says you must complete your GI education within eight years from your separation from the armed services. Better try to work in the courses you need before your deadline.

Q—I need the record of my discharge from the Army in order to apply for a VA benefit but can't find the one issued to me. Can VA provide me with another?

A—No, to get a replacement for your lost discharge you should write to the Department of Defense, Military Personnel Records Center, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo.

Q—I have a GI insurance policy and am entitled to take out the total disability income rider which would pay me $10 a month per each $1000 of insurance if I were to become disabled. Would these payments start from the date of my disability?

A—No. The total and permanent disability on which the rider pays policyholders must have been in existence six months before payments can be made. Payments would start with the seventh month after the disability occurred, but would continue during the time of the disability thereafter.

Q—I am now receiving pension from the VA, and have a right to switch to the new system of payments which took effect July 1, 1960. If I decide I want to switch over, is there any deadline before which I must make the change?

A—No. You may make the change any time. So be sure your're right before you switch. See your nearest VA office if you need help.

GATZKE . . .

Clarence Llan called at the Juel Aune home Monday. Mr. Llan and Mr. Aune were business callers in Holt.

Aksel Gormsen and Clarence Llan motored to the Duckstad farm at Fertile for a truckload of corn Saturday.

Delmar Hagen, together with other board members, met with the Board of Regents, a branch of the University at Northwest School of Agriculture in Crookston, at Minneapolis Friday.

QUEST FOR BEAUTY IS WORLD WIDE

"The World Beauty Olympics Are On," writes Myndall Cain, renowned Minneapolis beauty specialist attending the World Beauty Festival in Paris. It was reported that no fewer than 30,000 hair stylists and facial experts gathered there from 40 different nations. Short colorful hair, saffron yellow to lilac, softly draped with "a heart catcher" over each ear, is most popular. Huge rings, lots of neck strands, shoes from long pointed to square-toed "baby doll" styles, Miss Cain reports, are capturing popular fancy—and all manner of furs in all manner of styles, from scarfs to the stylish three-quarter-length coat. "Beauty," says our Minnesota mentor, "is the common demoniator of mankind".

TAXES BRING IT IN, STREETS DRAIN IT OFF

Greatest source of Minnesota municipal revenue is taxes, bringing in roughly 36 per cent of the total, followed by special assessments 12 per cent; then departmental fees and service charges, revenue from other agencies, contributions from public service enterprises, licenses and permits, fines and forfeits, rent and interest, in that order. At just over $39 million, highways are the most costly municipal function, followed by sanitation, public safety, recreation, general government, contribution to public service enterprises, interest, libraries, charities, correction. For 1957, the last year covered by the annual reports of Public Examiner Raymond Vecelllo, municipal expenditures had soared to the new height of $162,211,955.

Only twice has a presidential election been thrown into the House of Repraesentatives because no candidate received a majority of electoral votes. That was in 1800, when Jefferson won, and in 1824, when John Quincy Adams was elected.

Almost six per cent of all pedestrian accidents in Minnesota traffic result in death. More than 17 per cent of those that happen in rural areas alone are death-dealing.

Local 'B' Quintet Tips Warren 39-30

Elton Hornseth Is High Scorer with 15 Points

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team had to hustle to edge out the Warren Ponies 'B' team in a preliminary game played at Warren on Friday night, winning by a 39 to 30 score.

At one time in the third period, the Warren 'B' team was within three points of the locals, but a field goal by Mike Aune pushed the Prowlers into a five-point margin, and, Elton Hornseth, who was the game's high point player with 15 points, rapped in a rebound to give the blue-and-gold 'B' a cushion. Gary Kelly notched nine points for the Prowlers, earning scoring runner-up honors.

Howard Elseth and Ken Carlson shared the Warren 'B' scoring honors, having 8 points apiece.

Warren Quintet Loses to Prowlers 55 to 39

After trailing by a 12 to 10 score at the end of the first period of play at Warren on Friday night, the Prowlers racked up a 19-point effort in the second period to take control of the district conference game played against the Warren Ponies and go on to win by a 55 to 39 score.

The Prowlers next game will be on Friday, Dec. 16, when coach Al Droen will bring his Crookston Central squad here for a Northwest conference and district tilt. Crookston has a one win and one loss record in Northwest conference competition, having lost to Bemidji and scoring a win over East Grand Forks.

Earl Rogalla's one-handed toss from the right side of the court, and which dropped into the east basket, opened the scoring in Friday night's game at Warren and gave the Ponies an early lead. Coach Irv St. John's ever-hustling club, with Rogalla and Wayne Edgar hitting on shots from outside the Prowlers' zone, built up a 12 to 6 lead midway in the period. A pair of free throws by Gary Anderson and a field goal by Harvey Ebbighausen pared the Ponies' lead to 12 to 10 at the end of the quarter.

Opening the second period, Edgar notched a Warren free throw. Anderson lofted a long shot into the net, and Ron Hanson, taking a pass from Don Ulferts, rolled in a field goal to give the Prowlers a 14 to 13 yead. Sophomore Jerry Cook, on a pass from Edgar, drove in for lay-up, and the Ponies regained the lead, 15 to 14.

The lead was short-lived as Hanson dropped in a pair of free throws, and Ebbighausen, on an out-of-bounds play, hit from the left side of the court. With Ulferts getting a pair of field goals and a free throw, Hanson scoring a pair of field goals, and Lietzow adding a field goal, the Prowlers moved into a 29 to 19 lead at the half.

With lanky Ron Hanson dunking in four field goals, and adding a pair of free throws, the Prowlers outpointed the Ponies, 15 to 7, in the third period to take a 44 to 26 lead in the game score. Late in the period, Ulferts and Hanson picked up their fourth personal foul, but the two boys, playing carefully, remained in the game and avoided their fifth and final foul.

In the final period, with the Prowlers having a 20-point "cushion" with several minutes of play remaining, coach Jack Junker inserted the Prowler reserves into the game.

Hanson, with ten field goals and five free hrows, and playing a strong game off the defensive board, was the game's outstanding performer. Ulferts added 11 points to the Prowler scoring, having five field goals and a free throw.

Cook, with four field goals and five free throws, and Edgar, with five field goals and a free throw, led the scoring for the Warren Ponies.

The Icemen Cometh

Meaning, of course, that the hockey season will be officially opened on Tuesday night when, on the Arena rink, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers, the defending champions of Region Eight, will meet coach Sergio Gambucci's Grand Forks Redskins.

Last year, it will be recalled, the Redskins surprised the Prowlers by scoring a 3 to 2 win over the locals in the schedule-opening game. Coach Gambucci has lost a number of players from last season's squad, but so has Coach Sack of the Prowlers. In fact, of the 14 Prowler players who saw action in last year's opener, only Larry Poole, Jerry Larson, Tim Teal, Dennis Erickson, and Jack Goulet are around for this season's play.

Judging by the lineups that coach Sack has been using in the practice drills at the Arena the past ten days, it appears that the starting lineup for the Prowlers on Tuesday night will have Tom Teal in goal, co-captains Jerry Larson and Jack Goulet at defense, Larry Poople at center, and Tim Teal and Jack Houfek at the wings. The second set of blue-liners will be Lloyd Ranum and Tom Morben; and the second line will have Keith Poppenhagen at center with Dennis Erickson and Tony Poole at the wings.

Of this group, Larson, Goulet, Poppenhagen, Erickson, and Ranum are seniors, and except for Larson, who is a four-year veteran, they have not had extensive hockey experience. It is apparent, too, that much of the offensive power of the Prowlers will be concentrated in the Larry Poole-Jack Houfek-Tim Teal line. Larry Poole is following in the footsteps of older brothers Joey and Jack, and has become a Prowler hockey reliable. Larry is a junior, and before he concludes his high school hockey career next season he will probably be as famed as Joe and Jack.

Grand Forks opened their season's play last week by dropping a 6 to 1 decision to coach Larry Rors' veteran International Falls club at International Falls.

College Hockey's Best

The hockey fans who make the short jaunt to Grand Forks Friday or Saturday to witness the North Dakota Sioux vs. Michigan hockey series, will see a player who has been termed college hockey's best. The reference is to Michigan's Gordon (Red) Berenson, the center-ice man on the Wolverine's number one line.

We had the good fortune to watch Berenson in action several times, having seen him in a couple of games as a junior hockey player in Canada. Red played with the Regina Pats junior team three years ago, and was a standout on that club. Playing at right wing on the line that was centered by Berenson, was Bill Hicke, a youngster who has played with the hockey champion Montreal Canadians for the past two seasons. Later we saw Berenson as a member of the Flin Flon Bombers, also a junior club. This was the same season that Berenson played with the Belville MacFarlands in the world hockey tournament in Rome, and proved to be a sensation, tying for the tournament scoring honors.

Last season we made a trip to Grand Forks to see Berenson against the Sioux, and while Michigan dropped the game, and the series, to North Dakota, it was worth the trip to see the red-head play.

Berenson, who is a junior this season, is undoubtedly headed for a career in professional hockey, perhaps with the Montreal Canadians. His style of play is reminiscent of that exhibited by John Mayasich, the former Eveleth high school and University of Minnesota star. The two players are exception stick-handlers, and are very adept at setting up scoring plays in front of the net, or in coming on a goalie for a score.

A Pair of Auggies

Two former Prowler athletes, Phil Hanson and Bruce Ranum, in their sophomore years at Augsburg college, are playing vital roles with Auggie teams this season. Hanson, a six-foot two-inch guard, is a member of coach Ernie Anderson's Augsburg varsity basketball squad; and Ranum, a five-foot-ten-inch wing, is a high-scoring member of coach Ed Saugestad's Auggie hockey squad.

Last season, as freshmen, both boys earned varsity letters. The Auggies finished in third place in the MIAC basketball standings, having a record of ten wins and six losses. The Auggie hockey squad finished in second place in the MIAC standings, having a mark of six wins and two losses. The U. of M. Duluth branch won the title with an undefeated record, scoring eight wins.

Ranum at right wing, led the Auggie hockey scorers, denting the mesh for 17 goals. The Auggie scored a total of 48 goals, so Bruce's 17-goal total accounted for more than one-third of goals tallied. Bruce added seven assists to post a 24-point mark. The Auggie hockey team opens play by meeting St. Olaf at Northfield on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

Feeder Pigs Offer Prospect for Profit

A farmer may be able to give his income a boost by replacing some cattle in a feeding operation with feeder pigs. Except for feed bunks, most of the feed and facilities in a typical cattle feeding operation can be used for pigs.

But Paul Hasbargen and Ken Egertson, extension economists at the University of Minnesota, warn this doesn't mean that a farmer should jump in and out of the cattle business. It does, however, offer some flexibility in a feeding operation if the need arises.

A feeder's decision to shift between cattle and hogs may be based on one or more of several facors, including:

1. If one or the other offers better profit prospects.
2. Whether credit becomes short relative to corn for the cattle feeding.
3. Whether he wants a more diversified feeding program.

The clue to shifting between enterprises is the ability to estimate the most profitable market outlook. A market analysis of the past eight years shows that in 1953 and 1959 the feeder pig operation should have been emphasized for maximum returns. In 1957 and 1958 yearling cattle were by far the best money makers. Other years it was about a toss-up.

To the extent that a farmer can foresee the profit prospect variations, he can change his cost and income position considerably by adjusting his feeding program.

Only about half as much capital is needed for pigs as for steers to utilize a given amount of corn. This may be important if credit is short or expensive. Five weanling pigs costing about $70 will clean up about as much corn as a good yearling steer that costs $160.

One way to spread livestock income through diversification is to include a feeder pig finishing program in feeding plans. For example, a feeder who buys yearling cattle in early fall, pastures a short time, puts them on full feed and markets in late winter, could then buy and feed out pigs in time to hit the good summer market.

Cranberries and Chicken Plentiful

'U' M. Specialist Reports on Market Conditions

December plentiful foods will provide color, flavor and aroma to contribute to the holiday atmosphere.

Most colorful of the foods and appropriate to the Christmas season, will be cranberries. Homemakers are assured of a bountiful supply of this fruit for all the traditional cranberry dishes at holiday time. This year's cranberry crop, exceeding all previous estimates, is expected to be 32 per cent above average, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Fried chicken can supply flavor and aroma for December meals. Fifteen to 20 per cent more broiler-fryers will come to markets this December than a year ago. Since December is not a peak demand time for broilers and fryers, the large supply of these birds may mean that shoppers will find them at lower than usual prices, Mrs. Loomis says.

Among fruits and vegetables plentiful during December are fresh California dates for Christmas confections, navy beans for baking and onions for salads and a variety of dishes.

The South is providing an abundance of peanuts for holiday cookies and candies.

Vegetable fats and oils for baking and frying are also on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods.

EDITOR TO HELP SHAPE CONSERVATION PROGRAM

The conservation-minded editor of the Delano Eagle, John F. "Bud" Tischler, has been appointed legislative representative for the 20,000-member statewide Minnesota Conservation Federation, comprising 154 affiliated clubs. He was approved for the post at the bi-monthly meeting of the Federation in Olivia Saturday, December 3.

In presenting Tischler's name as the nominee of the executive committee, President Anton Sterle, Duluth, declared that "he is no johnny-come-lately to the conservation scene. For 22 years he has served as secretary of the Delano Sportsmen's Club. He helped to organize the Wright County Federation of Sportsmens Clubs, which he has served two terms as president, five terms as secretary, and for 13 years on the legislative committee. In the last session of the legislature Tischler had an outstanding record as representative of the Wright County Federation."

Bud Tischler succeeds Otto Clark of Osakis, a veteran of 16 years in the state legislature, who represented the Federation in the 1959 session.

De Gaulle and Algeria

President Charles de Gaulle is going firmly forward with his plan for a provisional government in Algeria under which the people of Algeria can decide for themselves their own future status. Approval by the French people will be asked in a referendum to be held probably some time in January.

Upon the result of that referendum will depend the future of de Gaulle. What is more important, upon that result may depend the peace of north Africa. A peaceful solution will ease tension in the United Nations where the question of Algerian independence has been made an issue by Russia, an issue that could be very embarrassing to our country.

The situation is critical. Observers fear the Algerian crisis could explode into "a wider war in North Africa and possibly a civil war in France."

Neither Side Won

On Friday, according to an Associated Press report, Kennedy was leading Nixon by 111,844 votes in the national poll. Thus far, 68,691,754 votes have been tabulated. As of Friday, the popular vote was divided 34,189,718 for Kennedy; 34,014,874 for Nixon; and for others, 160,162.

The electoral vote still stands at 300 for Kennedy and 223 for Nixon. Here Kennedy has a decisive majority and there can be no question as to the outcome when the electoral college convenes.

We are well satisfied with the results. We would have preferred Nixon as the more conservative of the two candidates, but Nixon probably would have had trouble with a Democrat-controlled Congress. We would have feared Kennedy as a land-slide winner. He is much too ambitious personally to be trusted with unlimited power. His slight margin of victory should tend to keep him reasonably humble, however, and he may turn out to be a good president.

Under the circumstances, the result of this election may have been the best possible solution. Neither side won.

Prospects Hopeful

Today's meeting of the stockholders of the Thief River Falls creamery points up the importance of the dairy industry to our community. The combined production of the creamery and Bridgeman's milk processing plant is an impressive total, and justifies the boast that Thief River Falls is one of the large manufacturing centers in the state for dairy products.

Here, as elsewhere, the number of dairy herds has steadily declined. Fewer herds of better cows are producing more milk. Over a period of many years dairying has been our most dependable source of farm income. For individual dairy farmers there have been years of crop failure, but for the area as a whole, production has remained constant in flood years and in drouth years.

Looking forward to the future of the industry, Hoard's Dairyman points up factors and conditions that may be unfavorable as well as those that may be favorable, and remains hopeful. Discussing the prospects editorially, Hoard's Dairyman makes these interesting observations:

> "As dairymen, we can greet the dairy outlook with some relief. It could be a lot worse when we consider all the possibilities. Let's highlight a few factors for purposes of emphasis.
> "Certainly we are not out of the surplus woods though the balance is better than in the past. Note that of all milk sold by farmers, the government is still buying 3 per cent of the milk fat and 9 per cent of the solids-non-fat.
> "Considering this surplus, we can appreciate the importance of the price support increase of 16 cents approved by Congress and the President last fall. With a record milk production forecast for 1961, it is reasonable to expect that dairy prices would have fallen to support levels this coming year. Fortunately, the manufacturing support price is now $3.22 instead of $3.06.
> "It is possible, of course, that the support price could expire March 31. Political realities indicate, however, that the level will be extended for the next marketing year at least.
> "Now let's look at the income pie. Actually, fewer dairymen each year are dividing up the gross. This means a higher average gross per farm because about 6 per cent of the dairymen are leaving the industry annually.
> "Or looking at the post-World War II picture, 4 farmers are now sharing the gross income that 10 shared in 1945.
> "This is not to overlook the other changes . . . lower prices and higher costs. These have held net income down. But think what we would face had not so many dairymen moved out. These have been offsetting forces.
> "We can only speculate on another force, that of bulk tanks. Undoubtedly they have acted as a production control device. Their cost has encouraged many to move out of dairying. On the other hand, those remaining have enlarged. No one has measured the impact of bulk tanks but we believe it has been considerable.
> "And talk about a shocker, how about the impact of oleo on the dairy industry? Just think we will produce about 128 billion pounds of milk next year but had we the per capita butter market of 1935-39, we would need 155 billion pounds. And some people still wonder why we fought so long and so hard to prevent oleo's piracy of butter's golden yellow!"

"Faculty Pay"

Commenting on a proposed budget by the University of Illinois, the Chicago Tribune thinks the requested 25 per cent increase cannot be justified. From the Tribune we get the following interesting observations:

> "Only two days before the University of Illinois trustees approved the proposed 1961-63 budget, Harvard University Press published a book containing an essay entitled "Faculty Pay and Institutional Extravagance." Here Prof. Theodore Caplow of the University of Minnesota raises the question, "How could we make universities less wasteful and how could we make professors more productive?"
> "Caplow, who knows, asserts there has been an enormous and pointless multiplication of nonacademic positions on the campuses. He cites one man with 11 secretaries who accomplishes no more than could be done "by one girl working half time." As for the teaching faculty, Caplow says, "I know of no major university at which the teaching load approaches what it was 10 years ago or at which, 10 years ago, it approached what it was 30 years ago." The major problem, he says, "is not how to raise faculty pay, but how to improve the academic institution."
> "As friends of higher education in general and of the University of Illinois in particular, we suggested that the time has come when improving the academic institution is indeed the major problem. Perhaps economies can be found which will save enough money to permit an increase in salaries without a corresponding increase in appropriations. The old ideal of small, small classes has hardly been challenged, for example.
> "If the universities are going to admit more thousands of students, and give their faculties raises to match the economic gains of organized labor over the last few decades, the university administrations must move against waste and must bring the individual teacher before more and more, rather than fewer and fewer, students."

Incidentally, we like this man Prof. Theodore Caplow of the University of Minnesota, who wrote the essay about "Faculty Pay and Institutional Extravagance." This essay should be made available to all members of the Minnesota Legislature.

Reorganizing Defense

(Business Week)

Sen. Stuart Symington has given the new Administration a head start on one of the toughest jobs it will have — modernizing the U.S. defense services.

The targets set forth in his report—the possibilities of simplifying the decision-making process of the services, and the promise of either saving as much as $8-billion or of getting a much more effective defense establishment—are so great that the new Congress should take up reorganization of the services as one of its first objectives.

The President-elect showed good judgment in publishing the document without specific endorsement. The senator's report is wonderfully brief—only 5,000 words. But its recommendations are sweeping. Many sincere officers within the Pentagon will think they go too far. On the other hand, they may not go far enough to satisfy people outside of the service. It will take a lot of careful study by the new Administration to decide which view is right.

However the details are fought out, it seems to us that the Symington recommendations are going in the right direction, which is toward greater unification. We hope the senator and the Congress and new Administration will push ahead with the job as fast as possible.

Ceremonial Headdress

(Christian Science Monitor)

Americans haven't quite adjusted to the idea of a hatless head of state.

This circumstance has led to there being almost as much speculation about what kind of headdress Senator Kennedy will wear on Inauguration Day as there is about what names will adorn his chief cabinet offices—names that in this case Mr. Kennedy must be said to be keeping under his hair.

Suspense over the Cabinet appointments is slowly being alleviated. And there is reason to believe that if the Washington correspondents are persistent enough the public will soon know what a hatless man chooses to do when he faces a democracy's closest approach to a crowning.

Until that news arrives, however, we shall resign ourselves to commenting only on the historical trend: namely, that presidential bonnets have been subsiding over the years. First the stovepipe was truncated to become the topper. Then President Eisenhower introduced the still shorter inaugural homburg. Even if Mr. Kennedy does not become the first bare-headed inauguree, the trend seems to be in that direction.

Careful observers may also detect another trend in the recent political attitude toward sartorial affairs. Adlai Stevenson is best known to many for a hole in his shoe. Nelson Rockefeller wears unfashionable double-breasted suits. Richard Nixon is fondly remembered looking uncomfortable in a too-tight tuxedo. Messrs. Nixon and Kennedy exchanged anti-fashion banter at a mid-campaign dinner where Nixon arrived black tie, Kennedy white.

The moral seems to be that with log-cabin birth virtually impossible and many candidates finding themselves in the embarrassing position of being millionaires, the best common touch available is to look somewhat unfashionable.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Marriage vows might be a trifle more accurate if the phrase were changed to read, "Until debt do us part."

St. Olaf College to Guarantee Costs

Students to Pay Fixed Comprehensive Rates

A four-year guaranteed cost plan by which students will be guaranteed that the fees they pay will not be increased at any time during their four years of college will be offered at St. Olaf college, Northfield, beginning in September, 1961, it was announced by President Clemens M. Granskou.

The president also announced that fees will not be raised for the 1961-62 school year and that the comprehensive fee, which at St. Olaf includes tuition, room, board, laboratory fees and all costs except books and private music lessons, will remain at its present level of $1,575.

Students will pay $1,676 their first year, $1,600 their second year, $1,550 their third year and $1,475 their fourth year.

The four-year guaranteed cost plan and graduated scale of charges will be in effect only for those students who elect to join the plan. Students not wishing to participate may enroll at a fee of $1,575 for the 1961-62 school year and whatever level the comprehensive fee is set at in succeeding years.

Present students will be given the option of entering the guaranteed plan at their current level in college or they may continue outside the plan.

Car Show Opens in Minneapolis Jan. 6

Over 160 Models to Be Displayed in Auditorium

Plans are well under way for the sixth annual Upper Midwest Auto Show, January 6-15, at the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Featured will be more than 160 cars, including all of Detroit's 1961 models, and "big name" entertainers performing at twice-daily stage shows, at 3:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Detroit factories may also send several futuristic cars. In addition, the Auto Show will display imported, classic, antique, custom, racing and homemade models.

Now ranked fourth largest among the nation's major Auto Shows, this year's exposition is expected to attract more than 180,000 spectators. Last year some 175,000 persons attended the show.

Automotive equipment, educational exhibits and other allied services and products will also be displayed in 100 exhibit booths on both floors of the auditorium.

Other exhibits include a Cessna Skyhawk 175 airplane and a large antique car display of more than 25 models.

U.S. Risk Agency Pays $1.6 Million Crop Insurance

Over $1,600,000 for 1960 crop losses will be paid to Minnesota farmers by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, it was estimated today. The losses are due mostly to a delayed planting season caused by excessive moisture, followed by a July drouth. A record breaking $2,700,000 in losses were paid in Minnesota for losses last year.

Minnesota farmers led the nation in Federal Crop Insurance with over 48,000 crops of corn, soybeans, wheat, flax, barley and oats being protected this year.

Quotas for 1960 crops for this county have not been announced yet by F.C.I.C. officials, however, new applications for Federal Crop Insurance are now being written by agent David Drotts in Thief River Falls.

The insurance protects the farmer's operating costs on the crops he insured against losses due to frost, hail, drouth, wind, floods, insects and all other unavoidable crop losses.

NWS Students to Give Yule Program

Event Is Scheduled at Crookston Wednesday

A Christmas program will be presented by students at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on Wednesday evening, December 14. The program is sponsored by the Student Music Council and will be given at 8 p.m. in the Kiehle auditorium at the school. Parents of students and the general public is invited to attend.

The program will be given in three sections. Participating in the first part will be the mixed chorus, girls' glee club, mixed octette, girls' sextette, instrumental ensemble, and trumpet ensemble. They will present vocal and instrumental Christmas music. A three-act play, in six scenes, entitled "The Miracle of Christmas" will be given for the second part of the program. For the third part, there will be a tableau of "The Holy Family." The singing of Christmas songs by the audience and music groups participating in the program will close the program.

T. W. Thorson of the music faculty is director of the music groups and program. Robert Dornquast and Clinton Bergman, faculty members, are assisting.

The script for the various scenes in the second part of the program "The Miracle of Christmas" was written by Patrick McKeever, junior students, of Oak Island.

Fat Stock Event Set for RRV Winter Shows

A fat stock show is being planned as a new attraction for the 1961 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston. The show dates are February 20-24.

Final plans for the show were approved at a recent meeting of the board of directors and advisory board of the Red River Valley Livestock association, the organization sponsoring the new addition to the show.

The fat stock will be divided into three major areas: the fat steer show, the fat lamb show, and the market barrow show. Animals to be entered in the show do not have to be registered with a breed association, but will be classified into breeds according to the sire used. Competition is open to livestock producers from the entire world.

Premium awards will be made available to exhibitors on the basis of "on-the-hoof" placings as well as placings based upon carcass quality. The live weight placings will be determined by a committee of judges on Monday of Winter Shows week (Feb. 20, 1961).

All entries will then be shipped to a South St. Paul packing plant on Tuesday, February 21, to permit carcass evaluations by meat specialists from the University of Minnesota. It is planned that the information on carcass placings will be made available to the public before the end of Winter Shows week.

Exhibitors should observe the following regulations applicable to the various classes of the fat stock show:

(a) Fat steer show: Animals to weigh between 950 and 1200 pounds; all entries to be shown individually at halter; entry fee: $10 per head.

(b) Fat lamb show: Animals to weigh between 90 and 110 pounds; each entry to consist of a pen of five lambs; entry fee: $5 per pen.

(c) Market barrow show: Minimum weight per entry: 200 pounds; all barrows to be exhibited individually; entry fee: $3 per head.

The total number of entries that the show will be able to accept in each class will be determined by the amount of room and facilities available. Entries will be accepted in the order received, and all entries should be submitted no later than February 6, 1961.

Entries will be accepted by D. Reimer, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock association. Anyone wishing further information about the show should write to the Secretary, c/o Northwest School, Crookston, Minn.

Two Rail Unions Discuss Merger

Conductors, Trainmens Brotherhoods May Unite

The 200,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, with about 30,000 members, Thursday announced tentative approval to merge.

Committees from the two unions have been meeting since last February to explore merger possibilities. Both boards of directors gave their approval, along with W. P. Kennedy, president of the BRT, and James A. Paddock, president of the ORC&B.

The merger proposal will be submitted to members, probably early next year, after certain other details are completed, an announcement said.

There's More Profit in Better Bred Swine

WE WANT A LIMITED NUMBER OF SWINE BREEDERS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE INCREASE OF A NEW HIGH QUALITY BREED OF SWINE UNDER CONTRACT.

Lacombe-York Swine

have been developed as an Improved New Meat Type Breed by breeding pedigreed Lacombe Boars to pedigreed Canadian Yorkshire Gilts. The Lacombe breed of swine was developed by the Canadian government at the Lacombe Experiment Station and after 12 years of research and experimental breeding was released to a few Elite Breeders in Canada. The breed was placed under strict embargo against exportation, but the embargo does not cover Lacombe semen. We have imported Lacombe semen and artificially inseminated our imported Canadian Yorkshire Gilts.

Our herd is large enough to make breeding stock available to a limited number of swine breeders who desire to help us increase this breed and at the same time start their own herds of this most profitable of all breeds of swine. For complete information about the attractive contract now available, write to—

Program subject to change without notice

SEASON'S SYMBOLS in Minnesota include the traditional Christmas wreath and candle of hope for the New Year as it is lighted here by one of Minnesota's living symbols—Princess Kay of the Milky Way. The lovely Princess, Marilyn Christianson of Freeborn County, expresses the warmest wishes and the highest hopes of most Minnesotans for the peace and well-being of all peoples, everywhere.

Silverton 4-H

Silverton 4-H club met on November 11 at the Silverton town hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Lloyd Nelson.

The parents had charge of the program for the evening. Our speaker was Rollie Larson, manager of the TRF Chamber of Commerce, who talked on the future.

Our next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party dividing the 4-H'ers in two; 12 and over in one group and those who are below 12 in the younger group. The price for each gift was from 25 to 35 cents, putting boy or girl on each package.

Eddie and Allen Walseth sang three songs. Mrs. Ray Knutson showed how to crochet bedroom slippers.

Lunch was served by the Ptacek and Berger families.—Mrs. Seymore Nelson, reporter for Parents Night.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Starter fertilizer paid off 3 to 1 on demonstration plots on the Frank Cooney farm near Russell. Francis Cooney, the owner's son, cooperated with George Holcomb, assistant Lyon county agricultural agent, in setting up he demonstration. Corn receiving starter fertilizer shot up two feet taller than unfertilized corn. Holcomb and Cooney figure the fertilizer returned about $3 for dollar invested. Not only was there an increase in yield but the fertilized corn was 2 per cent drier when harvested.

"Organic soil builder" finished second in a comparison trial with 5-20-20 commercial fertilizer on the Donald Rupprecht farm near Lewiston. According to Oliver Strand, Winona county agent, corn from the plot with organic soil builder yielded 49.5 bushels per acre, while corn fertilized with the 5-20-20 went 86.4 bushels. Both trial plots had the same amount of rain. "I knew there was a difference," said Rupprecht, "but I didn't think it was so great. We could see the difference all summer. The organic fertilized plot was about two weeks behind in development."

Heavy rains used to wash away a lot of good topsoil for Carlyle Stender, a cooperator with the Jackson County Soil and Water Conservation district. Then, with the help of Ralph Nordstrom, SCS technician at Lakefield, Stender laid out a contour cropping system on his sloping fields. This last crop season Stender told Nordstrom, "My crops look better this year because I have been keeping my soil and water on the sloping fields."

The first livestock watering pit in the Rice Soil and Water Conservation district was constructed last summer by Chris Melstrom, Morristown. The pit was designed and staked out by Al Johnson, SCS work-unit conservationist, and was built through the ACP cost-sharing program. Melstrom, who has fenced in a large area aroundthe pit and plans a number of other wildlife plantings and improvements, says "Now I can help raise wildlife as well as cattle."

Artificial Dentures Don't Solve Problems

Artificial dentures don't erase dental problems, they create new ones, according to the Minnesota State Dental association.

Dentists deplore the prevailing attitude among many laymen that it's perfectly OK to throw away their toothbrushes and ignore cavities and bleeding gums.

Such persons, say the dentists, have the misguided notion that dentures—or false teeth as laymen call them—will chase away all dental ills.

Modern dentures fit perfectly, and they are so realistically attractive that they can even fool a dentist. Even so, the association reminds us, man can never manufacture anything to equal God's handiwork.

The denture wearer must learn to talk and eat with this foreign object in his mouth. Even the best dentures cannot fit and bite like natural teeth.

Although dentures are made to last for years, they must be regularly reconditioned and repaired. In most instances new ones must be made periodically. That's because bone and tissue in the mouth which support the dentures are constantly changing.

Dentists underscore the fact that more than 22 million Americans of all ages have lost all of their permanent teeth. More than one out of every eight persons is either wearing full dentures or is going about toothless.

According to the dental association, the vast majority of these cases have been caused by "shameful neglect."

The leading cause of tooth loss is what dentists term periodontal diseases. They are disease which attack tissues and bone structure of the mouth. If left untreated, they eventually weaken or destroy bone and tissue, causing teeth to become loose or to fall out.

Persons over 35 years old are most prone to periodontal diseases, the association says.

The red toothbrush, caused by bleeding gums, is the most familiar symptom of periodontal disease.

Periodontal diseases can usually be prevented, or substantially diminished, by supplementing soft modern diet with coarse foods, which provide exercise for gums, and by daily massage of the gums with a toothbrush.

According to the dental association, anyone whose teeth are currently in a reasonably sound and healthy state can usually hope to keep them for life. But he must brush his teeth and massage his gums daily and seek regular dental check-ups.

WOND'ROUS NIGHT

High upon our Christmas tree,
A single shining star
Sheds its light but modestly,
Yet casts its warmth afar—
Symbol of the Star, this gem,
That gave its light to Three,
That they might come to Bethlehem
And worship joyfully.

'Neath the star that tops our tree
Are shining silver things,
Reindeer, birds and brilliancy,
And color fit for kings.
Hand in hand the youngsters stand
Enchanted by the sight—
Picture now this fairyland
And keep this wond'rous night!

—Jeanne Cole

TRF Creamery Volume Holds above '59 Mark

Shareholders Hear Favorable Reports at Meeting Monday

The huge total of 1,186,489 pounds of butter was produced by the Thief River Falls Cooperative creamery during the year ending September 30, it was reported at the well-attended annual meeting Monday afternoon in the municipal Auditorium. In 1959 1,178,132 pounds was churned.

The great bulk of butterfat received during the year was in the form of Grade One milk, totaling 597,114 pounds of fat, while butterfat in sweet cream accounted for 252,409 pounds, with Number One cream and Number Two milk making up most of the balance.

Of the butter manufactured, 893,760 pounds was shipped, 255,082 pounds sold locally and 37,724 pounds sold to patrons. The butter sold for an average price of 58.36 cents. An average price of 63.89 cents a pound was paid for sweet cream, and $2.88 per hundred pounds for Grade One milk. Gross receipts from dairy products sold totaled $822,721.03.

The gross income on all sales and services was $111,685.27, while total operating expenses were $97,620.07, leaving a net balance for the year of $14,065.20. The association reported that its net assets at the close of the fiscal year were $204,146.85.

Vernon Anderson was re-elected as a director of the association without opposition.

Dr. Edward Fredricks of the Northwest school at Crookston was the principal speaker of the afternoon, choosing as his subject "Fight Mastitis."

He pointed out that mastitis causes poor quality milk, creates a public health hazard and lowers production. To prevent mastitis, he said, requires that equipment be operated properly, good milking practices be observed and a milking order be followed.

Caused by an organism and injury, chronic mastitis can be knocked out by the use of antibiotics while the acute form is antibiotic resistant.

The proper operation of equipment cannot be stressed enough, Dr. Fredricks said. Periodic routine checks of equipment are necessary as well as good milking practices and a milking order by which cows which have mastitis are milked last.

Mastitis cannot be cleared up overnight, he said, adding that a practical mastitis control program should be set up and followed every day.

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Miss Marilyn Christianson of Freeborn county, gave a short talk before Dr. Fredrick's presentation. She was accompanied by her chaperone, Mrs. Lou Conlon.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the Silver Creek Ladies' Aid.

Lions Hear Appeal to Join Northern Blood Bank Assn.

Mrs. James Carlson, Head of Mrs. Jaycees, Explains Purpose of Organization

Mrs. James Carlson, president of the Mrs. Jaycees, currently engaged in a campaign to sign up 700 additional members of the Northern Blood Bank association, explained details of the blood bank and solicited memberships at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Introduced by Dr. Leo Herber, Mrs. Carlson was assisted in answering numerous questions by Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital, who also strongly endorsed the project.

LUTH. BRETHREN CHURCH TO HEAR REV. OLE SANDE

Rev. Ole Sande will have a service at the Lutheran Brethren church, 6th and Dewey av., tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m.

Residents of the area between the ages of 18 and 60 will have an opportunity to secure memberships in the Northern Blood Bank association Friday and Saturday, December 16 and 17, at four downtown locations.

Members of the local Mrs. Jaycees chapter, which is holding the drive on behalf of the blood bank association, will furnish information and have membership cards Friday at the Union State Bank and the Northern State Bank. Saturday, they will accept memberships at the S&L store and the Hartz supermarket.

The campaign objective is to secure 700 new members to supplement the 1,006 who have joined since the last drive in 1955.

Through a membership, every person who joins is assured free blood for his family, his parents and his grandparents any place in the United State.

Memberships become effective within 30 days or when a person gives blood for the first time or has his blood typed, whichever is first.

Passing the age of 60 or otherwise becoming ineligible after being an active member does not end a person's membership, according to E. A. Hamerski, head of the Northern Blood Bank association. Once a person is insured, his membership is effective for life.

Normally, a person is required to give blood only once every two years. No person may donate more often than once every three months. Some persons, who have a rare type of blood, are called even less frequently.

The membership fee is only $1 and covers a person's participation for life as long as the requirements of the association continue to be met.

United Fund Is Nearing 25 Per Cent of Quota

Ten Agencies, Three Research Funds to Share in Proceeds

Nearly 25 per cent of the United Fund goal of $21,372 had been collected in cash and pledges Wednesday morning, December 14, with many of the largest business establishments yet to turn in their envelopes.

Drive officials again emphasized that ten agencies and three research funds are included in the drive and that a full contribution for each is necessary to make the United Fund appeal a success. Through a successful drive, the multiplicity of individual fund raising solicitations will be ended.

Returns from six of the 84 residential zone solicitors have increased the fund by over $50, according to Mrs. Agnes Israelson, drive chairman, and Mrs. R. J. Dryden, co-chairman, who have asked that the workers pick up their envelopes as soon as possible.

Headquarters for the drive are being maintained in the Northern Chevrolet Co. showrooms where contributions are turned in and information about the drive is available.

No official returns from the rural drive have been received but the drive is continuing under the leadership of Albert Koop.

R. Holthusen Is Indicted for 2d Degree Murder

A Beltrami county district court jury returned an indictment for second-degree murder against Reinhold Holthusen, 56, Wednesday.

Holthusen, who lives just inside the Red Lake Indian reservation, accused of the beating death of Palmer Anderson, Thief River Falls, Nov. 11, will be arraigned Saturday, Dec. 17, according to Beltrami county attorney Herbert E. Olson.

District Judge Arnold C. Forbes set bail at $50,000, Olson said. He stated a date for trial will probably be set at the arraignment.

According to Austin Lee Wardle, criminal investigator with the bureau of Indian affairs, the woman was apparently beaten to death by the use of fists. Her body was sent to Grand Forks for a post mortem and no report has been made on the immediate cause of death.

Planning for County Future Is Discussed

Committees Name Officers at Session in City Wednesday

Sixty-seven people took part in the first Long-Range Planning meeting held at Thief River Falls Wednesday, December 14. A cross section of farm, business, professional and civic leaders heard a discussion about the planning program.

Taking part in the organizational meeting were Frank Forbes, Northwestern Minnesota extension work supervisor, George Donohue, extension rural sociologist at the University of Minnesota, and Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent.

Four committees will study county problems and prepare a report which will be published in the summer of 1961. Following are the elected chairman and secretary and the first meeting dates of the four committees:

Family living — Mrs. Edwin Koglin, chairman; Mrs. Sig Folkedahl, vice chairman, and Mrs. Earl Peterson, secretary. Meeting, January 10, 1:30 p.m.

Youth — Orville Jensen, chairman; Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, secretary. Meeting, January 4, 1:30 p.m.

Farm business—Silas Hanson, chairman; Mrs. Harry Hanson, secretary. Meeting, January 11, 1:30 p.m. (alternate date January 17).

Community development — Stuart McLeod, chairman; Mrs. Harold Johnson, secretary. Meeting, January 10, 8:15 p.m.

Forbes pointed out that changes in American life are coming more rapidly than ever before and that adjustments are being made continually in agriculture and industry. He stated agriculture production efficiency has increased over the years.

In 1930 one farmer produced food for 9.75 people. Today one farmer produces for 24 people. Population increases will not remove surplus problems in the near future, Forbes stated, and communities will need to examine their problems in the light of current trends.

Stelmaschuk related the trends in Pennington county. The population decline from 1950 to 1960 in most agricultural counties was also sustained by Pennington, but to a lesser extent since the city of Thief River Falls gained people. Farm numbers declined from 1,152 farms to 855 farms but the average size of farms increased from 314 acres to 355 acres which was necessary for the improvement in farm life.

Both Forbes and Stelmaschuk emphasized the need for local people to study problems, the situations, and make recommendations for correction of problems or acceleration of a program.

George Donohue, rural sociologist, explained the functions and structure of the committees, stating that they aim to secure an expression of ideas and gathering of information. Committees serve only to allocate work and facilitate the action of its members. The success of the studies will depend on the work of the committees, Donohue stated.

City's Total Tax Rate up 11.5 Mills

Thief River Falls property owners will pay taxes in 1961 on the basis of a 1960 total tax rate of 264.03 mills, which is 11.51 mills higher than the 1959 rate, it was revealed this week following computations in the office of County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr.

The entire raise is attributable to the Thief River Falls school district, which increased its levy 12 mills from 117.36 in 1959 to 129.36 this year. The rates for city, county and state purposes remain virtually unchanged.

The state non-homestead rate for 1960 is 13.85 mills, compared to 14.32 mills in 1959, while the homestead rate is 6.81 mills in 1960 and 8.10 mills last year.

The total rate on agricultural lands included in the TRF school district is 25 mills less than on city property, Rodekuhr explained.

Of the total levy, 69.96 mills, or more than 25 per cent, is designated for bond retirement and interest, the school district levying 33.40 mills for this purpose, the city of TRF 32.36 mills, and the county 4.20 mills.

In tabular form, the mill levies for 1960 and 1959 are as follows:

	1960	1959
State	13.85	14.32
County	75.50	75.52
School District	129.36	117.36
City of TRF	45.32	45.32
	264.03	252.52

Revised Local School Tax Is Cut by $12,000

More State Aid and Higher Assessed Values Allow Cut

The Thief River Falls board of education at its December session Monday evening voted to reduce the local tax levy for school purposes by nearly $12,000 from $506,789, the amount set two weeks ago, to $494,860.90.

Supt. Marshall Hankerson explained that this cut was made possible when it was found after a review that the school district is entitled to more state aids than had been allocated originally, and that an increase of about $10,000 in assessed valuations also would add to anticipated income. It was further agreed that total disbursements should not exceed $1,433,447.

The board authorized advertising for bids on a new nine-passenger station wagon equipped with snow tires and a no-spin differential with or without the trade-in of a present unit. Bids will be opened at the regular January meeting Monday, the 9th.

Morris Owen and Clarence Knudsen, representing the local Boy Scout troops, requested the use of two school buses to transport a large delegation of Scouts to a winter outing at Norris camp during the Christmas holidays. They stated that all expenses would be borne by the Scout troops, and that regular school bus drivers would be employed for the trip. The request was granted.

Mrs. Jean Matt was appointed secretary in the office of the high school principals.

Goodridge School Tax Rates Decline

1960 Levy Down Slightly Due to Higher Valuation

The mill rate for the 1960 taxes payable in 1961 for Goodridge Independent School District 561 as given by C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor, are 84.35 mills on agricultural property and 109.35 on non-agricultural property. This is a reduction in mill rate of 7.83 mills from the previous year, Supt. David M. Brown stated.

Taxes levied were:

Debt Service	7,508.08
Building	801.42
Total	$36,020.07

This compares with a total levy last year of $36,000.11. While the levy was a little more than last year, the decrease in the mill levy is due to the rise in the assessed valuation from $410,731 to $421,802.

The school district started this school year with a balance of $35,153.15. In spite of the state aid crisis, the Goodridge school has been able to operate without registering any orders up to this time, said Supt. Brown.

Hagen-Qualley Vows Exchanged November 26

Wedding vows were spoken November 26 at the Rindal Lutheran church by Joyce Hagen and Darrel Qualley. Rev. Lynn Luthard officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hagen of Newfolden and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Qualley of Argyle.

Baskets of fall flowers and lighted candles provided the setting for the nuptial music played by Miss Carolyn Fosholm of this city. Mrs. Ronald Smith sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony and Mrs. Clayton Mathson sang "Wedding Prayer" later. Both are sisters of the bride.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Miss Judy Hagen of Newfolden with Miss Yvonne Leigh as bridesmaid. Both wore identical dresses of turquoise velveteen with a bouffant skirt, low neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Their colonial style bouquets were of yellow roses and bronze mums.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of net and lace over satin. The fitted lace bodice featured long sleeves with a Queen Anne collar. Her bouquet was of autumn roses and white feathered carnations.

Brenda Kay Mathson of St. Hilaire was flower girl for her aunt and wore a dress similar to the bridesmaids. Jackie Qualley, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer and wore a white dinner jacket and dark trousers.

Lyle Qualley of Minneapolis, brother of the groom, was best man while Robert Qualley was an attendant. Serving as usher were Laurel Moe and Ronald Qualley of Argyle. All gentlemen of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets with dark trousers.

Both mothers wore medium blue dresses with black accessories and corsages of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for about 175 guests. A three tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Gust Gustafson and topped by a miniature bride and groom, centered the table.

The bride chose a light blue wool sheath with silver accessories for their wedding trip to North Dakota, after which they are making their home at 1344 1st st. S.E. in Minot.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Newfolden high school and the groom is a 1958 graduate of the Crookston A.C. and is presently employed as a carpenter at the air base in Minot.

The bride was attired in a beige taffeta suit and her pearl choker and earrings were a gift of the groom. Her bridesmaid was Judith Nystuen of Gonvick. She wore a brown taffeta dress and her brown earrings and bracelet were a gift of the bride. The best man was Gary Vigoren, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper for the immediate families was given by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Berg at the Lund Lutheran church parlors with 24 guests attending. Mrs. Selmer Sorby assisted with Donna Sorby as waitress.

Nelson, for the past five years associated with the State Farm Insurance group at St. James, Minn., recently came to Thief River Falls to serve as the company's representative in this area, succeeding Douglas Odegaard. He is married and the father of five children, and has purchased a home at 308 Maple av. S.

Nelson stated that Minnesota motorists who have a hard time getting auto insurance—including many forced to apply for minimum coverage through the "assigned risk" plan—may qualify for full coverage protection under a new plan being offered here by the State Farm insurance group.

Single male drivers under 25, men and women drivers over 65, and drivers of all ages with minor driving infractions on their records are targets of State Farm's new "standard risk" program.

Nelson said the State Farm plan "does not include the irresponsible few who should not be licensed to drive."

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announces publication of a brochure describing and illustrating how flood control and harbor improvements on rivers and streams are brought about.

The pamphlet shows how Congress, the Corps of Engineers and local people work together to provide protection from floods and improvements to rivers and harbors.

It is especially helpful to local groups desiring to know more about how they can participate and contribute to these water programs.

The folder may be obtained without charge by writing the District Engineer, U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Paul, 1217 U.S. Post Office and Custom House, St. Paul 1, Minn.

TV Play Sunday to Enlist Support for Refugee Project

Rev. Joseph Hylden of Grafton, N. D., Servin as N.D. State Chairman

The North Dakota Governors resettlement committee today announced that by special arrangement an all-star show, "A Call from the Stars," will be telecast for the first time in the area over Station KXJB-TV Channel 4 from 12 noon to 1 p.m. Sunday, December 18.

Produced by Marsha Hunt on behalf of the United States committee for refugees, this full-hour documentary has a cast which includes Steve Allen, Harry Belafonte, Richard Boone, Jeff Chandler, Bing Crosby, Burl Ives, Louis Jourdan, Paul Newman, David Niven, Joanne Woodward, and Robert Ryan.

Ryan acts as host on the show, in which the all-star cast explains the many aspects of the refugee problem and what the individual can do to help. Interspersed throughout the telecast are actual film shots of refugees in the camps overseas.

Reverend Joseph Hylden, Grafton, N. D., is chairman of the North Dakota resettlement committee. He was first appointed by Governor Norman Brunsdale, and later reappointed by the present Governor, John E. Davis.

Soil Surveyors Map Big Acreage

SCS Agency Maps over 50 Million Acres This Year

Field soil mapping by soil surveyors of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service covered more than 50 million acres in the fiscal year 1960, an increase of 2 million acres over 1959, the USDA announced today.

At near year's end 658 million acres had been mapped in sufficient detail for the soil and water conservation planning of farms and ranches and small watershed projects. This is about 34 per cent of the total land area of the country and about 53 per cent of the agricultural land in the nation's 2,861 locally-governed soil conservation districts.

Soil surveys are made by about 1,200 field soil scientists who examine soils field by field and record their findings on aerial photographs, which then become soil maps, USDA officials explained. Information recorded includes the kinds of soils; their properties, such as behavior, productivity and response to management; slope or gradient, losses of soil by erosion, stoniness, salt accumulation, and evidence of poor drainage; location of natural drains, rock outcrops, lakes and ponds, roads and railroads, power lines and buildings.

During the year 38 soil survey reports and maps were published and 27 additional reports were prepared and made ready for printing.

FU Grain Terminal Assn's Earnings Decline This Year

M. W. Thatcher, General Manager, Lists Savings for Year at $3,070,657

Farmers Union Grain Terminal association (GTA) Monday reported savings of $3,070,657 for the 1959-60 fiscal year—a drop of nearly a million dollars from the previous year.

The savings for 1958-59 were $4,052,722, the second highest in the giant grain co-operative's history.

M. W. Thatcher, general manager, told the 23rd annual stockholders meeting in St. Paul auditorium that the decline of almost 25 per cent in the savings—which are distributed to patrons as both cash and stock—were due mainly to these factors:

A narrower margin in the grain business with the government loan program taking a larger share of the grain volume from cash markets.

An increase in operating expenses, including labor.

The fiscal policy of the government which resulted in higher interest rates on borrowed money.

The government's "arbitrary 20 per cent cut in storage rates for grain" (which went into effect July 1) will mean a decrease of about one million dollars in net savings on stored grain for the current fiscal year, Thatcher added.

Of the 1959-60 savings, patrons will receive $586,545 in cash refunds and another $2,053,170 in capital equity (stock) certificates for redemption at some later date. A total of $293,302 went into the capital reserve, also allocated to patrons.

Business Is Brisk in City Court This Week

"Business" was brisk in municipal court Monday as a large number of people went before Judge H. O. Chommie.

There was only one highway patrol case. Lawrence J. Golden, St. Paul, pleaded guilty to driving a truck-tractor over the center line and was fined $25. Golden was the driver of the automobile transport which crashed into a car on U.S. 59 about four miles east of the city June 1 wiping out the Oscar Hogquist family of three.

Sheriff Charles Richards had an unusually large number of offenders Monday and one Wednesday. S. Bernard Wilson, Goodridge, and Norman Earl Olson, city, each pleaded guilty to fighting and were fined $15 each.

Lewis W. Meyer, city, charged with provoking and engaging in a fight, forfeited $35 bond for non-appearance.

Walter Johnson, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to selling beer to a minor and was fined $150, which was suspended.

Duane A. Kulseth, Virginia, Minn., pleaded guilty to careless driving but sentence was deferred to Dec. 19. He was arrested on a citizen's complaint. On a second careless driving charge, also on a citizen's complaint, Kulseth pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Dec. 19 also.

All other cases were brought by city police. Carl M. Fromm, St. Hilaire, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked. Patrick D. Cahill and LeRoy C. Larson, both of this city, each pleaded guilty to careless driving and were fined $20. Cahill's arrest followed an accident in which he was involved, while Larson's arrest was on a citizen's complaint.

Gilbert T. Casavan, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls, and Raymond B. Boutain, city, each pleaded guilty to fighting, while Ronald P. Wisniewski, city, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by fighting. All three were given $15 fines by Judge Chommie.

Raymond L. Neslon, rt. 4, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way, accident involved, and was fined $15, suspended.

Three charges were made against Robert H. Anenson, rt. 1, Goodridge. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 for drunkenness, $25 for having an open bottle of intoxicants in a car, and was given a five-day suspended jail sentence for possession of beer by a minor.

Police also had two cases Wednesday. James L. Kline, Strandquist, pleaded guilty to misrepreseting the age of another in order to buy liquor and was fined $50, of which $25 was suspended.

Arnold C. Knutson, Grand Forks, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and was given a 30-day jail sentence, which was suspended. He paid $5 costs.

The Times court reporter erred in last Thursday's edition in that the address of the Bennie O. Johnson listed in last week's municipal court was omitted. Johnson, who permitted an unlicensed 16-year-old girl to drive a car and also had an open bottle of intoxicants in a car, is from Karlstad. He was fined a total of $15 on both counts.

Juvenile Arrests Increase in U. S.

Rise Is in Line with Growth in Population

Juvenile delinquency court cases increased by two per cent in 1959, the Children's Bureau reported today.

The bureau noted, however, that last year's increase was the smallest reported during the past decade even though the juvenile delinquency rate has risen steadily for 11 consecutive years.

Contrary to trends in previous years, the increase in delinquency cases in 1959 did not exceed the rise in the child population, which went up by five per cent among children of juvenile court age (10-17).

Juvenile delinquency data are compiled by the Children's Bureau with the cooperation of a representative sampling of juvenile courts throughout the nation.

The 1959 findings roughly paralled data issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which showed a four per cent increase in police arrests of juveniles in 1959 over 1958. Both juvenile court and police arrest data show that since 1948, juvenile arrests and court cases have more than doubled while the population of our young people has increased by less than one-half.

While the general picture of delinquents before the juvenile courts showed a two per cent increase in 1959, there was a two percent decrease in the number of juveniles handled in urban areas while courts serving semiurban and rural areas experienced increases of 7 and 15 per cent respectively.

ON THE WAY TO RECOVERY because their TB was discovered early are Scott and Steven Judkins, twins now in Glen Lake sanatorium. Tuberculosis in their mother was discovered through a Christmas Seal-sponsored chest x-ray taken upon admission to a Minneapolis hospital. Further checkup revealed TB in the twins, and a baby sister, all of whom are hospitalized. All four are featured on Hennepin County TB association's Christmas Seal letter.

3 Traffic Mishaps in City This Week

$550 Damage Results from One Collision

Three traffic mishaps in the city this week added to the damage compiled to their vehicles by local and area drivers on streets that are in anything but good condition due to ice and snow.

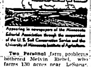
Monday at 8:48 a.m. a car driven east on Zeh st. by Roger Sackett, city, was struck by another car driven north on Knight av. by Paul C. Anderson, Fertile.

Police estimated damage at $250 to Sackett's car, $300 to Anderson's. No tags were issued.

At 4:45 p.m. Wednesday a car driven north on Main av. by Lorraine Steiger, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls, was struck by another car driven by Mrs. Kathleen Winjum, city, also going north. The Steiger car was making a left turn onto W. Seventh st. when the collision occured. Damage to the Steiger car was estimated at $35, to the Winjum car, $85. No tags were issued.

At 9:20 p.m. Wednesday Steven J. Mittelstadt, city, attempted to make a left turn onto W. Ninth st. after pulling from a parked position facing north on Main av. He was struck by another car driven by Robert L. Nelson, Roseau, who was going north on Main.

Police estimated damage to the Mittelstadt car at $50, to Nelson's, $150. Mittelstadt was tagged for failure to yield the right-of-way.



Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Two Personal farm problems bothered Melvin Riebel, who farms 130 acres near LeSueur. His dairy cattle had no water at the far end of the farm, and water coming from an adjoining acreage was washing gullies through his land. Riebel contacted Lynn Skaife, LeSueur county SCS technician. Together they decided to get rid of both problems by putting in a larger culvert and constructing a farm pond.

Over 3,000 yards of dirt were moved to form the sides of the pond. An overflow was made on one end and a rock-gravel liner was put around the end of the pond so the water wouldn't get muddy while the cows were drinking. This summer Riebel told Roger Wilkowski, LeSueur county agent: "Having a water supply on the other end of the farm lets me do a better job of rotating pastures over my farm. It also helps me to follow my crop rotation better. The cows stay in the pasture longer too and don't have to come up to the barn for water."

Beware of Peddlers of Farm Seeds, Warns Co. Seed Inspector

Farmers in Minnesota are again warned of ordering or purchasing seed from itinerant seed peddlers. Ed Moen, weed and seed inspector for Pennington and Red Lake counties, states that information has been received from reliable sources that seed peddlers are again preying on Minnesota farmers in spite of convictions obtained against certain seed peddlers during the late years under the Minnesota seed law, the federal seed act and the postal laws.

The seed division of the Minnesota department of agriculture, dairy and food desires any information regarding activities of these seed peddlers. Immediate action will be taken to investigate their activities and prompt action will be brought against illegitimate operators or peddlers.

Farmers are urged to buy their seed from their local dealers and seedsmen. These seeds are all checked by inspectors from the state department for compliance with the Minnesota seed laws, so the farmer is assured of quality seed. Then, too, the local dealers or seedsmen can furnish farmers the same kind and varieties of seed offered by these peddlers for more reasonable prices. They are also assured of delivery of their seed before planting season.

Farmers are also urged to send their seed samples for seed testing into the state seed laboratory in December and January, and thus avoid delay in receiving their returns during the peak season through February and March. Envelopes for mailing the seed samples can be obtained from the county agent's office. Each farmer is entitled to five germination or purity tests annually free of charge.

It is also necessary that all seed sold by farmers to other farmers be properly labeled and meet the requirements of the Minnesota seed laws. Attention is also called to the fact that seed offered for sale at auctions must also be properly tested and labeled.

Regulation No. 9 of the seed law reads as follows: "Grain Sold under Variety Names: Flax, oats, and other grains sold to farmers in seed quantities in the spring or at seeding time under variety names or where variety names are mentioned in the transaction are subject to all agricultural seed requirements as to cleaning, testing and labeling unless such seed sales are definitely known to be for non-seed purposes."

State Cooperates in Study of Fluid Milk

About one-fourth of all fluid milk received at 104 midwestern markets goes into surplus uses, according to a research report issued this week by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Experiment station.

Findings of the study are contained in North Central Regional Publication 113, "Disposing of Surplus Fluid Milk in Midwestern Markets." Authors of the publication are Sheldon W. Williams, University of Illinois, federal-state cooperative agent working with the North Central Regional Dairy Marketing committee, which prepared the manuscript; and Orval G. Kerchner, also of the University of Illinois.

Minnesota was one of 13 states in which agricultural experiment stations cooperated with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the study. Fluid milk associations and distributors in 10 communities of this state provided material, according to E. Fred Koller, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota, who served on the regional committee.

The surplus milk goes largely into butter, cheese, dried milk powders and condensed milk.

This surplus flucuates widely during the year and on different days of the week. The surplus volume in May typically is three to four times as large as in late summer or fall.

Fluid milk is milk that is high enough in quality to be consumed as bottled milk and cream products. When supplies are larger than needed for bottling, they are diverted into manufactured dairy products such as ice cream, cottage cheese, butter and non-fat dry milk.

Producers' bargaining cooperatives such as the Twin City Milk Producers' association have assumed much of the responsibility for handling surplus milk.

The publication provides information about the amount and character of surplus fluid milk, agencies involved in handling and arrangements used in disposing of it and conditions influencing these arrangements.

The publication may be obtained from the Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

A Christmas Thought—Or Two

Christmas will have a double meaning this year for movie star Rita Gam. There'll be the usual decorating and gift-buying, with Savings Bonds for family members. But the birthday of Christ should have added significance for her after completing her latest film, "King of Kings." This newest film story on the life of Christ is due for release early next year. Meanwhile, Rita is preparing to enrich her children's Christmas with United States Savings Bonds. "I've always found Savings Bonds ideal gifts for Christmas," she says. "And in the case of my two children, they will have a good supply to help meet their college expenses when they grow up." The 32-year-old actress has been a star of stage, screen, and television since her 'teens.

Festive Holiday Decoration

"Merry Christmas to you!"—And these little Gingerbread Men seem to say just that. They're the kind of cooky ornaments that can be wrapped in cellophane and hung on the tree to be clipped off by guests for holiday nibbling.

The Gingerbread Men are a spicy cooky with rolled oats added for extra flavor and richness. They're fun for kids from 6 to 60 to bake and even more fun to decorate. After they've baked and have been cooled and decorated wrap each one individually and hang on the tree with a gay ribbon. What a perky, festive decoration and what good eating!

GINGERBREAD MEN
Makes 5 dozen small cookies

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon ground clove
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup shortening, soft
- ½ cup light molasses
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 2 cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Sift together flour, salt, soda and spices into bowl. Add remaining ingredients, stirring until well blended. (Dough may be chilled for greater ease in handling.)

Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut with floured gingerbread man cooky cutter. Place on greased cooky sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 10 minutes. Remove from cooky sheets and cool. Make eyes, mouth, buttons and shoes with white confectioners' sugar frosting.

In Memorium

In loving memory of father and grandfather Thomas O. Mannum who passed away one sad year ago, Dec. 17, 1959.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near of one so dearly loved by all, he bade on one the last farewell,
He said goodbye to none, the heavenly gate just opened wide,
A loving voice said come,
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think our wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow that is within our heart concealed. Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow, for memory keeps him ever near us,
Though he died one year ago.—

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bollinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Johnson and family. 1t100c

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo M. Haley, VA Contact Representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks Post Office Building.

Q—My GI insurance premium is due and I have misplaced the premium notice the VA sent me. In sending in my payment, I know I should include the policy number, but just what does that mean? Does VA want only the number, or the number and the letters which precede it?

A—In sending any premium payment without a premium-due notice, always give your name in full, your address, and your policy number, with the letter or letters preceding. The letters are important in enabling VA to give you credit for your payment. If you have more than one policy you will have an insurance file number and should include that.

Q—My three-years-from-separation deadline for taking advantage of educational benefits under the Korean GI Bill will be up in March of 1961. Does that deadline mean I must actually be taking courses then, or is it just a date to apply?

A—You must actually be at school, taking your courses, by that date. Your own deadline of March, 1961, would thus mean that you should arrange to start at the school of your choice at the beginning of the spring semester.

Q—Can a VA benefits check be forwarded? It used to be that it could not. I am going to have to move and want to know if I should inform both the post office and VA.

A—VA checks can now be forwarded, yes. When you are ready to move, inform both your local post office and the VA of your change of address. Give both your old and new address.

Q—I understand children of some deceased peacetime veterans may now be eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Act, as a result of a new law. What determines the eligibility of the child of a deceased veteran who served in peacetime?

A—The peacetime veteran parent's death must have been caused by the actual performance of military duties or by extra-hazardous service, and eligible children must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Prowler Sextet Nips G. Forks 3-0

Scoring a goal in every period, and getting a shutout performance from goalie Tom Teal, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers opened their 1960-61 hockey schedule by defeating the Grand Forks Central squad, 3 to 0, in a game played on the Arena rink here Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will play coach Bob Peters' East Grand Forks sextet in a Region Eight conference game on the Arena ice here on Saturday night, Dec. 17. This is the first year that the East Grand Forks hockey squad has entered Region Eight play on the varsity level.

In Tuesday night's entertaining tilt on the Arena ice, the Prowlers moved into a 1 to 0 lead at the 4:11 mark of the first period when Keith Poppenhagen, taking a pass from Dennis Erickson, ripped a high shot past goalie Bill Howard and into the south net.

Larry Poole, who played a stellar all-around game for coach Sack's club gave the locals a 2 to 0 lead at the 3:26 mark of the second period when, after breaking up a Redskin play along the west sideboards, he picked up the puck, eluded a Grand Forks defenseman, and beat Howard with a shot that found the long side of the net.

In the opening minutes of the period, the Prowlers were hard-pressed to hold off the Redskins, with the Prowlers having two players in the penalty box. Tim Teal was given a penalty for interference at the 1:24 mark, and when Dennis Erickson came on the ice at 1:30, the Prowlers were charged with having too many players on the ice, and Erickson was given a minor.

In the third period of play, the Prowlers picked up an insurance goal when, at the 3:46 mark, Larry Poole hustled in to cover a rebound on Tim Teal's shot, and flip a ten-footer past Howard, giving the locals their 3 to 0 triumph.

Senior Hockey Thieves in Action

The senior hockey Thieves, who will play a slate of exhibition games this year, will open their 1960-61 season on Sunday afternoon when, at 2:30 p.m., they meet the St. Boniface Elks club team at the Arena rink.

We haven't received any advance information on this Elks club aggregation, but the fact they are from St. Boniface should be assurance that they are a capable hockey club. Paul Bedard, the Thieves' coach and manager, is a native of St. Boniface, and he states that there aren't any bad players in St. Boniface.

Clarence Amiot, the general manager of the local seniors, said that he had received confirmation from Joey Poole, Ed Thomlinson, and Les Merrifield that they would be here for Sunday afternoon's opener. Joey the center and Ed and Les the wings, were vital factors in the North Dakota Sioux hockey campaigns of a couple of seasons ago, and were members of Bob May's NCAA hockey championship club.

It is probable that coach Bedard will use the former North Dakota stars as a unit, with Joey centering for Ed and Les. This trio should provide the Thieves with one of the fastest skating forward lines ever to represent the locals. And that is quite a statement considering the caliber of players who have played with the Thieves during the States-Dominion and Northwest hockey league days.

The only somber note with regard to Sunday's senior hockey game is the announcement that Morris (Mouse) Efteland will not suit up for the Thieves. Mouse, after a career that has extended for about 20 years, has decided to "hang up" his skates this year. Mouse and his brother Myles are engaged in turkey farming, on a major scale, west of town. Well, the fans will surely miss the colorful Mouse.

Another Test

Except for the first period of play last Friday, when the Warren Ponies, on some accurate outside shooting by Earl Rogalla and Wayne Edgar, gained a 12 to 10 lead, coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers had control of the district conference game played at Warren. The Prowlers won by a 55 to 39 score.

It was a fine win for the locals, and it provided the boys with a good test of strength against a team of hard-driving players. The factor that gave the Prowlers their winning advantage was the control of the boards, and with such back-court defenders as Don Ulferts, Ron Hanson, and Harvey Ebbighausen clearing the defensive board, it was difficult for the shorter Ponies to secure rebound shots.

This week, on the local floor, the Prowlers will be given another test, perhaps the toughest they will receive in district play, when they meet coach Al Droen's Crookston Pirates. In four games to date, the Pirates have marked up three wins and taken a loss. Crookston has defeated Fertile, Red Lake Falls, and East Grand Forks, and taken a trouncing from Bemidji.

Of the players, the starters, who faced the Prowlers in last season's district tournament finals, three boys, Curt Hannah, Dale Johnson, and Bob Miller, are playing from Crookston again this season. And Jim Turner and Ron Brown, who also saw action in Crookston's 47 to 38 loss in the finals, are members of this year's Pirate squad.

The Prowlers are entitled to be rated as favorites in Friday night's district and Northwest conference game, but the game could develop into a low-scoring contest, with stress being placed on defense and ball control.

The Maroons to Europe

The Winnipeg Maroons hockey club will leave late this month for Europe where they will engage in an eight-game exhibition series against the top-flight European teams. The first games will be played in Czechoslovakia.

Local senior hockey fans have an interest in the play of the Maroons because a number of players with the club are former favorites of States-Dominion and Northwest hockey league competition. Gordy Simpson, the manager of the Maroons, played for several years with Roseau Cloverleafs, as did Fred Dunsmore, also a member of the Maroons.

Bill Juzda, Murray Balagus, Ron Castelane, Ken McKenzie, Sheldon Bloomer, and Tom Marshall, all with the Maroons, at one time or another were with the local Thieves. Juzda, who is pushing the forty-year mark, is still rated as one of the finest defensemen in Canadian senior hockey, and "The Beast," as he is affectionately called, is expected to keep the European hockey players "honest".

The Maroons scored a pair of convincing wins this past week defeating the Saskatoon Quakers, 7 to 2 and 7 to 0, in a two-game series played at Winnipeg.

State Legion Takes Stand on Safety Laws

Urging that safety programs fall within the organization's field of service to the community, the Minnesota American Legion at its recent annual mid-year conference in Minneapolis reaffirmed its endorsement of legislature recommendations for traffic safety.

The recommendations for legislation strengthening the state's safety program had been passed at earlier conventions but the department safety committee continued the items for the 1961 legislative session. Included were:

a. Statewide absolute numerical speed limits.

b. Appropriate laws to enable enforcement agencies to produce evidence scientifically for the complete adjudication of violators who have already been arrested and charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

c. Authorize police officers to issue summons as a result of evidence produced in accident investigations.

d. Increase the manpower of the Minnesota Highway Patrol annually in direct proportion to the annual increase in vehicle miles traveled.

e. Require all motorists to complete a driver license test upon renewal of the person's license.

f. Appropriate legislation which will limit the number of unmarked traffic control cars of any enforcement agency to not more than one-third of the total cars used in traffic enforcement by that agency.

Chairman George Kalsatt of Farmington announced that local legion posts would take an active part in supporting the above safety legislative program this session.

He also announced that the safety committee had set two dates for 1961 safety programs:

The annual "School Safety Patrol Week" honoring the 30,000 youngsters in the school patrol program will open on February 12 and run through February 19. This week includes February 17, generally considered the birthday of the program which began in St. Paul in 1920.

The annual "Legion Safety Day" opening the summer safety emphasis program was set for Friday, May 26. At that time 1,500 Legionnaires will conduct a safety program along principal trunk highways in the state. Handing out safety messages to all motorists, the Legionnaires will represent the 630 posts in the state in the largest single safety program of the year.

Winter Shows Board Orders Building Plans

Initiating immediate sweeping moves toward replacing outdated buildings and location, the Red River Valley Winter Shows board of managers this week completed new site negotiations, ordered preparation of actual building plans and specifications, announced a much-enlarged concept of the new building's year-round value to farm-serving groups throughout the Valley, and set up a firm calendar for Phase II of its fund-raising program.

The Winter Shows will have to begin a second half-century this February in the old location in downtown Crookston, but before the 1962 event, plans to occupy a new 20-acre site fronting on Highways 75 and 2 just south and west of the Northwest Agricultural School and Experiment Station.

Consolidated Construction of Langdon and East Grand Forks has been ordered to prepare building plans for a pre-engineered Stran Steel building. "Our new home, to serve every facet of our unique Valley agricultural industry, will make available nearly five acres of floor space, more than double the present structures," said Board of Managers President B. E. Youngquist.

"Handy parking to accommodate over 800 cars will not interfere with unloading exhibits and parking trucks. Toilet, telephone and lunch facilities will serve the crowd in comfort. Construction is fire resistant, and the central arena will seat up to 5,000 persons for demonstrations, judging events, and larger meetings.

"We are, in fact, thinking of this new building as a sort of 'Chamber of Agriculture'," Dr. Youngquist said, "for it will be used year-round to further the interests of Valley agriculture from Canada to Lake Traverse." Board members have pointed out that the new Winter Shows building opens new avenues of farm service. Mentioned have been homemaking events, displays of new farm machinery, 4-H, FFA and FHA regional events, fat stock shows and sales, crop and soil conferences, horse shows, demonstrations of water management program, marketing and promotional meetings for Valley farm products.

William Strickler, Euclid, General Campaign Chairman, said, "We have spent several weeks analyzing results preparatory to Phase II. In the first phase, ten per cent of prospective contributors gave approximately 35 per cent of the minimum $450,000 needed for a satisfactory building. This made it clear that the total will be realized when contact is established with all concerned persons; also that there is need to demonstrate to financially able firms and persons that substantial giving to this building program is vital to the future of our Valley agriculture."

The chairman said that a rapid sequence of organizational and kick-off meetings is set to begin with a January 5 noon gathering of a special "Task Force RRV" seeking gifts in the one thousand to 25 thousand dollar bracket; and a January 9 meeting of county chairmen.

Before a for-hire truck is permitted by is owners to start on a highway trip, it is carefully checked for mechanical defects, and its driver is held responsible for this safety check, the American Trucking Associations said.

"The youth of today, in my view, is in some ways superior to its predecessors. * * * But in the essentials of sound living it is not superior. Not only is it copying forms of dress that come from coffee bars and dance halls but assimilating thoughts and behavior from the same source. Boys gang up together to lie to masters. * * * If you protest or take action you run the risk of being called a square. I am well content to be called a square. —A. J. F. Doulton, headmaster of Highgate School, London.

The Rules Are The Same

In its report, released recently, the President's Commission on National Goals predicted that we can expect continued increases in the cost of government along with higher taxes. It didn't require a study by a group of experts to come up with these conclusions.

The Commission did make one observation that deserves more attention than it has received. They believe there probably will be a slowing down of the trend to higher living standards. They didn't say our living standards would decline but they will not improve as rapidly as they have in the past.

There is an element of warning in this prediction that should not be laughed off. Our national economy is influenced generally by the same rules of cause and effect as those that reward or punish us individually.

As individuals we can boost our living standards for limited periods of time by borrowing and spending. As long as our credit lasts we can enjoy a splurge of high living, along with, maybe, a little less work. Then eventually comes the day of reckoning, when we no longer can borrow more and must start paying back a part of what we owe. Creditors are funny that way — they expect to be repaid. And during the time it takes to pay back what we borrowed, our living standard necessarily sags.

That is the way these things work out for us individually, as most of us know from personal experience. And what is true for us as individuals is also true for us as groups of individuals, or as a nation of people. The rules are the same. We agree therefore with the Commission in its suggestion that our living standards may be due for a few adjustments.

Another Blunder

The University of Minnesota board of regents has "formally adopted a firm policy forbidding student residence in private housing where discrimination is practiced," it is reported. The new rule applies to all university students, who can be expelled if they refuse to move from quarters not approved by the university because of discrimination.

The language of this report seemed clear, but maybe we misunderstand the intent of the regents' action. If the intent is what the report indicates it to be then we think they are nuts.

A few years ago the Minnesota legislature adopted a fair employment practices act, creating an authority with limited power to enforce reasonable employment standards and discouraging the abuses of racial and religious intolerance and segregation. This law has worked out fairly well because it was not extreme. The extremists wanted severe punishment for offenders, and fortunately they did not prevail.

Let's keep in mind that we do have some proper right to be discrimination in our private affairs, and the efforts to deny us these rights serve no public good. We have a right to have our likes and dislikes, and our preferences for this or that or these or those.

In their attempt to control the uncontrollable by a rigid, unyielding, inflexible, uncompromising rule, the regents have proven themselves to be woefully lacking in their grasp of a very fundamental fact of government.

Everybody, Everywhere

Walter Barnes, editor of the Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch, remembers way back when old folks talked about the poorhouse. It served as a symbol of extreme poverty, and as a stimulant to extra effort and sacrifice for young people in order that the poorhouse would not be at the end of their road. "Parents were industrious, frugal and saving. They didn't want to spend their last days in the poorhouse and took steps to insure that they wouldn't," according to Mr. Barnes.

No one mourns the passing of the poorhouse, but it might be well to keep in mind that it did serve a useful purpose. Poverty probably was not inflicted upon us for the purpose of causing us to suffer. It is more reasonable to assume that it was used by an all-wise providence as a whip and a spur for greater industry and thrift. Charity was necessary in the over-all plan, mainly as a means of helping the innocent victims.

In our country we no longer have the poorhouse as a symbol of poverty. The needy are provided for with less indignity than they were when Walter Barnes was a boy. But it isn't our purpose to get involved in that argument.

Our present problem is not needy people, but needy nations, and we do wonder sometimes, if we wouldn't be justified in adopting some of the relatively harsh, old time poorhouse practices in dealing with poor nations as a means of stimulating them to a little greater effort in their own behalf.

Of course there is a place for charity in dealing with such nations. Many of them are the innocent victims of circumstances over which they had no control. They deserve special consideration.

But our experience in dealing with the so-called backward peoples of the world justifies the conclusion that we are dealing with a few professional beggars who do not deserve our sympathy. At home here we have the professional poor who earn their living as relief racketeers, and welfare workers will tell you that this is a tricky business. Our main concern is the obvious fact that in the field of international relief we have nations that must be classified as the professional poor.

For them, the equivalent of the old style poorhouse might be justified as a proper and reasonable stubstitute for our present program of aid for everybody, everywhere.

Waterloo Plan

Waterloo University in Canada has adopted an interesting schedule of instruction for training engineers. A degree in engineering is given after five years of "alternate three-month periods of employment in industry and classroom time at college."

An answer to critics of the "Waterloo Plan" has been published by two Waterloo professors. According to this paper, Waterloo students get a richer academic training, on the average, than is given at other Canadian engineer schools, and implies that some of the critics, not Waterloo, are being left behind.

Commenting on the new approach to education the Financial Post observes:

> "Since it opened its doors in 1957, Waterloo has battled criticism from other Canadian engineering faculties. Because of its approach, critics say, the Waterloo plan will produce technicians capable of solving immediate problems rather than sophisticated engineers who will make new contributions to scientific knowledge. The Waterloo workload is said to be so heavy as to discourage research by graduate students and faculty.
> "Although its first students won't appear until 1962, Waterloo already attracts 19 per cent of new engineering enrollment in Ontario, more than any other college except Toronto.
> "Students industrial jobs are arranged to provide growing practical challenge over the five years in step with their increasing theoretical knowledge gained in the classroom.
> "Waterloo students get 110 weeks of classroom instruction, about 10 per cent more than at other engineer schools. This includes heavy doses of tough, basic maths, physics and chemistry, plus, they say, a number of courses ordinarily given only to graduates.

2,000 Miles An Hour

Now well advanced in the planning stage, and soon to be in production, will be Uncle Sam's new B-70 bomber. This plane will be able to fly at a speed of 2,000 miles an hour, and at any altitude from sea level to 80,000 feet. It will have a four-man crew, "including a defensive systems officer in charge of radar-jamming equipment and other apparatus which could counter enemy missiles homing in by an infrared-seeking device."

From the Los Angeles Times we get this reaction:

> "The improvement promised by the B-70 over existing aircraft is tremendous. The fastest U. S. strategic bomber now flying is the B-58, which has a speed of Mach 2, about 1,300 miles per hour. The B-70 will increase this speed by 50 per cent, and will add to the altitude capability of the B-58 by 60 per cent, without sacrificing anything in range.
> "There are other possible uses for the versatile B-70, including modifications which would allow it to be used as a troop or cargo transport. The plane can also be expected to aid greatly in the development of future triple-sonic civilian passenger planes. This means that before long up to 108 passengers could fly from Los Angeles to New York, a distance of almost 3,000 miles in one hour and 40 minutes."

Reports on the B-70, along with the proven performance records of the striking power of our new submarines, may have been two of the real reasons why Khrushchev has decided that there must be some way of resolving our differences without going to war.

One of the good laws passed by Congress this year produces a tax deduction for medical bills paid by children for their parents. The tendency has been to relieve children of all responsibility for their parents, but there are many children who still recognize such a moral obligation and they should be encouraged by recognizing their contribution as a proper deductible item of their income tax.

As the Wall Street Journal sees it, there really isn't much difference in the attitudes of the Chinese and the Russians toward us. "Whether the Communists really want peace or think that war is inevitable, seems irrelevant," according to that observant newspaper. It concludes that "what the Communists plainly say to the West is that 'we will bury you, peacefully, provided you don't give us too much trouble, but bury you we surely will'."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Applying at the accounting department for his first job, the recent high school graduate was stymied by a question on the application blank which read: "What machines can you operate?"

Pausing briefly, he wrote: "Slot and pinball."

Grygla Co-op Store 50th Annual Meeting Held

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Grygla Cooperative company. From a small authorized capital of $2,500 the store has grown to total assets of over $81,400.

In 1910, community conditions made the formation of a cooperative organization imperative. A canvass resulted in 116 signers at $100 per share with a $5 membership fee. On August 3, 1910 a meeting was held to draw up the by-laws. The first board of directors was elected at this meeting, namely, G. A. Johnson, Simon Bergseng, Torwald Lillevold, Charles Gerber and C. E. Stenmon. Mr. Lillevold, who now resides in Thief River Falls was the only member of this board attending the meeting. The roster of managers includes Fladland, Erickson, Ole Landro, Levi Hawkins, G. Sheldrew, L. J. Dressly, Carl Holbrook, James Lobdell and the present manager, Emil Boyum, who has served since 1950.

The Grygla Co-op celebrated its 50th anniversary at its annual meeting Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Mar-Bel hall. Those reelected were A. J. Anderson, Francis Hanck and Arnold Stanley. Door prizes were won by Cleo Chaman, John Rustvold, Walter Sorter. A banquet style luncheon was served to the old stockholders attending, the speakers, manager, board members and wives and Pastor J. Game & Fish License Agents to Meet Jan. 15

James W. Kimball, director of the conservation department's game and fish division, today issued a personal invitation to all license agents to join him at a special conservation program to be held at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis on Sunday afternoon, January 15.

Primary purpose of the meeting, said Kimball, is to give the license agents additional information on conservation matters so he can better answer the many questions put to him by his customers, the outdoor sportsmen.

"In addition," said Kimball, "the meeting will give our game and fish officials a chance to say 'hello' to many of our license agents and discuss with them matters of mutual concern."

Kimball said the January 15 date was chosen for the program since many license agents will be coming to Minneapolis to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota Hardware Dealers association which starts the following day.

The program will include talks by game and fish section supervisors on fish and game management, law enforcement, research, financing of division activities and license handling procedures. Colored slides will be used during the talks and there will be time set aside for questions from the floor.

Following the formal program, said Kimball, the license agents will be treated to a special showing of the new conservation film "The Big Four". This picture, filmed entirely in Minnesota, has been widely acclaimed by conservationists who have reviewed it.

Kimball added, "The program starts at 2 p.m. sharp and will last until 5:30. Now don't forget that date—January 15, Sunday afternoon at the Leamington Hotel."

Students Driving Home on Vacation Urged to Take Care

Harry A. Sieben, State Highway Safey Chief, Warns of Highway Danger

Students, take a memo from Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director.

To homeward-bound college and university students:

Every year, countless tragedies occur which bring sorrow to many homes when there should be happiness.

"Take it easy going home for the holiday. Make sure you arrive safely to enjoy your well-deserved vacation from the classrooms."

"You are the future leaders in the professions, in business and in government. We do not want you to handicap your own future by risking serious injury in an avoidable automobile accident," Sieben added.

Pointing out that hurry and fatigue are often influencing factors in "rushing home" accidents, the safety director advised students not to start a real long trip after completing a full day of classes or examinations. Hour-after-hour of steady driving should be undertaken only when the driver is fully awake and properly rested, he stated.

"If fellow students going your way are riding with you and you have confidence in their ability to handle your car, you may wish to change drivers; but don't risk turning over the wheel to inexperienced or reckless operators," he said.

Allen to Quit His Agriculture Post

Commissioner to Resign Feb. 1, Says Andersen

Governor-elect Elmer L. Andersen said Monday that Byron G. Allen, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture for the last six years, would leave office Feb. 1 to make way for an Andersen appointee.

Allen was reappointed by Governor Orville L. Freeman in August of 1959 for a new term running to 1963. Had Freeman been reelected the appointment would have been submitted to the state Senate for confirmation.

Allen was the first candidate for governor of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party after the party was formed in 1944 as a combination of the Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties.

He is the fifth state department head to announce plans to leave office.

Yule Seals Continue War on Tuberculosis

Every seven minutes one new case of tuberculosis is reported, and every 50 minutes, TB claims one life, according to the National Tuberculosis association.

This is in spite of the fact that the tools to detect and control tuberculosis are already at hand, sanatorium medical directors, public health and tuberculosis workers point out.

These tools are the tuberculin test, chest x-ray film, follow-up of known contacts of infectious cases, drug treatment, rest and surgery.

The question is "How can we apply them better?"

Today an estimated 700,000 Minnesotans or 20 per cent of the state's population react to the tuberculin test, and therefore are known to have been infected with the TB germ.

In this county, school children are tested periodically, and those who react to the tuberculin are given chest x-rays to determine if the TB germs in the body are doing any damage to the lungs. Money received from Christmas Seals mailed to you helps pay for these surveys, said Judge Herman A. Kjos of the Pennington County TB and Health association.

Schools in this area are among those certified for TB control work. To date more than 1,000 certificates have been awarded to Minnesota schools for outstanding participation in tuberculin testing surveys and follow-up of those infected.

Inasmuch as every school youngster has contacts in the community, we are able through this testing program to track down the sources of his TB infection, said Kjos.

The Pennington county TB and Health association urges everyone to buy and use Christmas Seals for every card, letter and package this holiday season. Hundreds of thousands of people see these colorful stamps while they are on their way through the mail—and are reminded that their tuberculosis association is still on the job.

DECEMBER PARADE

Market Street! Just a handful of shopping days before Christmas! The best-organized parade of the year!

Every marcher has been summoned by advertisements . . . elated by the music and decorations . . . inspired by the joy of giving. Each has a destination, an objective, a mission. And there's a kind of desperate dedication in it all; everyone searching for something someone else needs!

But never confuse the December parade with the real dedication of Christmas.

And Christmas means nothing unless it means: ALL WE REALLY NEED . . . GOD HAS GIVEN!

In the church of your choice, dedicate your life anew to the Christ Child.

Newest weapon in the constant and costly battle to surpress fires in the forests of British Columbia, from which comes much of the newsprint supply for West Coast newspapers, is this huge Martin Mars transport of World War II fame. Newsprint Information Committee whose member company in that area has joined six other forest products concerns in testing the 200-foot-wingspread plane, reports it is equipped to scoop up 6,000 gallons of water while taxiing across a lake and dumping the load minutes later in this saturation drizzle on the hottest part of a forest fire. From height of 200 feet, the load drenches an area 450 feet by 150 feet — larger than a football field.

THEY WORK HARDER BECAUSE THEY RIDE EASIER!

Because they ride easier they last longer, too. They take better care of payloads and they make a long day's work a lot more pleasant for the driver. All that—primarily because of Independent Front Suspension (I.F.S.). If you think it's stretching a point to attribute that many advantages to a suspension system, you haven't driven a new Chevy with I.F.S. Take the wheel and feel its road-leveling ride, its almost total absence of shimmy and wheel fight, its ease of steering even in the big rigs. Spend hours behind the wheel and you're not nearly as tired. You're not and neither is the truck. That independent suspension soaks up the worst shock and vibration—the kind that can twist sheet metal and loosen joints and increase your maintenance costs. That's why Chevy trucks keep on working and saving for extra thousands of miles.

I-beam type front axle. A 1911-beam design that transmits road shock right through the truck.

Chevy Independent Front Suspension. Wheels flex independently, minimizing body wear and tear.

DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

Next to hunting, the best thing I know (almost) is talking about hunting. So, let us conduct a post mortem over the deer season. The statistics on the 1960 season will not be compiled for months, so my views at this time are largely opinions which may be no better than yours.

The 1959 deer season was probably the best on record with 53 per cent of the hunters successful. They killed 105,000 deer. This year my guess is that about 40 per cent connected to bring in 80,000 to 85,000 deer. Last year I was among the humble 40 per cent who failed. If you connected this year, you and I are again in the minority—but this time we are proud of it.

Our wardens and game managers insist there are as many deer this year as last, and with the season over they are not changing their tune. Why, then, the decrease in hunting success?

First, we must remember that a success of even 30 per cent makes us the envy of most states and 50 per cent is really outstanding. Then, as you know, weather has a great effect on the success of deer hunting. Last year the early snow made conditions nearly ideal throughout the state. This year conditions were good in part of the state the first two or three days but poor the rest of the season.

Around Grand Rapids success was estimated about as good as last year and good reports came from the northwest. The central part of the state had little or no snow and hunting was only fair. A large, area in the southern part of the state was opened for the first time in four years. Hunting for this one-day season was fair to good but not as good as four years ago when we had snow.

Again this year we had nine zones. This is a complicated system but does a pretty good job of taking the harvestable surplus, holding crop damage down and not reducing the deer herd too excessively. Frequent light harvests are far better than an occasional heavy kill. Last year, with good tracking snow, no one complained about the early deer season (November 7). This year the season opened November 12 and, because of little snow, there was much more grumbling about the early opening. Of course, a late season would not have provided snow this year but logically the chances for snow are better with a late season.

I don't want to get into the early versus late argument but a few hunters still do not understand that this is not controlled by the Conservation Department. Under the present law we can have a deer season of not over nine days between November 1 and November 20. We have always chosen the latest possible Saturday opening.

During the last legislature a bill passed one house which would have permitted up to 16 days of deer hunting any time during November. A longer season in the north woods could have some advantages. Some states, such as Maine, have about a month of deer hunting. The longer season probably would not have much effect on the total deer kill but some hunters would go early and some wait for snow. This could reduce the number of hunters in the woods at any one time and, thus, reduce the chances of hunting accidents.

The forest access roads which we built in cooperation with forestry were much used during the deer season as well as the grouse season. Many more miles of such roads are planned and needed.

Fortunately no one any longer asks for a season on buck deer only. Apparently they know the terrible problem which "buck laws" have created for Wisconsin, Michigan, and many other states. In the "buck law" states, barren does, overbrowsed winter yards and deer starvation are the rule. Because the sportsmen of Minnesota wisely have not demanded such a law, we have one of the healthiest and best managed deer herds in the country.

Freeman Gets Post of Secy. of Agriculture

Is Named Thursday by President-elect John F. Kennedy

Governor Orville Freeman, who early in January will complete six years in that office, and who was defeated by Elmer L. Andersen last month in his try for an unprecedented fourth term, will not be unemployed when he gives up his duties.

Freeman was appointed last Thursday by President-elect John F. Kennedy to the important and controversial post of secretary of agriculture, succeeding Ezra Taft Benson, of whom Freeman has been one of his most vocal critics.

The new appointee has had strong support in his election campaigns from the Farmers Union, having frequently voiced approval of its policies.

Freeman said of his appointment:

"I regard this task ahead as a real challenge and a great opportunity. The problems in agriculture are difficult and complicated. No one knows all the answers, but the answers can, must and will be found."

Freeman set forth as goals:

Programs to insure enough food and fiber for all Americans.

Programs that will assure the efficient American family farm the opportunity to achieve parity of income, without exploiting either consumers or taxpayers.

"Programs to utilize our agricultural abundance to meet human needs here and abroad, as an instrument to encourage economic growth in underdeveloped areas of the world and as one of our greatest weapons for peace—a weapon in which our superiority is unquestioned."

To reach those goals, he said, "we must consider the agricultural program in connection with those involving world trade, with our attack on technological unemployment, with our over-all search for economic growth, with effective conservation of soil and water resources, and with our aim for a balanced budget."

Little Shrinkage in Soil Bank Seen for Marshall Co.

144,531 Acres of Land in County to Stay out of Production in 1961

A total of 144,531.4 acres of cropland in Marshall county will remain out of production under Conservation Reserve contracts in 1961, according to A. E. Strandquist of the county ASC office.

This land will remain in reserve under contracts entered into in earlier years of the program. It may not be cropped or used for grazing for the life of the contract. An annual payment is made in the fall of the year near the close of the cropping season.

Contracts will terminate on 1,585.3 acres of county land at the end of 1960. Land emerging from the Conservation Reserve because of contract termination may be kept idle for twice the number of years it was under contract without reducing future acreage allotments on the land. This is provided under a new law effective last fall, which ASC officials hope will encourage participants in the Conservation Reserve to keep former allotment crop acreage in vegetative cover after contracts expire.

Nationally, Mr. Strandquist said, contracts expire on about 90,000 acres at the end of 1960, leaving approximately 28.6 million acres in the Reserve in 1961.

Christmas Seal Sales in County $1,314 to Dec. 12

The state Christmas seal organization announced that, as of December 12, Pennington county residents had bought a total of $1,311 in seals this year compared to $1,480 on the same date last year and an overall 1959 total of $2,733. Marshall county has turned in $1,644 and Red Lake county $132.

Local Schools Offer Christmas Programs Tuesday to Thursday

SECY. of agriculture will be the new title of Governor Orville Freeman following the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy in January. The governor, who in November failed in his effort to win a fourth term, was appointed Thursday by Kennedy as a member of his cabinet.

Christmas programs in the city's public elementary schools and Lincoln high school have been scheduled for this week. Parents and others are invited by school officials to attend.

"Christmas Around the World" has been chosen as the theme for the elementary school programs.

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Knox school program will be in the auditorium; the Northrop program will be Wednesday, December 21, beginning at 3 p.m. and the Washington program will be Thursday afternoon beginning at 3 p.m.

The PTA of each school will serve coffee following the programs.

Miss Susan Eckel, elementary school music instructor, and the individual school staffs have been in charge of preparing the programs. Every child will participate.

Tuesday evening, December 20, the annual Christmas pageant will be presented in the Lincoln high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged and the public is invited.

The pageant is adapted from "Ben Hur" and the Lincoln concert choir will present numbers under the direction of Bryant Ulseth. The parts of traditional Biblical characters will be played by Lincoln students.

The concluding portion of the pageant will be a cantata, "The Wondrous Story," sung by the concert choir accompanied by the Lincoln concert orchestra under the direction of James Solsten.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, December 20, at 10 a.m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Police Ask Caution in Holiday-time Driving

Persons "carried away" by the holiday spirit may be carried away from a traffic accident for which they were totally unprepared, warns Chief of Police Elton Cummings, after noting the nightly increase in local traffic as the result of Christmas shopping activity.

"Actually, it's a cheery sight to see all these people busy shopping to make Christmas a happy occasion for their families and friends. We welcome the shoppers to our shopping districts, and so far, I must say they have been a well behaved group."

The chief warned, however, that as the shopping period grows short, and the pace more hectic, some drivers and pedestrians could lose their good judgment and grow impatient in traffic—and that could lead to trouble.

"Is the average Christmas shopper prepared for an accident?" Cummings asked. "Of course not. He is unprepared psychologically, because having an accident is the farthest thing from his mind. Who wants to think about accidents at Christmas time?

"In the second place, he is unprepared financially. At this time of year there are expenses enough without the added overwhelming expense of having an accident."
